MANY OFFER AID TO "LEAH THE OUTCAST"

THE WEATHER

Boston and Vicinity: Clear tonight; Tuesday unsettled, probably local showers with thunderstorms; cooler Tuesday afternoon and night, with fresh to west winds.
Sun rises at 4:21; sets at 6:59.
Moon rises at 1:42 a. m.
High tide at 5:03 a. m.; 5:25 p. m.
Temperature: Maximum, 86 at 2 p. m.; minimum, 66 at 5 a. m.; average 77.
Light all vehicles at 9:49 p. m.

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN ENGLAND

VOL. 18—No. 99 | Copyright, 1922, by N. B. Newspaper Pub. Co. | BOSTON, MONDAY, JULY 17, 1922 | Registered in U. S. Patent Office | PRICE THREE CENTS

COMPLETE STOCKS NIGHT

$15,000 FUR ROBBERY IN HARRISON AV.

DAMS BURST, $500,000 FLOOD LOSS

SCORE OF HOUSES MOVED BY TORRENT

Residents of Willimansett Flee When Warned by Telephone Girls

Chicopee, July 17.—Nothing but a fortunate combination of circumstances prevented heavy loss of life early today when the bursting of two dams holding back the waters of Langwald's and Robert's ponds, on Willimansett Brook, let loose a volume of about 20,000,000 gallons of water, which sweeping into the thick-settled Willimansett district between this city proper and Holyoke, did property damage estimated at upward of $500,000.

A score of houses were moved partly or wholly from their foundations, smaller buildings were swept bodily away and at the period of the crest of the flood water stood

Continued on Page 2, Column 4.

Young Mother of Swamp Baby
Reconciled With Family and Has Her Baby Once Again

13 Killed in Mine Strike Battle

LEAH SILVER

TODAY'S BANK STATEMENT.

N. Y. bank clearings	$458,400,000
N. Y. bank balances	70,260,000
Boston bank clearings	54,000,000
Boston bank balances	27,000,000
N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank, credit	60,000,000

OFFERS OF AID FOR OUTCAST

Leah Silver Forgiven by Family; Finds World Kind After Many Troubles

New York, July 17.—"Leah the Outcast," is now "Leah the Pitied."

Instead of casting stones at this young Magdalene of Lynn, Mass., people are throwing offers of help.

Her brother Harry, who once said that he would rather see her dead than in the plight she found herself, when her gentile lover refused to marry her, after she became a mother, said today "we want her home. We will do everything we can for her."

Half a dozen women representing various organizations and societies stepped forward and offered to take Leah and her "swamp" baby under their protecting care until the young woman has borne her second child. With tears in her eyes, the young mother said that if her second baby is a girl, she will call it Mary.

From Lynn came a telegram from a walkyr manufacturer of the city in which he asked to assume all the expenses of Leah in her present plight and thereafter.

COUNSEL SHOWS UP.

From some mysterious source there came a counsel to look after Leah's case. Nobody knows who got him or who paid him. Nobody seems to know. He assumed financial responsibility for the provision of bond for the girl.

Leah's mother is with her. She has forgiven her daughter.

Even the judge hearing her case, instead of committing her to jail, conferred her to the King's County Hospital, where he heard her case and held court.

Ruth, the sixteen-months-old baby that Leah Silver is charged with having abandoned in a Coney Island swamp, is with her.

When the hour for the girl's arraignment on Coney Island court arrived, hundreds of curious persons were on hand, hoping to get a glimpse of the girl. They were disappointed, however, as the girl-mother had been taken from the Shephead Bay station earlier in the day and placed in the Coney Island Hospital because of her delicate condition.

Magistrate O'Neill removed his court to the hospital for her arraignment. The proceedings, though perfunctory, took on picturesqueness through the white hospital furnishings, the presence of uniformed doctors and nurses, and the appearance of the prisoner in a convalescent's chair.

Julian V. Carabba, a Manhattan attorney, represented the girl. He showed Magistrate O'Neill a telegram he received from a Lynn, Mass., clothing manufacturer named Jones, asking him to look after the girl's interests.

As the party was starting for the hospital Mrs. Rebecka Silver, mother of the girl, and her brother, Harry, appeared, and the mother appealed to Magistrate O'Neill to take them to the hospital. She said:

"I want to go with you to see my baby. She has been abused and I want her to come home with me."

Magistrate O'Neill helped her into the automobile and the party was driven to the Coney Island hospital.

Continued on Page 3, Column 6.

Heavy Rains Cause Big Loss of Life Among Birds

The rain raised havoc with the birds.

Nearly two wheelbarrow loads of small chimney swallows were taken from a single, tall chimney. They had starved.

Professor Edward H. Forbush, the State ornithologist, said today it is in the habit of birds to fly through the air with mouths open, catching enormous numbers of flying insects. The heavy rains drove the insects to the ground and the chimney swallows could not get enough food.

Professor Forbush said there was a heavy loss of life among the birds that nest on low ground and the banks of streams.

$15,000 IN FURS ARE STOLEN

Also Attempt Silk Robbery on Tremont Street, but Are Scared Away

Attempts to camouflage the visit of a band of robbers to the wholesale fur rooms of Jacob Norton & Sons over the week-end, by reporting that loot piled up was recovered and the band scared away failed today, when Norton reported that $15,000 worth of skins had been stolen and the piled-up loot left as a blind.

"They were cheap skins," he told insurance adjusters today. "Valuable skins they took away." The Norton Company occupies the fifth floor of an eight-story building at No. 19 Harrison avenue.

Earlier police reports stated that police and firemen had arrived in time to prevent the thieves from escaping with their booty. But it was discovered today that, although the police arrived in time to prevent the thieves from piling away with fifty-one valuable skins, which were found baled up, they had already made one successful getaway.

Sounding of the automatic alarm for a fire, believed to have been caused by a lighted match or cigarette thrown away by thieves, is thought to have prevented the silk stores of the Boston Lace and Silk Company, on the second floor of the Gardner Building, Nos. 37-43 Tremont street, from being robbed of valuable silks.

Twenty bolts of silk were found piled up, ready for removal.

The thieves gained entrance to the Norton store by forcing the lock on the door of the building. They then jimmied their way into the Interick Publishing Company on the sixth floor. They cut a sixteen-foot hole through the floor. Police say they must have worked ten hours to do the job.

The burglars left tools behind, as well as fingerprints. These were taken today by inspectors.

Lloyd George, Too, Says Britain Is to Pay U. S. Debt

London, July 17 (By International News Services).—The statement of Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, that Great Britain will pay her debt to the United States was confirmed in the House of Commons this afternoon by Premier Lloyd George. Premier Lloyd George announced in Commons that it is impossible for Great Britain to accept any plan to pay the British debt to the United States fully if Britain cancels the debts owing to her by the allied powers. Then he added:

"Great Britain intends to pay the United States. Therefore, it is necessary for the allies to pay what they owe to Great Britain."

25 OTHERS WOUNDED IN CLASH

West Virginia Sheriff and Deputies Surprised by Mob of Invading Strikers

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 27.—Sheriff H. H. Duvall and eight men are known to have been killed and a large number wounded in a fight at the Clinton mine of the Richland Coal Company, ten miles from Wellsburg, near the Pennsylvania State line, today.

The dead were brought to Wellsburg and the wounded were taken to Wheeling hospitals. The death toll was placed as high as thirteen.

The wounded was said to reach twenty-five.

T. H. Dunall, who was with his father at the mine when the fight took place, accompanied the body of his father to their home here. He told a graphic story of the battle.

"There had been rumors for some time that the mine was to be attacked because it had been operating non-union men," said Mr. Duvall. "The sheriff had a detail of men at the mine.

MINERS OPEN ATTACK.

"Nothing happened until about daybreak when firing began from the top of the hill above the mine opening. We replied and the sheriff ordered the men to move up the hill. They responded, firing as they went.

"The sheriff reached the top before he was killed. I saw him a few minutes before and he was hurrying after a small party of the mob. I found his body there when I came up.

"The mob kept shooting, even after we had broken their line and they were running over the hill.

"Some of them evidently got in behind us, because they exploded a charge of dynamite under the tipple and it was blown up. I think it caught fire and was burned to the ground, although I don't know. None of us paid much attention to it. We were busy trying to break up that mob.

"I don't know how many of the

Turn Over

FAVOR 2-YEAR MORATORIUM FOR GERMANY

Paris, July 17 (By the Associated Press).—The Reparations Commission was officially notified today that Germany had deposited 32,000,000 gold marks in designated banks to meet her July 15 reparations payment.

The members of the allied committee on guarantees returned to Paris today from a month's inquiry in Berlin with the majority of its members convinced that a moratorium of two years or more on cash indemnity payments is the only solution of the present financial crisis in Germany.

The report of the committee to the Reparations Commission probably will be made Thursday or Friday. While it will not contain, it appears, a definite recommendation for a moratorium, the members of the committee are expected to inform their respective delegations that a long breathing spell must be accorded Germany.

It was learned from a reliable source that the French member of the committee is the only one who does not favor a moratorium.

GREENE KEEPS BODYGUARD TO PROTECT HIM

Henry Vincent Greene, the marshmallow dipper, who deserted the kingdom of "Tutti Frutti" for the world of dizzy finance, and who now faces with his multiple stock-selling companies suits aggregating close to $15,000,000, has had a personal bodyguard for months, it became known today.

The boy, who once jerked soda, six weary days, and sometimes nights a week was allowed to go back and forth to work unguarded by an unfeeling employer, has had a former government secret service agent protecting him through every moment of his waking hours.

Only Mr. Harding is looked after more carefully than the boy who once made "Lovers' Delights" and sticky "Chop Sueys" behind the marble font of a Roxbury store. Why Henry is guarded isn't known, but it may have something to do with the anxiety of 60,000 persons whom Henry sold stock to, many of whom in suits filed unkindly charge fraud.

Henry's bodyguard looks like an undertaker. In fact he has the

Continued on Page 2, Column 5.

SPECIAL NOTICE

To the People of Brighton, Allston and Vicinity

ON and after today, (July 17th) the Brighton and Allston offices of the Market Trust Company will be maintained as branch offices of the International Trust Company. Merger of the two banks has been approved by both the Bank Commissioner of Massachusetts and the Federal Reserve Board at Washington.

The present operating staff of the Market Trust Company will be continued. The International Trust Company will render to the people of Brighton and Allston every accommodation consistent with safe and sound banking.

For over forty years at the same location, the International Trust Company has served the public in banking matters. It has a strong board of directors and has Total Resources in excess of $44,000,000.00. It is a member of the Federal Reserve System. It has a competent and courteous staff of officials and assistants, who at all times are anxious to furnish the best of service.

Check books and pass books of the Market Trust Company may be used until International Trust Company check books and pass books can be substituted.

International Trust Company
Charles G. Bancroft, President

Main Office
65 MILK STREET

Branch Offices
115 Summer St., Boston
309 Washington St., Brighton — 136 Brighton Ave., Allston
Uphams Corner, Dorchester — 1219 River St. Hyde Park
Fields Corner, Dorchester — 1 Belgrade Ave., Roslindale

July 17, 1922

TWO HELD FOR WOOL LARCENY

Charles Criola and Tony Marotta, both of Norwood, arraigned in Dedham Court, charged with larceny of six bales of wool from Winslow Bros. & Smith of Norwood, July 13, were ordered held for the Grand Jury in $1,000 each today. Benedict Monanza, held on the same charge, turned State witness and testified that Criola and Marotta forced him to be an involuntary partner in the robbery.

DAYLIGHT BANDITS ROB N. Y. HOUSE

New York, July 17.—Two bandits, entering the banking and merchandise offices of E. J. Faour & Bros. shortly after they opened for business today, bound and gagged the cashier, looted the safe of cash and securities estimated at $10,000 and escaped. The offices are in the foreign business colony bordering the down town financial district of the West Side.

RELIEF IN HEAT AND RAIN TOMORROW

The heat wave today is only temporary. Forecaster Smith promises relief for tomorrow.

The mercury soared to 86 at 2 p. m., and was climbing then.

For his forecast Mr. Smith said: "Clear tonight; Tuesday unsettled, probably local showers with thunderstorms; cooler Tuesday afternoon and night, with fresh south to west winds."

1 KILLED WHEN FAST TRAIN LEAVES TRACK

Savannah, Ga., July 17.—Five coaches on the Seaboard Air Line train No. 2 turned turtle early today one mile south of Cor, Ga. A negro dining car cook was killed and several passengers injured. The train struck a broken rail and five of the cars were tossed into the ditch.

MARILYNN CLEARS JACK'S WAR RECORD IN NAVY

By MARILYNN MILLER.

Star of "Sally," as dictated to Bert Ford of the Boston American staff and approved by her.

"Jack Pickford has been cleared of all blame and suspicion in connection with that naval scandal in a letter written by Major Sidne, W. Brewster, United States Marine Corps, retired, who was judge advocate of the Third Naval District during the war. He is at present commander of James J. Brogan Post, No. 623, American Legion, New York city.

"Instead of criticism in connection with your appearance as a witness in this case,' writes Major Brewster, 'you should be commended for the stand you took as a witness in turning over the evidence you had to the naval authorities.'

"But let me read the whole letter, the original of which reached me today from my lawyers, Attorneys O'Brien, Malevinsky & Driscoll Fitzgerald Building, Times square. I made request for this letter and for Jack's discharge from the navy on

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

ADMITS LIPPITT WROTE COTTON TARIFF

Washington, July 17.—Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin charged today in the Senate and Senator Smoot of Utah, ranking Republican on the Finance Committee conceded that the section of the tariff bill imposing an additional duty of 12 per cent. ad valorem on fancy cotton cloths was "word for ward" as proposed by former Senator Henry F. Lippitt, a cotton goods manufacturer of Providence, R. I.

THREE BURIED IN BUILDING CAVE-IN

Philadelphia, July 17.—Three men were buried by debris and injured today when the walls of the Dina Manufacturing Co.'s building at 1307-1309 North Fifth street collapsed. The walls are said to have been weakened by fire and explosion of gas which practically wrecked the building two weeks ago.

13 KILLED AND 25 WOUNDED IN STRIKE BATTLE AT COAL MINE

WEST VIRGINIA SHERIFF AND DEPUTIES ARE SLAIN

Continued From First Page.

men who attacked us were killed. There were at least eight. I am sure I saw that many bodies. I know a lot of them were wounded, but of course it will take some time to get the exact number.

"There must have been 300 or 400 in the mob, while Sheriff Duvall had not more than twenty men with him. The tipple and the village of Cliftondale are in a hollow and the mine opening is on the hillside not far from the top. The mob gathered in the brush at the top and opened fire on the tipple.

"As soon as the shooting began we started up the hill after them, and from then until they had all disappeared everybody was shooting.

"We succeeded in capturing some of the men in the party and we brought them here under guard. I don't know who they are yet. None of the dead strangers has been identified."

The prisoners taken totalled ten.

TROOPERS SENT TO SCENE.

As soon as the extent of the fight became known a call was sent to Governor Morgan and Colonel Jackson Arnold, commanding the State police, for help.

Captain White, commanding Company A of the State police, was ordered to move his men from Heywood, W. Va., to Wellsburg without delay.

Sheriff Clouse of Wheeling was instructed by Governor Morgan to take charge of the situation at Wellsburg, and arrived here before noon. No immediate trouble was anticipated by the authorities, although Wellsburg is the centre of an important mining region. Some of the mines in this vicinity have operated with forces more or less depleted since the strike was called last April, and the Clifton mine was one of them.

WOUNDED BROUGHT IN.

Mines over the line in Pennsylvania, from which the attacking party is believed by the authorities to have come, have been closed.

Four deputies, Cody Robinson, Charles Nichols, Emerson Hough and a man named Mozingo, all seriously injured, were brought to Wellsburg.

Police Halt March on Mine; 9 Are Arrested

Washington, Penn. July 17.—Sheriff Otto Leullen, deputies and State police early today broke up a march of men who were on their way to the Lincoln Hill mine near here. Nine arrests were made. The mine has been operating with non-union men since the coal strike was called.

Ambulances Turned Back by Gunfire

Steubenville, Ohio, July 17.—Automobiles carrying newspaper men and ambulances proceeding from Wellsburg and Follansbee, W. Va., to the Richland mines were turned back by bullets.

Firing was still going on along the road leading to the mines at the time.

Silence Is Lead, Not Golden, in This Town

By Associated Press.

Taylorville, Ill., July 17.—Because W. R. Thomas refused to speak to Louis McConnell, the two men fought with shotguns from the porches of their homes here Sunday. Thomas is in a hospital. McConnell was released on $2,000 bond.

FIGHT TOGETHER, PLEA OF DEBS

Chicago, July 17.—Eugene V. Debs, leader of the great American Railway Union strike in 1894, today issued a statement to the striking railroad men and other unions, that the time has come for the rank and file to unite and "strike together, vote together and fight together."

"There has been some slight disorder and a few scabs have been hurt," Mr. Debs said. "This has been the extent of the violence, but it has been sufficient to bring to the strikers what they fought for in the late World War. The Federal government announces through the Department of Justice that it will stand no trifling on the part of the strikers and that if necessary armed force will be employed at once for their suppression.

"The Governors of seven States have simultaneously announced that they have the National Guard in their respective States mobilized and ready to move at command when the exigencies of the situation demand action.

STRIKE ACTION BY U. S. WITHIN 24 HOURS

Washington, July 17 (By the International News Service).—Within twenty-four hours there will be big developments in the government's attitude in the industrial crisis, Attorney-General Daugherty said today upon leaving the White House.

"The President," said Daugherty, "has fully in mind the situation from all angles. Within twenty-four hours something definite will be made known."

Chicago, July 17.—Approximately 25,000 maintenance of way men have struck, without permission from President Grable, J. C. Smock, vice-president of the union, estimated today.

Mr. Smock said the strikers probably will be outlawed by their national officers.

Mr. Grable, who conferred with President Harding Saturday, is in Detroit today.

Detroit, July 17 (By the Associated Press).—Members of the maintenance of way employes engaged in an unauthorized strike will not be expelled from the union "for the moment," but brotherhood organizers will be sent to interview the strikers and attempt to persuade them to remain at work pending final decision as to a national strike, E. F. Grable, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers, said here this morning.

2 DAMS BURST; TOWN BURIED

Continued From First Page.

between six and seven feet deep in the lower portions of the village.

That there was no loss of life was due principally to the fact that the flood occurred at night when there was no one on the street, for as early as the rush of released waters that in daylight hours many must have been caught and drowned.

The waters receded swiftly this forenoon, and revealed more fully than was at first supposed the extent of property damage. Everywhere was ruin. Small buildings that escaped dismemberment were dotted over the locality between a quarter and a third of a mile square that felt the fullest effect of the flood. The wreckage of many others was scattered about.

Thousands of persons visited the scene and many recalled the famous Mill River flood in Williamsburg in 1874, in which a dam gave way and many lives lost their lives. In the disaster of today no dwellings were actually demolished and the fact that those moving about, they held together, worked for the safety of their occupants.

No outside help was called for, the Chicopee police and fire department, with the assistance of other city officials and hundreds of volunteers being ample to cope with conditions.

The Pleasantdale section was hardest hit. Few houses there escaped the crushing weight of the water.

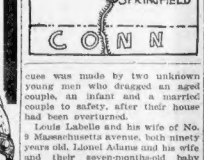
One of the most sensational rescues was made by two unknown young men who dragged an aged couple, an infant and a married couple to safety, after their house had been overturned.

Louis Labelle and his wife of No. 9 Meadowbrook avenue, both ninety years old, Lionel Adams and his wife and their seven-months-old baby were rescued by the strangers.

Telephone calls from operators at Holyoke, where news of the disaster was flashed at 2 a. m., warned the residents of the town. Many of them, seeking safety in the hills, didn't pause to clothes themselves, but started for the high land in pajamas, nightgowns and underwear.

The damage was most heavy on Chicopee street. There the home of Albert Gordingly was swept away together with his greenhouse. The Barrett she shoe and house adjoining, E. & P. Provencal's Meat Company, shop and office; the Frew Coal Company office and the Flynn drug store were ripped from their foundations and swept along in the flood.

The telephone warnings from Holyoke were worked with the precision of army orders. As soon as the news of the breaking of the first dam came the town of Williamsett was districted, and the operators began calling. Time was at a premium, so the operators could not devote much time to each call. One of the girls hit on a formula that was adopted by the others and brought excellent results.



SAMMY AND HIS PALS

HERE IN THE HEART OF THE ROCKIES, IN ABSOLUTE SOLITUDE, WE WILL BE FREE FROM DANGER OF GETTING MIXED UP IN EUROPEAN ENTANGLEMENTS!
"LO, SAM, 'OW ABOUT TAKING PART IN A GREAT INTERNATIONAL UPLIFT, DONTCHERKNOW, AND LENDING US SOME MORE DOUGH?
YES, THAT GANG OF ALLIES CAN'T BOTHER US HERE!
FRANCE ENGLAND
RUSSIA
GERMANY
THE COMMON PEOPLE
F. OPPER

COURT UPHOLDS SUIT OVER $15,000,000

"It is unfair competition for a combination of bankers to inflict injury upon the business or credit of an individual by acts which become illegal, because of the influence and power they wield. The purpose of these defendants in financial circles, according to the declaration, was used for the destruction and injury of the plaintiff's business."

This is part of a ruling today by Justice Carroll of the Supreme Court, deciding that Willet Sears and Company of Winthrop square may maintain action for $15,000,000 against Robert F. Herrick and others. The declaration claims conspiracy to ruin the business of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleged that Mr. Herrick, F. S. Mosely and Company, Kidder-Peabody and Company, and the Chase National Bank of New York entered into a conspiracy to deprive the plaintiff of their shares in the American Felt Company and Daniel Green Felt Company. The allegations state that the defendants succeeded in acquiring all of the plaintiff's stock in both companies, valued at $10,000,000.

In July, 1918, Willett Sears needed a loan of from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 in addition to usual credit. The business of securing the loan was entrusted to Moseley and Company. It was planned to form a syndicate to raise the money.

Herrick, an attorney, was engaged to draw up the syndicate papers. It is alleged he did not act in good faith; that he joined the defendants

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

ANYBODY can sell cheap goods—but to sell goods cheap is an art and OUR specialty—Specialists in bargains because first prices must be low or we lose by our system of automatic reduction ¼ after 12 selling days, ¼ after 18 selling days, ¼ after 24 selling days. Goods given away to charitable institutions after 30 selling days.

Here it is, folks! News a lot of women have been waiting for—Tuesday

587 women's mignonette suits

$9 look like fine knit SILK

MISSES' sizes, too!

For every wear—doesn't wrinkle—a special process of wearing eliminates sagging — cool — fashionable — so many styles, even cape or costume suits—mostly in drop-stitch weave—14 shades, 11 styles. Could $9 buy more suit value?

Best closing at 9 . M.

- suits that can be worn as a dress
- coat can be worn as a sweater
- special weaving process prevents sagging
- eleven good styles
- exceptionally well tailored
- sizes 14 to 44 in lot

Is your size here?	Size	14	16	18	36	38	40	42	44
	Quantity	21	76	03	87	93	19	57	71

HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAIN LOTS—NO MAIL ORDERS

GREENE WORE SUITS TO HARMONIZE WITH FLOWERS

Continued From First Page.

shadowy, silent somberness of a member of the burial profession conducting an expensive funeral with knowledge that relatives are good for the bill.

This particular man once took part in an investigation of the incorporated stock-selling of Henry's fertile brain. Henry was so impressed with his rubber-heeled personality that he invited him to hang up his hat and then sold him stock in his companies.

Not had for a bespeckled boy who not ten years ago was shaving ice for an ice cream pack, druggists making much of their own cream in those days.

BATH IN OFFICES.

Henry, it was revealed in the last twenty-four hours, had a private bath, dressing room and a cedar closet for twenty odd suits of clothes adjoining his private office at No. 25 Huntington avenue.

The boy, whom 40,000 buyers of stock in his various companies would like to have a little intimate chat with, changed clothes as the whim suited him.

Sometimes he picked a suit to match the daily bouquet of hothouse flowers that his secretary always had on his mahogany desk.

For instance, if Henry arrived in what might be called an "ice-cream" suit, and the daily bouquet of blooms happened to be hollyhocks, Henry would bawl out his confidential secretary and then jump into a dark suit to match the flowers.

Henry, once a $12-per soda jerker, always wanted to be in harmony with his surroundings. His temperament forbid him being out of tune with even a bouquet.

In Henry's gigantic organization, which he dominated as Nero did Rome, the former concoctor of frapped creams insisted that the members of the organization forever keep before them the fact that they had a "Prophet" and the prophet was Henry Vincent Greene.

So to that end he had made 200 enlarged photographs of his bespectacled self, which he had framed in costly frames and distributed and hung in the branch offices of the H. V. Greene Company, from Canada to California. There the underlings could gaze aloft and be inspired by their "prophet."

Henry once had an ambition to paint the world "Greene." He opened an office in Canada after having 146 in operation in the United States, and modestly informed a friend that it was but the first link in a Greene chain that would loop the world.

"I'll be as great in Germany as the Kaiser," said Henry. "As famous in France as Napoleon and as looked up to in Italy as d'Annunzio."

Henry stubbed his toe in Canada and as far as Greene goes the world is still unpainted.

Henry never had much of an education although he put a brother through Harvard College, and then gave him a job, but in 1919 when he found himself floating in a river of gold, he purchased a ready-made library for his magnificent Weston home and gave strict orders to the parlor maid to keep it dusted.

It was a typical get-rich-quick library, that is, a book shelf the average millionaire-over-night thinks he has to have to step with the university boys, and Henry lived up to tradition, it is said, by occasionally glancing at the gold-leaf titles.

POSES FOR MOVIES.

Henry, it is said, once proved himself a film hog. Somebody happened along and informed the wizard of cash that he ought to have a moving picture made of his wonderful organization, the informer being one of Henry's "yes" boys.

"That's a brilliant idea," said Henry, whereupon he pressed a buzzer and his confidential secretary loomed before him, bowing politely and wringing his hands as though shedding superfluous soapsuds on a busy Monday.

"Get in touch with Mr. Griffith or one of those movie chaps," said Henry, "and tell him to get up here right away to film my organization."

In the course of time a commercial motion picture man hove into view and some of Henry's faithful servants are still snickering at the picture the "prophet" made rehearsing for his entrances and exit through the celluloid film.

Henry, rehearsed by his faithful Friday, the secretary, made several stumbling exits and entrances in and out of his office before it could successfully be impressed upon him that he was supposed to miss the threshold and not try to pick it up with his rubber heels.

GETS COAT OF ARMS.

Finally the "Moses of Finance" considered himself thoroughly imbued with Fairbanks' confidence and the famous H. V. Greene organization was filmed from Henry to Henry. That M. M. opened with Henry entering his office at No. 25 Huntington avenue and closed with him leaving it.

His subjects, 2,000 in all, at a private showing in the Copley-Plaza ballroom, voted it the cat's pajamas as a picture of Henry. They said they never saw Henry filmed better, and they never had, it being Henry's first crash into the movies.

Somebody came to the "King" one day, that is Henry V., and informed him that as High Kickoo of a kingdom he ought to be all lit up with a coat of arms. Whereupon Henry pressed a buzzer and his private, or rather confidential, secretary, with many apologies, crept in, salaamed and took Henry's orders to dig up a high-class coat-of-arms.

They say the secretary thought Henry was talking in the language of Coits and Wessons until Henry recalled his tipster and had him inform the secretary just what a coat of arms was.

DECORATES AUTOS.

The secretary rang up a store dealing in family trees and that afternoon a landscape artist was busy painting a Greene coat of arms on Henry's seven automobiles. Just what the royal looking emblem represented nobody ever found out, but it certainly looked impressive. Aside from the uniform of the doorman at the Copley-Plaza, it has never been duplicated.

In Henry's organization he believed the folks who called should be thoroughly impressed with the importance of the "President." So, about the time they started to shoot the profits into the H. V. Greene Company in pneumatic tubes, several of the help having collapsed carrying the money in, Henry informed his confidential secretary he had better get himself a private secretary.

HARDER TO REACH HIM.

"As secretary to me," said Henry, "you carry a lot of weight in the world. It behooves a man of your importance to have a secretary of his own."

So the secretary took unto himself a private hireling, after which it was just one man harder to see Henry the "Prophet." One approaching the "Moses of Finance" from then on had to state his business to the secretary's secretary, after which, if they looked bonafide, they repeated it to the secretary and then if he okayed them he pressed a button releasing an electric lock on Henry's sanctum, and the visitor found himself with the "Savior" of the poor.

When Henry was going good somebody informed him one day that as a man of affairs, a Sultan of a province, he should have a press agent, a gentleman of unimpeachable character.

Henry therefore hired a Boston preacher, whom he camouflaged as "Educational Director of the H. V. Greene Co." He was the Rev. Dr. Stephen Herbert Roblin, pastor for almost 20 years of the Second Society of Universalists.

ROW OVER PRESS AGENT.

The doctor, it is said, interested many persons in Henry's enterprises. When he had been 25 years a pastor, friends feted Dr. Roblin at the Hotel Vendome, presenting him with a silver service and a check for $2,000.

Then in 1921 he became the centre of a legislative storm when Senator George H. Carrick charged him with having taken a six months' vacation from his 40-per-mone-a-year job, paying $6,000, to work for Henry Vincent Greene. There was quite a rumpus at the time, the pastor's church being on the verge of losing its charter.

Up at the Public Library there's a book called "Making Money." They say Henry glimpsed that as a soda clerk and was off to millions.

So much confidence did he possess, it is said, that after he achieved a well-carved niche as a money getter in State street several of the well-fattened bankers wanted to take him into the fold, steady him a bit and see that he did not stray unlawfully in the pastures of finance.

SCORNS STATE STREET.

But to their overtures Henry scornfully shouted "Crooks and Robbers, I'll have none of you." Whereupon his underlings shouted with joy and great was the rejoicing in the rich meadows of the Henry Vincent Greene Company and its many offsprings.

A Commoner, they termed Henry, a "prophet" with the common touch, hearing not nor seeing the barons in the land of plenty.

Terming State street the "Robbers of Widows," Henry, the boy who ten short years before had been scooping up cream for $15 per, got underway an elaborate street car advertising campaign in which he had an artist picture in softest hues a quiet scene of rural beauty, featuring a cosy, thatched cottage, across which he addressed the common folks with these words:

"Own the House on the Hill."

"It's yours," read Henry's subtle advertisement, "yours if you want it."

And in the none-too-dark corner were these vibrant words—"H. V. Greene, Securities."

On Henry's private office door never appeared the word "Private" when he occupied the magnificent den at No. 25 Huntington avenue, Rather, when one had successfully bowled over several underlings, secretaries and the like, he gazed at these words:

"President's Suite."

That was Henry. From sweets to the suite as it were.

Once when his difficulties started, that is, back two years or so, there came to Boston a foreign financial wizard by the name of John Jacob Arnold. Today, in Chicago, he is an influential, widely known and highly respected banker. As a matter of fact, he was then.

But he came to Boston, Henry Vincent Greene, or Henry V., having that happy faculty of attracting influential men, and immediately the western banker reorganized Henry's affairs and off from the door went the name "H. V. Greene Company." It was erased and a new name given to the parent company of Henry's many babes of wizardry.

PUTS NAME BACK.

Well, everything was pretty until Henry's subjects informed him that it was time to put back the name of the "Prophet" removed from the companies he had founded.

"Why, King," they said, "this is all to the hocus pocus," or language to that effect. "The company will go bankrupt unless the name of Greene is left on."

Henry agreed that they were right and visioning a lack of "long green" without the other Greene he promptly did some reorganizing himself and when it was all over just one week later a certain banker was back in Chicago and Henry Vincent Greene was again in control of the various Greene enterprises and the name of "H. V. Greene Company" was back on the office door, a bit larger, they say, if anything.

NO WALKING FOR HENRY.

Once when Henry wanted to go to the postoffice from his office in Huntington avenue, about the time he was riding the crest of the wave of gold, in 1919, his Tuesday limousine—he had a car for every day in the week—happened to be in the repair shop, engine trouble having developed coming in from the Weston mansion that morning.

"Get me a car," said Henry to his confidential secretary.

"But, your worship," said that individual, "your honorable machine is in the repair shop."

"Must I repeat my orders," bellowed the bespeckled "prophet," who once fondled a $12 salary lest he lose it.

"But," stuttered the secretary, white of face.

"Get me a car," said Henry, "so I can go to the postoffice. Call up and have a new Rolls-Royce sent down here immediately."

Ten minutes later Henry went to the postoffice in the car.

The bill was only $13,500.

BRIDESMAID TO WED BROTHER OF BRIDE

London, July 17.—A romantic sequel of today's marriage between Lord Porchester and Catherine Wendell of New York is the announcement of the engagement of Eileen Carr, one of Catherine's bridesmaids, to Jack Wendell, brother of the bride-to-be. The Wendells are one of the most popular American families in British society. Eileen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carr, who are prominent in London society. The Prince of Wales will be the best man at Lord Porchester's wedding and Miss Vandor and Mrs. Harvey will be among the notables to attend.

CABINET FACES CRISIS ON TITLE SALES

London July 17 (By International News Service).—The Lloyd George Cabinet faced another "crisis" today with both the House of Lords and Commons debating the alleged sale of titles in exchange for political contributions. The attack was launched some time ago by Tories in their campaign against Premier Lloyd George and his coalition Liberal supporters. It is understood that the Premier will move the appointment of a royal commission to examine all future honors.

"MEANEST MAN" SOLD BABY'S CLOTHES WHILE WIFE WAS ILL

REFUSED TO BUY FOOD

Declares Wife Is Lucky He Didn't Sell All the Furniture

Mrs. Harry Geffen, wife of the $40,000 elevated guard branded by Attorney John F. McDonald, as the "meanest man in the world," is home from the hospital, where her baby boy was born.

Today her husband, according to Mrs. Nathan Sorowitz of No. 9 Hoborn avenue, Roxbury, mother of Mrs. Geffe, admitted having sold all the baby clothes during his wife's absence.

LUCY TO HAVE FURNITURE.

"You're well of that I didn't sell the furniture," the 'meanest man' said, according to Mrs. Sorowitz.

Today Mrs. Geffen asked for a safety pin for the baby, her mother alleges, whereupon Geffen unlocked the famous trunk, where he kept the bread, cake and milk checks, and gave his wife the pin. She asked for another. He unlocked the trunk and gave her one more pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorowitz appeared in Roxbury Court today, with the "meanest man" to confer with the probation officer relative to weekly payments the court recently ordered Geffen to make to his wife. Geffen accompanied them. They left to interview Attorney McDonald, counsel for the "meanest man's" wife.

TOO POOR TO BUY CHICKEN.

"I asked him to buy my daughter a half of chicken," said Mrs. Sorowitz, "seeing she had just come from the hospital, but he said, 'I can't; I'm a poor man.'"

The "meanest man" also failed to meet his wife when she was discharged from the hospital with her new baby according to Mrs. Sorowitz.

BROTHER AND SISTER, LONG PARTED, MEET

Milford, N. H., July 17.—Separated since their infancy, Mrs. A. C. Wiggin of Portsmouth was re-united to her brother, Walter Flaridav, as a result of a long search by her brother. The two had not seen each other since, while both were very young, their parents died and they were adopted by separate families. Flaridav had tried to find his sister for years.

Through Mrs. Wiggin, he learned the whereabouts of a half-sister whom he had never seen. She is Mrs. Alice Miller of Fairhaven, Mass. The three plan to hold a reunion in Mrs. Wiggin's summer home at Alton Bay shortly.

SUMMER CAPITAL TO STAY IN WASHINGTON

Washington, July 17 (By International News Service).—"Friendship," the beautiful country home of Edward B. McLean, millionaire Washington publisher, on the outskirts of the national capital, has been selected as the "Summer White House" by the President and Mrs. Harding, it was learned today. The estate is close to Washington, within twenty minutes by motor from the White House, and it is understood that the Hardings will occupy it for an indefinite period.

SANDFORD CHURCHES GET BEQUESTS

Biddeford, Me., July 17.—The First Baptist Church and the Congregational Churches of Sanford each receive estate to the amount of $11,506.92. Mrs. Gowen left an estate estimated at $75,000.

Big Salaries Are Better Afforded Than Small Ones

No business exists which is not better able to afford big salaries than small ones, for profits are almost invariably in proportion.

It is also a fact that opportunities are more and greater in the business world than they are today. The demand for efficiency is greater than the supply.

There is not an issue that The American does not carry news of opportunity-laden openings among the "Help Wanted" ads. But the richness of their possibilities depends entirely upon the capacity of the individual.

Follow the Want Ads carefully, therefore, and supplement them, if you choose, with one of your own. That's the way to make these columns do double duty as matchmakers between you and opportunity.

Boston American
Boston's Want Ad Directory
Telephone Main 5180

Movie Actress Wins Victory in France for U. S. Styles

MABEL NORMAND
She caused a sensation at the Auteuil races by appearing in a creation from Los Angeles, comprising a gold cloth gown thickly studded with gems.

MOVIE BEAUTY WINS HEART OF PRINCE

Paris, July 17.—American fashions, almost solely hailing from New York, predominated at the Auteuil races, where the Prix de Longchamps was disputed before an enormous throng.

Even Fifth avenue was put in the shade, however, by Mabel Normand, who appeared clad in a gold cloth gown, embroidered with jade, while diamonds were worked in the hem of her corsage.

Experts pronounced the famous film star's dress the most expensive ever seen at the races since Madame Monte Christo Smith Wilkinson astounded Paris with an orgy of gems last summer.

Asked about her gown, Mabel said that it was conceived in Los Angeles, "which is destined to be the new style centre of the world."

Mabel denied reports that she was engaged to marry Prince Ibrahim, nephew of the Khedive of Egypt, with whom she has been seen dining almost every night since her arrival.

The Prince created a sensation when he said he was willing to give up his title and become a movie actor if only Mabel would marry him.

French mannequins were further put in the shade by Mrs. Frank Potter Stewart of Chicago, who wore tweed knickerbockers and gray and green golf stockings. She complained that she was not able to see a single race because she was always the centre of a crowd of admiring men.

ASTOR SEAPLANE PARTY OFF TODAY

New York, July 17.—Vincent Astor, with a party of friends, was scheduled to leave Southampton, L. I., for Newport, today, in the Astor seaplane. The flight was to have been made Sunday, but just before the party was to take off, motor trouble developed. When the pilot informed Mr. Astor that it would take three hours to make repairs, the flight was postponed, and the party spent the night in Southampton.

Vincent Astor

"11" cigarettes 10¢
They are GOOD!

RICH WOMAN IS VICTIM OF $73,000 JOKE

By Associated Press.

New York, July 17.—Mrs. Margaret Moraitis, an English woman who is on her way today to her daughter, Mrs. Sappho Llewellyn, in San Francisco, is probably wondering just who the joke is on, herself or the immigration officials. Although she arrived here a week ago with $2,000 in cash and $70,000 worth of deeds to property in Germany, Mrs. Moraitis was detained on Ellis Island until the authorities were convinced that she would not become a public charge.

Mrs. Moraitis said she had been told to conceal her wealth by someone aboard ship because her property was in Germany and that Americans were so bitter because of the World War that she might be barred from the United States if the source of her wealth was known.

But Mrs. Moraitis confessed her money and deeds in her clothing and tried her best to deceive the immigration authorities regarding her financial status without telling a falsehood.

"I have with me about $3,000 for expenses," she said, "but after what I was told I was say about telling of it. I could not satisfy the inquiry board, although I said I had plenty enough to live on. The officials sent a telegram to my daughter for affidavits that I would not become a public charge. I don't know what they will think of me to get into this trouble with the immigration officials when I had plenty of money."

Mrs. Moriatis, whose family have been English for generations, said she was coming to the United States to spend the rest of her life with her daughter, who married a World War veteran.

CUMMINGS OUT FOR LIEUT.-GOV.

Attorney John J. Cummings, who served in the House from Ward 20, and was appointed by Governor Walsh in 1915 as secretary of the commission to investigate the alleged insurance monopoly, today filed papers for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

Congressman Treadway filed papers for renomination. Senator Edwin T. Wright of Rockland filed for the Governor's Council in the First District and Charles D. Bradbury for the Republican nomination for Senator in the Winthrop-Revere-Chelsea-East Boston District.

Representative William I. Hennessey filed for the Democratic nomination in the Worcester-Essex Senatorial District, now represented by Senator John J. Carey, who is a candidate against Congressman Gallivan.

FILMS TO LESSEN CAR ACCIDENTS

Mayor Curley announced today that the Boston Elevated Trustees will co-operate with the city in the production of a motion picture film on accident prevention and will provide $1,500 towards the cost, the city paying the same amount. The name of the film is to be "The Slaughter of the Innocents."

Col. M. Mero, who has the project in charge, will attend a conference in New York shortly with managers of insurance companies. The shows are to be given at the various city parks.

FREE STATERS GET 500 PRISONERS

By International News Service.

Dublin, July 17.—Behind the curtain of censorship, fighting continued today at many points between Free State troops and irregulars, with the Free Staters gaining the upper hand. The Free Staters captured about 500 prisoners in military operations over the week-end.

Four Free State regulars were reported from Sligo, Donegal, Dundalk and Thurles. Fighting is still in progress in the Limerick district and in County Cork.

A large force of irregulars has been concentrated in the Waterford district. Irregulars are also said to be concentrating near Coolloonev to attack the Free State troops that were victorious in Saturday's operations in that sector.

Free State troops in South Dorgal have asked for reinforcements, fearing that the irregulars are planning an assault.

Free Staters now hold Inch Fort (an old English work dating back to early days of British occupation), but many of the irregular defenders escaped when the place was captured.

Eamon De Valera, who was reported missing on Saturday, is now said to be commanding irregular headquarters at Mallow.

SAYS HUBBY DIDN'T PAY ALIMONY

It was the brand new Judge Alonzo R. Weed's first case in the Suffolk County Divorce Court. The litigants were named Berry. It sounded more like a meeting of directors of the Union Pacific than an alimony hearing.

Loretta C. Berry of Milford, N. H., was in court to compel Dr. Charles C. Berry of No. 541 Commonwealth avenue, to pay the $30 a week alimony he was ordered to pay when she got a divorce in June.

HUBBY HAD $3,000

Mrs. Berry testified that when she got her divorce she knew that her husband had $3,000. She said his annual income was about $7,000. She said she had seen one bankbook which showed he had $1,000 in that bank, and another in which he had $30.

Her son, Charles F. Berry, Harvard '21, testified he discovered a drawer in his father's desk in which he found $2,800 in cash and a $500 Liberty Bond.

Mrs. Berry explained this. He and one Harry Campbell of Newton, he said, jointly invested $800 in Canada Steel. It went up several points. Their $800 became $1,200, then $1,600, then $1,900 and finally $2,100. Then they bought more. They bought at 80, the high mark. The stock went down to 35. They were trading on 20 point margin. They were wiped out.

KEPT THE MONEY.

His wife, he said, got $1,068 from him with which to pay bills. Instead of paying the bills, he charged, she kept the money. Mrs. Berry admitted having certain sums on deposit. She added that she paid her son's expenses in Harvard. The last year, she said, cost her $1,700.

Dr. Berry said he had been willing to pay the $30 a week alimony ordered, but his wife had violated an agreement. In various banks they had deposited accounts totaling some $874.39. This money, he alleged, she had drawn out since the divorce. Hence, allowing $30 a week, she still owed him money. At a late hour it looked as though an expert accountant would have to be called in.

PRIEST, 77, HIKES TO KEEP HEALTHY

Machias, Me., July 17.—The Rev. Cornelius O'Sullivan, for thirty-five

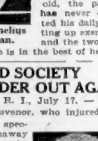
Rev. Cornelius O'Sullivan.

pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Machias, celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as a priest by a two-mile hike in the country surrounding his home.

Although seventy-seven years old, the priest has never omitted his daily setting up exercises and the two-mile hike and he is in the best of health.

INJURED SOCIETY LEADER OUT AGAIN

Newport, R. I., July 17. — Mrs. Robert Grosvenor, who injured her spine in a spectacular runaway here two months ago, came out of doors for the first time since the accident, appearing on the veranda of the club house at Bailey's Beach. Fine weather and good surf brought several hundred society folk to the beach and the new "floating mattresses" proved popular bathing devices.



Mrs. Robert Grosvenor

WANTS PELLETIER'S OLD K. OF C. POST

Thompsonville, Ct., July 17.—Attorney William J. Mulligan of this city will be a candidate for the office of Supreme Advocate to the Knights of Columbus, to succeed Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston, who resigned following his removal as District Attorney of Suffolk County. Luke E. Hart of St. Louis was appointed by Supreme Knight Flaherty of Philadelphia to fill the vacancy, regardless of the protest raised by Mulligan's friends.

W. J. Mulligan.
Photo by International News Host.

AMBASSADOR HERRICK TO VISIT HOME

Washington, July 17 By International News Service.—Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, is returning to the United States next month, it was announced here today.

Herrick is coming home on a vacation, but it is understood he will make a full report to President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes on conditions abroad.

Flapper at Hotel Switchboard Has Dizzy Day With Dumbbells

HELLO, HELLO, HELLO!
What wrong number do you want—sorry, the line is busy—who called me that?—number plee-ez.

By THE FLAPPER.

"Hello, hello, hello—number plee-ez—"

"So," Mabel said as she plugged in and plugged out, "the says to me he says—you're connected with Ocean 1950—he says, 'can I speak to Jemima?' and o' course I says—I says you're connected with Ocean 1950 for the love of mud jump in—I says, 'Jemima who?' an' he says—the party has disconnected, I'm sorry—he says, 'Jemima sitting here next to you?' the fresh thing. Number plee-ez."

"Why didn't you ask him—number plee-ez—why didn't you ask him if he knew Machiavelly?" I asked Mabel between flashes of the little red signal lights on the board in front of me.

"Wrong number, Judge? I beg your pardon, Machiavelly who?" said Mabel obligingly.

SLEEPY DUMBBELL KICKS

"Mak-ee-a-velli-nice-chop-seuy-for-fifty-cents," I said, brightly. "The line is busy."

"The fresh thing."

"Who?"

"The Judge," said Mabel. "I said 'beg pardon,' an' he said, 'sentence suspended.'

"The guests of this hotel know a lotta jokes, don't they?" I said. "Say, Mabel, here's a bozo in 415 says we didn't wake him up. He's madder'n a goat,"

"That egg always oversleeps," said Mabel. "Here, lemme talk to him. Hey, listen, dumbbell, you were called at seven this a. m., see? I can't help it if you went back to sleep.

IT'S BETTER THAN FARM.

"What?" continued Mabel after a pause. "Why, you were awake. You asked me what day it was and I told you Saturday, all day. Your tempo's bad, son. Ring off, I'm a working woman. Hello, hello, hello."

"Do you like being a switchboard operator?" I asked Mabel. "Don't you get tired of it?"

"It's better'n the farm, where I come from," returned Mabel. "I'm sorry—I rang your bell by mistake. Y'see, I'm really an apple-knocker, I am. My folks raise pigs. I beg your pardon—what number are you calling? Main 7891O! No wonder you're calling—

"Yep," Mabel continued; "I come from Vermont. Reg-lar country. Windmills n'everything. What? Park a little nearer the phone. Sorry, line's busy. Yes—we had two windmills. Wasn't enough wind, though—hadda take one down—ice water? Sure."

YOU'LL LAUGH AT THIS.

"But what about the pigs?" I asked Mabel.

"Oh, the pigs—funny about them. We had black ones and white ones. We always wondered why the black ones ate more'n the white ones. Why, would you think?"

"Did they, really?"

"Yep," said Mabel. "Wrong number. The black pigs always ate more'n the white ones. I'll call you when I get your number."

"There must'a been some reason for that," I pondered.

"But I don't see—"

"Neither do I," said Mabel, "unless it was because we had MORE black pigs—number, plee-ez."

CLAIM LIQUOR AGENTS EXCEED AUTHORITY

The technicalities of the Volstead Law and Internal Revenue instructions to prohibition agents was discussed at length today in Federal Court, when United States Commissioner Hayes was asked to decide whether Dry Agent James P. Roberts and his men exceeded their authority in destroying evidence on a recent raid.

The raid was conducted at the Oakland Dale Farm, Saugus, and eight men arrested, one of whom was later released. Seven 100-gallon stills were destroyed, much mash and 150 gallons of moonshine.

Attorney Daniel A. Shea, for the defence, told Commissioner Hayes that the raiding officers had exceeded their right in destroying property. Assistant United States Attorney William J. White said both the Volstead Law and revenue department's instructions gave raiding agents the right to destroy poor quality booze and apparatus for making it up to the value of $500.

Commissioner Hayes took the case under advisement.

DESTRUCTION IN WAKE OF BIG STORM

Pierce, Neb., July 17.—Damage estimated at $250,000 resulted this morning from a hail and windstorm that destroyed crops, killed livestock and damaged buildings in a district ten miles square. Several farm buildings are unroofed and loss of life is feared. Wires are down in the storm area.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR DR. SILVA

Prominent Boston men from all walks of life attended the funeral services of Dr. Frank P. Silva, the noted Chinatown physician, at St. Mary's Church, Charlestown, today.

Six Boston physicians, former associates of Dr. Silva, served as pallbearers. They were: Drs. John F. O'Brien, John J. Fitzgerald, Joseph McDermott, James Gallagher, Edward J. O'Brien and Joseph T. Tynon. Dr. Silva had been president of the Charlestown Medical Society and held office in many civic and welfare organizations.

'OUTCAST LEAH' GETS OFFERS OF HELP

Continued From First Page.

There they were taken into a private room where the hearing was held.

MOTHER MEETS DAUGHTER.

There was a pathetic meeting between mother and daughter. The younger woman sobbed and told how terribly she had been harassed by misfortunes since leaving home on Friday night a week ago. She threw her arms about her mother's neck and cried:

"You know I didn't mean to hurt my baby. You know how I loved her and how I stood the scorn and jeers of everybody in Lynn to have her near me. Don't you know?"

The older woman was crying, too now, consoling her child as the latter hurried hysterically on:

"Why, I couldn't have left my baby to die. I left a bottle of milk in her arms. I even had it heated. I love her too much to have deserted her like that."

FISH PRICE IS HIGH DESPITE BIG ARRIVALS

What keeps the price of swordfish so high? Wholesale dealers over on the South Boston fish pier make their usual stereotyped reply.

"The law of supply and demand."

Never in the history of the port has there been such a plentiful supply of swordfish. Last week nearly 3,500 big fish arrived, an unheard of quantity in any market in the world. The fish weigh anywhere from fifty to 800 pounds, dressed, averaging about 200 pounds.

Fish dealers say that there is a larger demand than usual from New York and other communities west and south of Boston, which has resulted in keeping prices up. The excellent keeping qualities of the fish make it easy to ship and it arrives in good condition.

However, the capacious maw of the South Boston fish freezer keeps taking in the surplus, and those same keeping qualities will enable Bostonians to have swordfish for many weeks after the fish have turned South for the Winter—at a price.

A fleet of ten schooners arrived today with an aggregate of 845 fish, approximately 150,000 or 180,000 pounds. A large part of it went to the freezer.

WILL EXCOMMUNICATE IRISH OUTLAWS

London, July 17 (By International News Service).—Cardinal Logue, Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, has issued an edict excommunicating all persons who participanta in murders and arson in Ireland, according to a dispatch from Belfast this afternoon.

TEXTILE STRIKE SPREADS TO LOWELL

Lowell, July 17.—The Massachusetts Cotton Mills opened today with only half of their 1,500 workers reporting for work, a 20 per cent. wage cut having become effective today. Workers who struck hung about the mill gates, but offered no hindrance to those who passed into work.

The Lawrence Hosiery Mills, running with a greatly reduced force of unorganized help, announced a readjustment of wages effective today. There was no strike.

Minor Disturbance in Lawrence

Lawrence, Mass, July 17.—The seventeenth week of the textile strike opened here today with a minor disturbance at the Pacific Print Works. Police were called to disperse a gathering of about fifty pickets, who were heckling workers entering the mill. Stones were hurled, one striking Policeman Martin Dunn. No arrests were made.

A special meeting of the City Council has been called to hear representatives of the United Textile Works of America who desire to state publicly what is being done to bring about a settlement of the textile strike. Today Francis J. Gorman, Mrs. Sarah Giles and John Hendry, three United Textile Workers' strike leaders, had an informal conference with the members of the council, requesting the hearing. They stated that they understood they were being blamed to some extent for a continuance of the strike.

Rev. J. Bowden, pastor of the Unitarian Church of Lawrence, today issued an open letter appealing for a settlement of the strike. He declared the controversy to include two seriously conflicting features, humanitarian and economic. Rev. Bowden proposed the appointment of a commission of impartial Lawrence citizens to investigate the strike and to determine how serious the competition of Southern mills is to the local manufacturers.

Moosup Mills Resume Work

Moosup, Ct., July 17.—No untoward incident accompanied the attempt to resume work today at the plant of the Union Cotton Mills of the Aldrich Manufacturing Company here. Although the gates of the plant were opened this morning, for such as cared to return to work it was claimed that only twenty persons entered the plant during the first hour. The mill management said the gates would remain open, as they believed a large part of the force desired to work.

MANCHESTER FIRE COMMISSIONER DEAD

York, Me., July 17.—Fire Commissioner Joseph S. Flynn of Manchester, N. H., died at his summer home here. He is survived by his widow and five children. Mr. Flynn was a director of the R. G. Sullivan estate.

57

Every drop awakens flavor

Heinz Vinegars—fine, mellow, aromatic, yet tangy and zestful—develop the natural flavors of all foods they touch. This is due to the choice materials used, the skill and care in preparation, the long aging in wood. Four kinds—in bottles filled and sealed by Heinz.

HEINZ
PURE VINEGARS

MARILYNN MILLER PROVES PICKFORD'S NAVY RECORD FAULTLESS

ZIEGFELD'S CHARGES FALSE

Continued From First Page.

his mother by telegraph and counsel forwarded them to me.

"Major Brewster's letter reads:

June 22, 1922.

"'Mr. Jack Pickford, Hotel Ambassador, New York City.

"'Dear Mr. Pickford: I have seen several articles in the daily papers recently to the effect that you betrayed your country's trust during the World War; that you turned State's evidence in the exposition of the graft and bribery ring in the Third Naval District, and that you had been discharged from the navy for bad conduct.

HONORABLE AND CLEAN.

"'These statements are unjustified, by the fact that your war record was honorable and clean, which is evidenced by the fact of your discharge, showing character very good and no objection to re-enlistment. If you had been discharged for bad conduct, or by court-martial, the fact would have been entered upon your discharge papers in accordance with the naval regulations. Your service record was in my custody until several weeks before your discharge and that contained no record of misconduct of any character against you.

"The testimony which you gave before the General Court Martial at the Navy Yard, New York, in the case of Dr. Benjamin Davis, lieutenant, Medical Corps, which trial resulted in conviction of Dr. Davis and the ultimate exposure of the Bribery Ring, was of great benefit to the Government, as all the testimony on the count to which you testified was by accomplices or interested parties except your own

SHOULD BE COMMENDED.

"You did not turn State's evidence in this trial. Your testimony was entirely disinterested, and at no time did you benefit, or expect to benefit, in the matters connected with the trial.

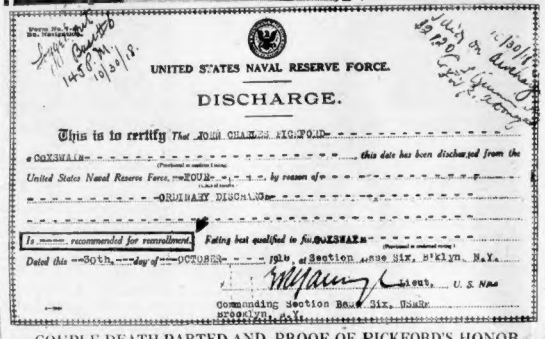
"'Instead of criticism in connection with your appearance as a witness in this case, you should be commended for the stand you took in turning over the evidence you had to the naval authorities.

"Yours very truly,

"S. W. Brewster, Major, U. S. M. C., retired, Judge Advocate, Navy Yard, New York, N. Y. Third Naval District, 1917-1919."

"Prizes realized on Swift & Company sales of various beef by Boston retail dealers July 13th, on shipments sold out, ranged from 14.50 cents to 16.25 cents per pound and averaged 15.58 cents per pound.

MARILYNN AND HER LATE HUSBAND



UNITED STATES NAVAL RESERVE FORCE.

DISCHARGE.

This is to certify That JOHN CHARLES PICKFORD

COXSWAIN (Permanent or emergency rating)

this date has been discharged from the United States Naval Reserve Force, on account of

ORDINARY DISCHARGE

He is recommended for reenrollment. Rating best qualified to fill COXSWAIN (Permanent or emergency rating)

Dated this 30th day of OCTOBER, 1919, at Section Base Six, Brklyn, N.Y.

Lieut., U. S. Naval Reserve Force

Commanding Section Base Six, Brklyn.

COUPLE DEATH PARTED AND PROOF OF PICKFORD'S HONOR

At top, Marilynn Miller and Frank Carter, who were married in 1920. Less than a year later Carter was killed in an auto accident. Miss Miller is now engaged to Jack Pickford, a betrothal that has evoked the wrath of Flo Ziegfeld, Marilynn's boss. Ziegfeld has stored Pickford's naval record during the war. Above is facsimile of Pickford's discharge papers. They are known as "ordinary" discharge papers and entitle the receiver to re-enlist. Marilynn says these papers prove Ziegfeld's charges untrue.

"Wonder how Flo Ziegfeld will like the sound of that?

"And here's Jack Pickford's discharge from the United States Navy. I sent for that, too, in order to refute Ziegfeld's charges. The discharge stamps Ziegfeld's accusations against Jack Pickford as false.

"But when Flo Ziegfeld enlarged on his accusations in Paris and Broadcasted them to the world I thought it time to come into the open and defend Jack.

"The assertion in the newspaper cables that Ziegfeld was investigating Olive Thomas' death in Paris made me furious. What should prompt Flo Ziegfeld to do such a thing, or even interest himself in the death of Olive Thomas? Didn't he know that the French authorities had investigated the death and reached a conclusion that cast not the faintest suspicion on anyone?

"'Investigate Olive Thomas' death!' Flo Ziegfeld should let the poor girl rest in her grave. That was an ugly impression to give the world. It gave Jack Pickford no chance to explain or to defend himself. That was why I took up the cudgel.

"Jack Pickford loved Olive Thomas. Olive's mother is like a mother to Jack today. She calls Jack her son. Would Olive's mother be apt to receive Jack regularly and show an attachment for him if what Flo Ziegfeld hinted were true?

"Jack is as highly esteemed by Olive's mother as I am by Frank Carter's mother. I write to the mother of my late husband and visit her whenever I can and I hear from her regularly. What's more, Frank Carter's mother is going to be a guest at my wedding. She happens to be in California at the present time.

"So much for the Olive Thomas death rumor and for the navy affair. There is an affidavit from the judge-advocate of the navy which further explains Jack's case."

Copyright, 1922, by Bert Ford.
Reproduction Prohibited.

(Continued Tomorrow.)

COXSWAIN.

"The discharge shows that Jack was not dishonorably discharged. If he had been it would bear the word 'dishonorable,' which would prevent Jack ever joining the navy again.

"But, as Major Brewster points out, by the terms of the discharge, John Charles Pickford—that's my Jack—can join the navy with honor at any time. It reads 'recommended for enrollment,' and cites that Jack had the rating of coxswain.

"Another of Flo Ziegfeld's slanders punctured. Flo charged Jack with being a slacker and a traitor. He made those charges on hearsay, actuated by personal grudge. He didn't take the bother to investigate. If he had he would have discovered that Jack Pickford enlisted in the navy as a 'kid' when under age.

"He stood in line all day without eating anything. He went into the service voluntarily, although married and bound by an important film contract. He was only twenty at the time. Not much slacker spirit there.

SHOCK TO HIS MOTHER.

"It was a shock to his mother. Like all devoted mothers, she feared for her only son. Jack is unusually attached to Ma Pickford and she loves him. As I understand it there had been some suggestion that Jack join the regiment that had been adopted by Mary, but he couldn't see it. He disappeared one day and cast his lot with the navy.

"He was put in the Intelligence division and was stationed in New York. Then there was some kind of fuss which I never heard in detail. All I know is that the newspapers had reports about the sons of wealthy men getting soft berths and something was said about Jack having been used as a go-between to assist friends.

"As a matter of fact, the men were strangers to Jack; they had been merely introduced, or something and he had no dealings in the affair. I learned that from others. Jack and I never discussed it.

ZIEGFELD SEEKS SCANDAL.

"All I cared to know was that Jack had voluntarily enlisted under age, which showed his spirit. Jack didn't wait to be drafted. Ziegfeld should chalk that in his memory. But Flo doesn't bother with such details. He seeks only scandal and rumor when Jack Pickford is concerned.

"He has seized upon trifles and magnified them if they involved Jack Pickford. I heard him repeat charges for weeks and months, but remained dumb. I thought that the best course. But it was a strain on my patience and temper. For more than a year I stifled my feelings.

JAIL OFFICIAL HELD IN DRUG RAID CASE

William J. Cronin, an officer at the House of Correction, was arraigned before Judge Sullivan in Municipal Court today, charged with being present where narcotic drugs were found. He was held in $5,000 for the Grand Jury, after Assistant District Attorney Robinson had requested heavy bail.

Cronin was one of five arrested in a raid at No. 5 West Canton street. The prosecutor stated that when District Attorney O'Brien was Penal Institutions Commissioner, Cronin was discharged for a similar offence. The man was returned to his job when the new regime came in.

Others caught in the same raid were held as follows: Alice Raynolds, possession of narcotics, $5,000; Lillian Raynolds, possession, $2,000; Ida Lull, possession, $2,000, and John F. Raynolds, being present.

Cronin holds a responsible office at the House of Correction and his arrest has led to much speculation.

The authorities are now trying to ascertain whether or not he is acting as a go-between between dope pedlars and inmates of the jail.

BILLIE BURKE STRIKES BACK AT MARILYNN

York Harbor Me., July 17.—Billie Burke, stage and film star, who in private life is Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., threw down the gauntlet to Marilynn Miller, "Sally" star, in the cryptic defi "Prove the lies you have been uttering about my husband."

"Billie" discussed many things, from "Baby Patricia," who was entwined affectionately around her mother's neck to her famous husband, Flo Ziegfeld, Jr., famous authority on pulchritude. She said:

"As to the intimations contained in the so-called stories that Flo was in love with Marilynn, or had ever made love to her, the idea is ridiculous. The brain of the poor child is not functioning properly.

WANTS TRUTH TOLD.

"Marilynn flatters herself very much when she believes Flo wishes to keep her from marrying Jack Pickford, because Flo is in love with her.

"As to the idea of Flo trying to inveigle Marilynn into a compromising position—the idea is not only nonsensical, but only goes to show how foolish a woman can act when under the hypnotic influence of such a man as Jack Pickford—wait and see.

"When I say: 'Why doesn't Marilynn tell the whole truth about herself—if she dares,' I meant it.

"Flo has had considerable trouble with Marilynn. Last year she flew into a rage because Flo told her a halt had to be called on wild parties.

"Here are some questions for the wonderful lady who boasts she can marry anyone, the lady, the perfect little lady who says she repelled the unwelcome attentions of my husband:

AS TO THE PARTIES.

"Why doesn't Marilynn tell the names of the very nice people, the very nice, who attended her champagne parties at Great Neck L. I.?

"She talks about me from Flo—sure he writes to all his employees—sends them candy and flowers. He has to. Artists, chorus girls and actors are flinched and temperamental, and they must be pampered and showered with attentions.

"Why doesn't Jack Pickford say something about the many letters Flo has from members of the American Legion about his record in the navy? Of course, Flo doesn't want his star of 'Sally' to marry Pickford. First, it is a matter of business; and, secondly, he has the future welfare of the girl in mind.

"To me Flo is a darling husband. He is kind, so sweet and attentive. As a husband, and as a father, he is in a class all by himself. My little girl adores Flo, and his pants I shall defend to the last. And to think that this woman, this Miller woman with her hints, her slanders, her delusions, would seek to wreck my home—wreck my baby daughter's life and happiness, and all because her husband-to-be, Pickford, wants revenge on the man who is my husband.

"My husband's private life before marriage doesn't concern me—it is his high-mindedness—his fidelity and his devotion to me and our child, which convince me that I have the best husband in the world.

"I wonder if after several years of married life, Marilynn will say the same thing?"

FIRST HUSBAND BACK WITH ACCUSED WIFE

MR. AND MRS. EDGAR N. LEONARD

When she thought her first husband dead with the army in Germany, Mrs. Leonard of Taunton married Victor Chartier. When the latter learned Leonard was alive he entered suit for bigamy against the woman, then disappeared. Leonard and his wife, as the picture shows, are now happily reunited.

Taunton, July 17.—Attorney John Sullivan, retained by Mrs. Mary Etta Leonard to defend her against a charge of bigamy which was brought by Victor F. Chartier of Jewett City, Conn., who married her when he thought Edgar Nelson Leonard, husband number one, was dead in Germany, announced that he will "spring a sensation" when the case is called Tuesday in court.

Leonard, who returned to Taunton last week after completing a term with the Army of Occupation, found his wife married to Chartier. The latter, who left at Leonard's arrival, swore out a warrant for bigamy and disappeared.

While Attorney Sullivan will not go into details in regard to his "sensation," he intimated that he will bring up facts in regard to Chartier's war record that will cause the authorities to forget all about the bigamy charge. Chartier, meanwhile, cannot be found, and it is intimated that he will never appear in court.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children
IN USE FOR OVER 30 YEARS
Always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

U. S. AGREES TO NATION LEAGUE MANDATES

London, July 17.—George Harvey, the United States ambassador to Great Britain, and Earl Balfour, active British Foreign Secretary, have reached an agreement by which America accepts the mandates of the "A" and "B" class with all American rights fully guaranteed, it was learned today as the League of Nations Council meeting opened here.

Mandates and limitation of armaments were two of the chief subjects for discussion on the agenda of the council meeting.

London, July 17 (By the Associated Press).—An agreement has been reached by Great Britain, France and Belgium respecting the points in dispute in the various mandates for former German colonies, and those countries will submit to the council of the League of Nations at its session begun here today, new draft mandates for Class A and Class B territory.

These revised mandates are believed by the allied powers to embody all the changes requested by the United States.

Only one point remains unsettled. The French desire more protection against political activities by missionaries. It is said the episode in Syria last Spring in which Charles R. Crane of Chicago was involved has made the French more emphatic on this point.

LAWHORNE'S STORY HEARD TOMORROW

Private John D. Lawhorne, the marine under guard at Charlestown State Prison in connection with the murder of Ralph W. Brewster, the Winchester station agent, will testify tomorrow at a special session of the Grand Jury called by the district attorney.

Colonel Marix of the marine corps has wired to Washington for permission for Lawhorne, who is desirous of testifying, to go to court. He will be accompanied by a marine guard on the journey from Charlestown to East Cambridge. It is expected that he will be released following his testimony.

When Preparing for Vacation
Your Shopping List Should Include
Men's Silk
HOLEPROOF HOSE
The name is a guarantee of longer wear, better quality and lower price.

Black, white, cordovan, grey, blue, (box of 3 pairs)....$2.25
Silk Faced (3 pairs)....$1.65
Fine Lisle (6 pairs)....$3.30
Sole Boston Agents

Black, white, cordovan, grey blue, heavy silk (3 prs.)....$3.00
Cotton (6 pairs)....$2.40
Fine Cotton (6 pairs)....$3.00
Mail Orders Filled

TALBOT CO.
395-403 Washington St.
Women's and Children's Also

Clean-Clear-and Heavier-bodied

The clean, clear, golden color of Texaco Motor Oil proves its purity.

Better engine performance shows that your motor needs these heavier-bodied oils.

Four grades—light, medium, heavy and extra-heavy.

TEXACO MOTOR OIL
THE TEXAS COMPANY, U.S.A.
Texaco Petroleum Products
Run it with Texaco Gasoline
Save it with Texaco Motor Oil

Star tobacco
NOW 15¢
Best for 52 years
Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

An Old Sore
does not heal because the pus which is continually forming, poisons the surrounding flesh.
Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil
Stops the formation of pus, destroys the poison and heals the sore. It Stops Pain and Heals at the Same Time.
30c 60c $1.20

Advertisement
Eyesight Dim?
If your eyesight is dim, your vision blurred; if your eyes ache, itch, burn or feel dry, get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets from your druggist, dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and use to bathe the eyes from two to four times a day. Bon-Opto has given stronger eyes, clearer, sharper vision and relief in thousands.
Many Doctors say Bon-Opto strengthens eyesight 50 per cent in a week's time in many instances.

Are You the Man Who "Never Reads Advertisements"?

Some men, who are neither blind nor illiterate, claim sincerely that they "never read advertisements."

Yet, if you could investigate, in each case you would find that the man who "never reads advertisements" used an advertised tooth paste or shaving cream or soap. If he owns an automobile it will be an advertised car. If you ask his opinion of any automobile he will reply in words that might have been lifted bodily from an advertisement of that automobile.

Advertising has formed his opinions to a great degree. He may have received his information through others who obtained their knowledge from advertising. But it is a fact that no man can escape the effect of advertising even if he does say he "never reads advertisements."

Not one of us ever reasoned out entirely from his own mind that the earth is round. If we had not read it or heard it we would never have known it.

In these days of good, truthful, helpful advertising to say, "I never read advertisements" is merely your way of saying, "I don't read all advertisements."

(Published by The Boston American, in co-operation with The American Association of Advertising Agencies)

TROTTER THREATENED TO KILL HER, WIFE SAYS

The Reverend "Mel" Trotter, who converted thousands of people during a Tremont Temple revival in Boston, used to double his fists on the pulpit and take stabs at the air.

He would illustrate in fistic pantomime what he would do to the Devil if he even met up with him.

He showed a marked knowledge of the technique of fisticuffs. So much so as to pardon a legitimate curiosity concerning the source of this knowledge.

This has come out now in the trial at Grand Rapids, in which Mrs. Trotter is seeking a separation from the Don Juan parson. According to her testimony "Mel" used to practice on her.

Whenever she reproached him for his affair with his handsome young secretary, Miss Florence Moodey, and scolded him for the scandal which arose from the birth of a child to Miss Moodey, he would bang her ons or two, she testified.

THREATENED HER LIFE.

When she persisted in her charges, she said, her evangelistic spouse threatened to kill her.

She told of an incident in which she went to see Miss Moodey, who was teaching a Bible class, and accused her of breaking up her home. Her husband saw her coming out of the room. He asked her to come into his office. What followed was related by Mrs. Trotter thus:

"He came over and slapped my mouth. Then he struck me with his fists on my chest. I screamed for help. He slapped me again and said: 'If you make those charges against me stick, I'll kill you!'

"STRUCK ME AGAIN."

"On another occasion, when I mentioned Florence Moodey to him, he struck me in the face with his open hand. Then he struck me again, took me by the throat and pushed me away. He then threw me on the bed and struck me in the face three times.

Numerous other occasions, when bitter domestic quarrels over the alleged amours of the evangelist resulted in fistic attacks on her, were cited by Mrs. Trotter. Mr. Trotter frequently made insinuations that she was mentally deranged, she said, and it was "fear that she would be secretly committed to some insane asylum" that made her an exile from her home for many months in 1919.

Trotter, charged by his wife with the unfaithfulness of John Moody's baby, planned to secrete the infant in some asylum until the furore abated, and later adopt the baby, Mrs. Trotter testified.

BOTH PARTIES AGREED.

There had been just one reservation to her forgiveness of her husband and Florence at the time of their alleged confessions to her, she said. That was that the girl was to leave her husband and the mission forever.

Trotter and Florence both agreed to this, she said. After granting forgiveness and agreeing to stand watch over the girl and during her sickness, her next concern was what should be done with the child about to be born. It was then that Trotter made the statement about placing the child in an asylum and later adopting it.

During the early progress of the case Trotter had borne up well, but now he is beginning to show the effects of the ordeal. He is said to be near a collapse.

GIRL WAS BACK.

Mrs. Trotter told of a sojourn at a sanitarium in Battle Creek, following the tragic events in her home life.

"I was heartbroken and terribly upset over what had happened," she said. "And Mel suggested that if I was so nervous and felt so badly I'd better go to Battle Creek and take a rest. He said it would brace me up."

She told of several trips about the country immediately following her respite at Battle Creek in which she accompanied her husband.

Upon returning to Grand Rapids, in September, she said, she found that the one condition of her pardon had not been fulfilled and Miss Moodey was back at her work in the mission, exactly as before the domestic crisis.

"I was angry and told Mr. Trotter that I didn't think it was right. He said: 'But she must come back, if only for a few days, to keep folks from being suspicious.' And Miss Moodey said she wanted to come back for just a little while to show that she did mean to be good and true."

FIRST INTIMATION.

"What was your first intimation that Miss Moodey was involved in any trouble?

"Why, it was while we were at Jacksonville, Fla., in the Spring of 1918," responded Mrs. Trotter.

"One morning after reading his mail he looked up suddenly and said: 'There's something wrong between Mansel and Moodey.' I asked what it was and he said: 'You don't suppose I can tell from here, do you?' He asked if I could get ready that day as he had to come right back. I said I thought I could. While I packed our things he bought the tickets, and we left that night."

"Up to 1916, what had been your relations with your husband?"

"Ordinary," replied the witness.

"Up to that time had you ever accused your husband of infidelity?"

"No."

"Did you ever remtimand him for his attitude towards the girls of the ministry?"

"Yes, sir, I had to, on account of the things I saw that made me anxious, and 'I didn't consider proper."

MEL CHARGES PEEPING.

Before Mrs. Trotter took the stand her husband finished his testimony.

He charged his wife had peeped through keyholes and cracks in the door of his office and had watched him through binoculars when he was at mixed bathing parties, as a part of a domestic espionage she maintained over him.

Threat of exposure before the mission board was the cudgel which Mrs. Trotter held over his head for almost five years to compel him to "confess" his alleged amours with Miss Moodey, his private secretary, who became the mother of the "Mission Love Baby," Trotter testified.

REFUSED TO BE RUINED.

"Did you ever confess to Mrs. Trotter or to any one else?" he was asked by counsel.

"Never," exploded the witness.

"Did you lose your position with the Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago because of the legal publication of these charges?" inquired the counsel.

"Yes, sir."

"How long have you held that position?"

"Ever since the death of Supt. Harry Monroe in 1916."

During redirect examination, Mr. Trotter referred to his wife's charges as a deliberate attempt to ruin him and his work.

"Isn't it true that you knew all the time that from your wife's standpoint she was taking that course in an attempt to save you?"

"From her standpoint, yes—she thought she could save me by exposing," responded the witness.

"But you didn't want to be saved that way?" said the attorney.

"I didn't want to be ruined her way," flashed back the witness. There was a ripple of laughter.

Sunburn

is instantly relieved and soon healed by applying

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil

It is a Soothing, Healing Antiseptic for all local irritations. 30c per bottle.

Cuticura Soap

——The Healthy——

Shaving Soap

Cuticura Soap shaves without mug

CAPTURES MATE WHO SHE SAYS LEFT HER

MRS. FRED GARRETT AND FAMILY

George and Marie are two of her three children. When the Roxbury police could not find her husband whom she accuses of desertion, Mrs. Garret found him after a long hunt.

WIFE ARRESTS HUSBAND WHEN POLICE FAIL

Fred Garrett, for whom Roxbury Crossing police searched vainly on charges of wife desertion, appeared in the Roxbury Court today as a result of the activities of Mrs. Garrett.

Police said they couldn't find him. So Mrs. Garrett, who has three little children, went out alone and located him. This done, she proceeded to lead him into the East Dedham street station, where he was held until he could be turned over to the Roxbury Crossing officers.

"The police couldn't find him, so I went out and got him myself," she said. "I told him I'd got him, and thank God, I did."

CHAUFFEUR'S CHILD TO WED SOCIETY MAN

New York, July 17.—Louis Bossevain, prominent society and club man, will marry the daughter of a chauffeur, Miss Lydia Helen White, according to the mother of the girl, who announced the engagement. The announcement is confirmed by friends of the bride-to-be. Society patrons and matrons get a queer thrill out of the marriage, for, although they are used to marriages of the fairer sex of their set to grooms, chauffeurs or handsome "lightning conductors," this is a reversal of the usual order of things.

Lydia H. White

Photo by International News Reel.

SEES DECAY OF NORDIC RACES

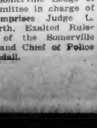
"The death-rate of the Irish here is more than double what it is in Ireland," writes Dr. Austin O'Malley in "America." "Northwestern Europeans die out in America, but the Southern and Southeastern Europeans are increasing astonishingly."

Dr. O'Malley concludes in his book that the final result undoubtedly will be that the Southern and Southeastern European races will survive here, while the Nordic races will decay.

Twenty-five years ago the writer studied a group of fifty Irish in Pennsylvania after they had been in the country fifty years. Instead of increasing numerically, or even holding their own, they had retrogressed 36 per cent. The German death rate in this country is nearly double that of the fatherland. The death rate of English and Welsh here is 25 per cent. greater than in Britain. The Austro-Hungarian rate here is only one-quarter of the home rate, and the Russian Jew one-fifth.

BOY PROBATIONERS TO HAVE OUTING

An all-day outing will be given tomorrow to two hundred boy probationers of the Somerville District Court at Forest Grove, Waltham, as a reward for satisfactory conduct while on probation and for good behavior since discharge. The boys will be the guests of the Somerville Court, the police officials and the Big Brother Committee of the Somerville Lodge of Elks. The committee in charge of the outing comprises Judge L. Roger Wentworth, Exalted Ruler George Cohen of the Somerville Lodge of Elks and Chief of Police Charles A. Kendall.



George Cohen

LIQUOR EVIDENCE DUG UP IN HYDE PARK

A squad of police armed with spades and pickaxes dug up 403 corks bottle stoppers in the garden of Antonio Amarosso in Hyde Park. They also dug up several jugs of liquor and a number of pint bottles.

A VERY SPECIAL CEDAR CHEST VALUE

Size 32x14x14½

Lock and Key

Half Inch Stock Absolutely Moth Proof

SPECIAL SALE PRICE 7.50 Each

Never offered before at any such price. Mail and Phone Orders Accepted.

BAY STATE FIBRE CO.

Branch 716 90 and 99 Oneunoy Street (Formerly of West St.)

Largest Retailers of Cedar Chests in the World

DRUG ORGIES REVEALED BY VICTIM

How a beautiful blonde heiress, known to them only by the alias "Mildred Morphine," gave the Federal narcotic authorities the information upon which they have made scores of arrests during the past months, has been revealed to the Boston American.

This girl, only nineteen years old, but a confirmed drug addict, vanished from her haunts in the Back Bay immediately after furnishing important information to the Federal authorities.

It was at first thought that she had met with foul play at the hands of suspicious drug pedlars, but the Federal authorities have now satisfied themselves that she has been placed by her family in a private sanitarium in another State.

During her career in this city she attracted much attention because of her great beauty and refinement. She was seen much at Back Bay hotels with scions of wealthy families, studying at Tech and Harvard.

Her amazing story, as she revealed it to the Federal officers, showed that this dashing girl led a double life, consorting with men and women of social position by day, and then by night frequenting dingy alleyways in the poorer sections of the city to meet dope pedlars ,who kept her well supplied.

TELLS STRANGE STORY.

Her story, as she disclosed it to the Federal officers, is one of the strangest and most pitiful which ever came to the ears of old time dope detectors. Barely out of short dresses, possessed of education, wealth, refinement and surpassing beauty, the use of cocaine and morphine reduced her intelligence to that of a ten-year-old child, destroyed her ambition, and left her wrecked mentally and physically.

So lurid did the stories she told of some of her experiences seem to the Federal officers, that until after investigation proved them to be so, they were deemed drug-induced ravings.

Although addicted to the use of drugs for the last four years, it was only just before she made her startling revelations to the Federal officers, that she began to show physical signs of their use and her intimate friends and relatives began to suspect her of their use.

Talking with the Federal officers just before her disappearance, she admitted that for months previous she had known no real waking hours, either being in a sound sleep or in a dope dream.

TRADED IN BACK BAY.

She admitted having been on frequent dope parties in Back Bay apartments, where both men and women addicts took shot after shot of morphine until they became stupified.

She revealed the fact that several of the boldest purveyors of illicit cocaine and morphine did not hesitate to make deliveries of the drugs in the cafes of Back Bay hotels.

She told of Back Bay orgies where women of the underworld mixed dope and liquor in a frantic haste to become hopelessly intoxicated.

She told of demi-mondaines sending young girls into Chinatown to purchase tins of hop for "smoking parties."

Her acquaintance with pedlars of cocaine and morphine astounded the officials, who could hardly bring themselves to believe that a beautiful nineteen-year-old girl could have so extensive an acquaintance with those who prey on humanity by selling drugs.

The girl, while maintaining her wiles, convinced the authorities that she was in fact the daughter of a millionaire, living at present in another country. She received money from her father's lawyers at regular intervals, and owned an extensive wardrobe.

While she was living in the Back Bay her father thought she was studying at a local school, and so cleverly did she manipulate matters that she had convinced his legal representatives of the fact—although as a matter of fact she had never even enrolled at the school.

"I was first given morphine when I was fifteen years old, to stop an acute pain," she told Federal officers.

GOT IT FROM DOCTORS.

"I found that it put me to sleep, even quicker than a med cine which I had been accustomed to take to make me sleep since I was a little child. A nurse I had used to get it for me. Then I met other girls who used it, and they helped me get it, and then some boys I knew used to get it for me.

"I never had any trouble getting it. I suppose people knew by the sleepy way I looked that I used it, although many people used to think it was drink that made me look that way.

"There have been intervals when I did not use any. But just as sure as I made up my mind to quit it I would be dining in a hotel and some fellow who sells it would see me and pass me some.

"If I found myself running short, I found there were doctors in town to whom I could go and who would let me have some to tide me over. I guess some of them really took pity on me, but there were others who would write prescriptions for any of the girls.

"I was arrested several times while under the influence of morphine. But the police thought I was drunk and simply charged me with that offence. I gave a phoney name and got away with it, and apparently no one ever suspected.

"Doctors I went to, questioned me, said that a slight sunstroke which had been given me ever since I was a child, was largely responsible for the habit that I had fallen into because it made me fall asleep and I lost all sense of care or worry.

"I met three girls in the Back Bay who took stuff with me. Sometimes one used veronal only, but the other two used cocaine and morphine.

HELD DOPE PARTIES.

"We used to go to one another's homes, and take the stuff. Then we would sit around and smoke cigarettes. Sometimes we would spend a night just taking dope and smoking cigarettes. Then one of the fellows who sold the stuff would bring in some chicken and we'd eat a bit, and go to it again.

"By way of diversion we'd play the talking machine and dance for an hour, or get a pint of liquor. But liquor made us sick, and we didn't care for it as much as for the dope.

"There was one boy who used to come down from Montreal every couple of weeks. He was always well supplied with stuff, and sold it to us cheaper than the rest because we would let him hold parties at our places. He used to bring down liquor, too, and whenever he blew in there were some college boys would drop over, and we'd have a wild time until the liquor was gone. Then the boys would leave and we'd start in on the cigarettes and morphine and coke.

"I don't think the boys ever knew we used the stuff—that there were plenty of other boys who did.

"One fellow I knew used to travel around with a trunk full of the throw girls I knew. I've had him pass me a deck of morphine in a crowded dining room more than once. Then we'd go to the ladies' room and take it. He would pretend not to not want any money for it, but as a matter of fact, if you didn't pay him you got no more stuff until you did."

In the next instalment "Mildred Morphine" will tell of how she openly purchased morphine in daylight in Boston, before the recent cleanup, and continue her tale of Back Bay night life.

ASK RELEASE OF 88 POLITICAL PRISONERS

Washington, July 17.—On Wednesday a petition, said to bear a million signatures, will be presented to President Harding for the release of the eighty-eight political prisoners now confined in Federal prisons. These prisoners were charged with utterances against the late war. The petition was circulated by the General Defense Committee of Chicago.

The delegates will attempt to show, according to their belief, that President Harding has the wrong idea of this question. In a recent letter to Senator Lodge, the President said:

"There are a number of political prisoners whom it is impossible for me to think of in connection with executive clemency."

The delegates take hone in sentiment from another passage in the same letter, in which the President says: "Whenever a case comes within the meaning of what we term a 'political prisoner' I am disposed to great executive clemency."

PRESIDENT AND PREMIER AT ODDS

London, July 17 By International News Service).—A grave political situation is arising in Poland as the result of hostility between President Pilsudski and Adelbert Korfanty, the newly-appointed Polish Premier, according to advices from Warsaw today. The Polish army is said to be supporting President Pilsudski, but the supporters of Premier Korfanty are standing firm and declare that Korfanty will not heed the President's request that he resign.

ITALIAN CABINET IS FACING A CRISIS

Milan, Italy, July 17 (By International News Service).—An attempt will be made in the Chamber of Deputies at Rome tomorrow by members of the Socialist, Popular and Democratic parties to vote down the Facta government because of its failure to check the aggressive activities of the Fascisti, according to a Rome dispatch to Corriere Della Sera today. A Cabinet crisis appears imminent.

Arrest Guide for Too Much "Taxi" Riding

Roland, July 17.— Life as a fishing guide for city folks in the Maine woods was too slow for Roland Arasor.

Roland came down from the vicinity of Lake Cobbosseecontee, Kennebec Valley, Maine, and proceeded to spend his vacation in taxicabs. The guide made one big mistake, according to the police—he failed to pay his taxi bills. Now Roland is under arrest at this town and is wanted by the police of Brockton and Boston, where enraged taxi drivers are tearing their hair out because the man from the woods "put one over" on them.

The guide hired a taxi in Boston and, stating he was a detective, ordered the driver to hasten with all possible speed to the Brockton police station. The driver hastened. At the police station Roland gave a fake order for $25 to the driver, who took it back to Boston—to his sorrow.

KILLING WAVE IN PITTSBURGH SECTION

Pittsburgh, July 17.—Killing of two women and three men in Allegheny County during the last twenty-four hours held the attention of the authorities today.

In Versailles township, Mrs. Grace Gilbert, summoned to the door of her home, was shot down. Her husband, from whom she had been separated, was arrested. Mrs. Katherine Waley was shot to death in a rooming house. Witnesses said she had quarreled with her husband.

Thomas Jones, according to residents of West View, met death when he fought a duel with an unknown man. Benjamin Canale, wealthy cafe proprietor, was killed by unidentified assassins when he stepped from his automobile at Braddock after answering a mysterious telephone call. The body of an unidentified man was found near Banksville. He had been stabbed and shot.

HUB PORTUGUESE TO HONOR AIRMEN

Sacadura Cabral

Photo by International News Reel.

The Portuguese colony of Greater Boston will holdacelebration on Sunday, July 23, in honor of the Portuguese aeronauts, Gago Coutinho and Sacadura Cabral who succeeded in their flight from Lisbon, the capital of Portugal, to Rio de Janeiro, the capital of Brazil. The celebration will be in the form of a civic and religious program, and it is expected that all the Portuguese societies will participate in the parade, part of which will start from Cambridge and will be joined later at Adams square by Portuguese societies of East Boston.

Gago Coutinho

Photo by International News Reel.

PERSIAN REBELS ROUTED IN FIGHT

Teheran, Persia, July 17 (By the Associated Press).—After sharp fighting in jungle regions, rebels under Seyid Jelil, who carried out extensive operations in Jhin at Sauj Bulak and in the vicinity of Sultanabad, have been routed. The militia in Lahidan is now normal. Martial law has been proclaimed in Persian Azerbaijan.

ELECTIONS MAY AID STRIKERS AT AMOSKEAG

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Manchester, N. H., July 17.—If Winter comes in like a lion or if starvation comes ahead of it, the chances are that the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company will be the winner of the great textile strike in this city.

Strike leaders insist there is no immediate threat of starvation.

If the company has a rush of brains to the head or if the coming election shows a Governor and enough members of the Legislature elected to insure the passage of a 48-hour law, the strikers will win.

Those are the alternatives of the strike as the average student of the situation in the city solves it. By average student is meant the doctor, the lawyer, the clergyman, the merchant and the curbstone oracle, people in all walks of life in Manchester.

VICTORY WOULD BE DEFEAT.

From my own observations here it seems to me that a starvation victory over the strikers in the end would turn out to be the worst possible kind of a defeat for the Amoskeag company and that a give-and-take settlement, not entirely satisfactory to either side, but mutually agreed upon, would be much more profitable in the end to King Dunnaine of the Domain of Gingham and his court.

That there is no thought of unconditional surrender in the minds of the strikers was made quite evident at every meeting Sunday. That they never will accept the terms of employment laid down by Amoskeag no one would doubt who listened to the speeches and heard the roars of approval that greeted every denunciation of those terms as being the embodiment of rank injustice.

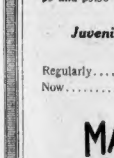
The temper of the strikers never was so high as at the present time. This is accounted for largely by the failure of the secret processes of the Amoskeag Company. It is reported against the tampering with strikers by Agent W. Parker Straw, Employment Manager W. C. Prentiss, big and petty mills bosses and the special Amoskeag police, in efforts to make them fewer their union and dicker for employment with the company on a personal basis.

AMOSKEAG'S TACTICS.

The strikers have been well-behaved and at all times willing to accept fair arbitration. They accepted the basis of settlement fixed by the State labor commissioner after he had investigated.

The Amoskeag company has invoked the fullest aid of courts with injunctions and police with cruel and fantastic powers of their own fashioning, and spurned the arbitration efforts of the State labor commissioner, of the Board of Aldermen, and the ministerial association and the citizens' council and has mocked at public opinion.

"FORTY-NINER" REMOVAL SALE BOYS' CLOTHING



Boys' First Long-Trouser Suits

15 to 18 years

Regularly.....$30, $35, $38, $40

Now.....$20, $22, $25, $30

Boys' All-Wool School Suits

8 to 17 years

Regularly.....$20, $22, $25

Now.....$9, $12, $15

Boys' Shirts

Neck size 12 to 14; white with stiff cuffs; $2.50 value.....$1

Colored Shirts

$3 and $3.50 values.....$2.35

Juvenile Washable Suits

Regularly.....$3.50 to $10

Now.....$2 to $6

MACULLAR PARKER COMPANY

400 WASHINGTON STREET

"The Old House with the Young Spirit"

MERCHANTS TRADING STAMP

TUESDAY

MERCHANTS TRADING STAMP

Double Merchants Legal Stamps

Means a 5% Discount on Every Dollar You Spend Here

GILCHRIST CO.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By W. S. COUSINS

Copyright, 1922, by Cosmopolitan News Service.

It was hardly to be expected that the apprehension over industrial troubles at home and the danger of a financial collapse of an important European country would not cause some irregularity in the market for speculative stocks and during the past week the effect of these factors has been apparent in the unsettled condition of the stock market.

Not that there has been any violent upheaval in prices or any sustained attack against the market.

In more than one group the net results of the week are to be seen in a higher average of prices than obtained at the opening. This is particularly true of the railroad stocks and a few of the leading motor and industrial shares.

* * *

Chief concern of the financial district during the week was the labor situation as exhibited in continuation of the coal strike and unfavorable developments in the railroad strike.

* * *

An important incident of the week was the renewal of gold exports to this country by the British government, presumably as an accommodation for the payment of the interest on the British war debt which is due about October 1. In connection therewith the statement issued by the British chancellor of the exchequer that Great Britain's $1,090,000,000 debt would be paid in full has aroused some speculation as to the method which would be employed to liquidate this vast debt.

* * *

There has been a gradual improvement in foreign exchange during the past week, particularly in sterling and franc exchange. German marks penetrated into the depths when the first reports of financial collapse were received, but strengthened somewhat on announcement of the ability of the Germans to make the current remparation payment.

* * *

Such statements from representative industrial companies as have been published during the past week have been quite complimentary to the records of the concerns, indicating general improvement in many important lines of trade.

Among them have been statements from the shipping, rubber, copper and equipment concerns, in practically every instance bringing reassurance to stockholders who have their eyes on dividends. The automobile industry also is putting the best foot forward and has maintained its reputation for shattering its former records for production and sales.

* * *

Perhaps in no department of the financial market has the effect of the easier money conditions been so apparent as in the bond market.

Boston Notes

HORNBLOWER & WEEKS—"Irregular strength early today is indicated, with more uniform strength developing before the close and probably lasting until tomorrow, when we may expect reaction."

CENTRAL LEATHER is believed under accumulation by strong interests in anticipation of sharp advance during last half of current year. Directors will meet again July 25.

WORTHINGTON PUMP is manufacturing the new engine hailed so enthusiastically by United Fruit as a saver of around 40 per cent. on operating costs.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER COMPANY output of newsprint has passed 1,100 tons a day, and operations are now at highest percentage attained this year.

MINING INDUSTRY appears to be entering an era of increased production of both precious and base metals at larger profits than at any time outside war period in the past seventy-five years.

EUREKA CROESUS is expected to benefit by transfer of Eureka-Nevada narrow gauge railway. This road was built in '75 by the late Ogden Mills. Sale is said to have been at $1,000,000.

MAGMA COPPER is expending $4,000,000 to increase mill capacity.

COPPER BOOKINGS, according to the trade, are being made well ahead as November by those wishing to get in before higher prices arrive.

ONE BIG BOSTON house has ventured predictions that Mexican Pete will be driven down to 100, yet should rushes in to cover on recessions of around 5 points last week.

STRONG RAILROAD minority is said to be seeking more favorable rates than those proposed with American Express offering $6,250,000 to Alabama stockholders.

New York Curb

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, July 17.—Prices on the New York Curb at 2 p. m. were:

American Metals	664
Atlantic Lobos	85
Boston & Wyoming Oil	8
Candelaria	1100
Car Lighting & Power	35
Cities Service	63
Cities Service B	30¼
Curtis Aeroplane	7
Consolidated Copper	7
Continental Motors	7
Elkhorn Coal	75
Goldway Picture	7
Haves Wheel	15
Indiana Pipe Line	7
International Petroleum	22½
International Rubber	22½
Mexican Oil	7
Marmon 34 Motor Car	7
Merritt Oil Corporation	18
Mexican Panuco-Eastern	7
Mutual Oil	3
Nipissing Mines	7
Nevada Refining	8
Nipissing Mines	7
Omar Oil	3
Standard Oil of Indiana	390
Standard Oil of Kentucky	450
Standard Oil of New York	230
Tobacco Products Export Corp	7
Tonopah Divide	7
Tonopah Extension	7
United Retail Candy Stores	7
Vanadium	61

Record Silk Cargo

New York, July 17.—Record silk cargo of 8,423 bales, worth $5,500,000, is crossing Dateline en route to New York.

Oils, Steels and Equipments Most Active in Irregular Trading With Money 3%

MANY LOWS FOR DAY IN LATE TRADING

Oils, steels and equipments were the most active issues in an irregular New York market, in which many issues made their lows for the day in the late trading. Call money was at 3 per cent.

Allis-Chalmers, up 2⅞ to 85⅝, made a record high for all time. American Can set a new 1922 high, up 2⅜ at 127½, as did also Railway Steel Spring, up 2¼ at 105⅝.

Beechnut, up 2¼ at 25⅝, sold at its highest since listing on major exchanges.

Public Service of New York at 89 was advanced 3½ points. General American Tank lifted 2⅜ to 61⅝.

Union Pacific was strongest of the rails, up 1⅜ at 143¾.

Doheny issues showed strength. Mexican Petroleum, after selling 1¼ at 156⅛, lifted 3⅝ above Saturday's close. Pan-American was up 1¼ at 72⅜.

Texas Gulf Steel was up at par and 1⅛; Crucible, 2⅜ at 79½; Republic, ½ at 72⅜; Gulf States, 2 at 83, and Steel Spring, 2¼ at 105⅝.

American Locomotive rose a point at 116½.

Wall Street Notes

W. J. WOLLMAN & CO.—"At most we expect only occasional setbacks due to the disturbances incident to the times."

H. K. EVANS—"In spite of the unfavorable labor situation, the market shows every evidence of wanting to go up. Certainly as soon as strike troubles are out of the way we can expect an active, broad and strong market."

W. J. WOLLMAN & CO.—"While the market will be irregular until definite signs appear, securities now, especially the rails, look cheap."

GOODBODY & CO.—"Stocks are firmly held and are not likely to decline much. They are more likely to rally moderately on the first authentic news of the strike settlement."

OTIS ELEVATOR for first half of 1922 earned around $6.96 on its common. This is a decrease against showing in first half of last year.

ALLIS CHALMERS is talked of to go to 65. Since the prediction was first made, it has advanced several points on improved earnings and increase in volume of business.

CONSOLIDATED GAS, after September 1, is expected to be free of funded obligations and with only one class of stock outstanding. This is quite a change from recent days when dividend continuance was in doubt.

BETHLEHEM STEEL—Lackawanna merger would give consolidated concern a working capital of around $105,000,000.

E. I. DU PONT de Nemours & Co. have put on market a new chrome brown dye with purplish overcast, to be known as Pontachrome Brown 8W.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL, which is to issue $25,000,000 securities in Missouri if given State permission, owns $31,874,000 in Amalgamated Telephone & Telegraph Co.

BULL POOLS in New York fractions have again proved accuracy of old advice to watch for them to operate during the Coney Island season.

CONCERNS BENEFITED by silk goods demand are H. R. Mallinson & Co. and Julius Kayser & Co. Both deny continued rumors of prospective mergers, but their stocks have been showing much strength.

PACKARD is believed to be headed for a record year, with shipments running double those of a year ago.

DURANT MOTORS have doubled output to around 5,000 cars a month and are spoken of in connection with a big merger.

SEABOARD NATIONAL BANK has increased surplus $1,000,000 by transferring that amount from undivided profits.

SOUTHERN IRON-COAL merger, recently forecast in this column, is developing. Lloyd H. Atkinson and associates of New York are said to be promoters offering $6,250,000 to Alabama stockholders.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange from the opening until the close had the following range:

Stocks	Open	High	Low	Close
Advance Rumely	18	18	18	18
Air Reduc Co	38½	40¾	38½	39¾
Alas Rubber	18	5	.6	6
Allis-Chal	74	10½	85⅝	85⅝
Allis Chalmers pr	96½	96½	96½	96½
Allied Chem	69½	67½	69¾	69¾
Allied Chem pf	109	109	109	109
Am Ag Chem	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
Am Ag Chem pf	60	60	60	60
Am Beet Sug	44¾	44¾	44¾	44¾
Am Brake Shoe	61	61	61	61
Am Can	127½	128	125	125
Am Car & Fdy	158½	160	157	157
Am Chicle	57	57	57	57
Am Drug Syn	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
Am Express	53½	53	53	53
Am Hide & L pf	32	32½	32	32
Am Hide & L	14	14	14	14
Am H & L Pf	70	70	70	70
Am Int Corp	119¾	120¾	119	120
Am Ice Sec	90	90	90	90
Am Loco	114½	116¾	114½	115½
Am Loco pf	115¾	115¾	115¾	115¾
Am Machine	80½	80½	80½	80½
Am Safety Raz	43½	43½	43½	43½
Am Smelt & Ref	57	57¼	56¾	57
Am Steel Fdy	37	37¼	36¾	37¼
Am Sumatra	43½	43½	43½	43½
Am Sugar	80¾	80¾	80¾	80¾
Am Tob pf	84	84	84	84
Am Tel & Tel	121½	121¾	121¾	121¾
Am Tob Co	154	154½	153	153
Am Tob B	159	159	158	158
Am Writ Pap pf	91	91	91	91
Am Woolen Co	33	33¼	32¾	32¾
An W W & S F pf	87½	87½	87½	87½
Anaconda	37½	37¾	37½	37¾
An Zinc	18½	18½	18½	18½
An Zinc pf	44¾	44¾	44¾	44¾
Armour A	12¾	12¾	12¾	12¾
Ass Arbor pf	40	40	40	40
Atl Gulf & W I	23¾	24	23¾	24
At Refin & Ail	37¾	37¾	37¾	37¾
At Fruit	2½	2½	2½	2½
Atlantic Lines	1.8	1.8	1.8	1.8
As tmaf	86½	87¾	86	87¾
Bald Locom	120	120	120	120
Baltimore	49½	50¾	49½	50¾
Baltimore pf	80½	80½	80½	80½
Bangor & Aroos	37½	37½	37½	37½
Batopilas	120½	121¾	119½	120
Bethlehem B	122	122	122	122
Bethlehem Steel	43½	43½	43½	43½
Booth Fisheries	3	3	3	3
Brooklyn Edison	89½	90¼	89½	90¼
Brooklyn Un Gas	69½	69½	69½	69½
Brooklyn Un Gas pf	120½	120½	120½	120½
Brown Shoe	45½	45½	45½	45½
Brunswick Term	8	8	8	8
Buffalo & Susq	63½	63½	63½	63½
Burns Bros A	63½	63½	63½	63½
Burns Bros B	63½	63½	63½	63½
Butte & Sup	17½	17½	17½	17½
Butte Copper	11½	11¾	11½	11¾
Butte & Sup	17½	17½	17½	17½

THREE CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM PRISON

Pittsfield, July 17.—Three prisoners, who were recently committed to the Berkshire House of Correction for terms of one year each, escaped from that institution by filing a lock leading from the prison kitchen to a storeroom and climbing through a hatchway to freedom.

The men had been gone half an hour when their absence was discovered. They were Raymond T. Hoyte, sentenced for non-support; William Hubbard, sentenced for drunkenness, and Robert Anderson, sentenced for larceny.

A reward of $25 has been offered for the capture of each.

CYCLIST DIES, VICTIM OF RACING AUTOISTS

Clinton, July 17.—Joseph Smith of West Sterling died today at Clinton Hospital following amputation of his left leg and left arm as the result of an accident when his motorcycle was sideswiped by two racing autos on the Sterling turnpike.

Local and State police are seeking to identify the drivers of the two speeding machines. Mrs. Smith, who was riding in the sidecar of her husband's cycle, escaped injury. Smith was thirty years old and leaves a seven-year-old boy.

Here's Why Vincent Was Fat One Day and Slim Next

By Universal Service.

Bridgeport, Ct., July 17.—The police have found out, they reported today, why Vincent Suchenski was slim one day and stout the next.

They said he owned several canteens that fitted neatly about the waist and which were kept in place by a belt.

The canteens, it is alleged, held liquor and wine with a faucet attached. There was an opening in the top, protected by a cork, used for filling.

The scheme laid to Suchenski was adopted by Western bootleggers in selling liquor to the Indians.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASS'N CONVENTION OPENS

Worcester, July 17.—The tenth annual Sunday School Association convention opened here today and was attended by 300 Universalist delegates who have come here from all over New England. Rev. George E. Huntley, president of the association, presided at the meetings in the First Universalist Church. The Young People's Christian Association will convene the latter part of the week, also at the First Universalist Church.

REFUSES TO PAY FOR BARREL OF OLD CIDER

How'd you like some cider three years old?

All right, pay attention.

There is a nice big barrel of cider, three years old, reposing in a house in Watertown.

John Mazarelli and Felice Povina were close friends when they lived in Milford. Then Felice moved to Watertown. John was engaged in making cider and he said it was good. So thought Felice.

"Now, then, Felice, when you hear of anyone wanting any good cider send them to me."

"I'll do it for the sake of our friendship," agreed Felice.

He did. Then came one John Russo, who was looking for good cider.

"You know me, Al," said Felice as he dispatched an order to John.

The cider arrived. Russo was not paying for a blind pig, however.

"I'll try it first, and then pay for it, perhaps."

Russo tried it. "Oh, Mares it's rotten."

Then Povina tried it. "You are right, Mr. Russo, it is rotten."

Mazarelli did not get paid for the cider. Povino told him a few things about selling rotten cider in Watertown. The barrel was left in Russo's cellar.

This morning Mazarelli had Povino in the Waltham Court in a suit to recover the price of his cider.

TENANTS KICK AS BROOKLINE RENTS SOAR

Twenty-seven of the tenants of Reservoir Court, located at Nos. 1362 to 1370 Beacon street, Brookline, headed by Miss Anna B. Sturgis, today complained to the Commission on the Necessaries of Life, against what they claim to be unjust rent increases at the place.

Miss Sturgis told the commission that rents had been increased on a flat $10 basis, irrespective of the size of the apartment.

According to the new schedule of prices, one-room apartments are to be increased from $30 to $40; two-rooms, from $40 to $50, and three-rooms, from $50 to $60.

William E. McCoyle, agent of the property, has already sent notices to the tenants that the present rentals will terminate on August 1, and that in the future tenants must accept a lease of a year, and if the increase is not acceptable to them they must vacate by August 1.

Miss Sturgis canvassed the tenants and twenty-seven of the sixty occupants of the place signed the petition of protest.

She has since received a notice from Agent McCoyle that the fact that she is circulating the petition is "good evidence" that she is not satisfied and that she must vacate.

BOY SCOUT, 12, WINS SAFE ROADS CONTEST

San Diego, July 17.—Standley Urville Newcomb, twelve-year-old Boy Scout, is the winners of the nation-wide essay contest on highway safety.

Newcomb gets a trip to Washington, a gold watch and a check for $15 as prizes. Over 400,000 essays were submitted for the contest, which was conducted by the highway and transport division of the Department of Education. Mrs. Warren G. Harding acted as chairman of the board of judges.

Standley U. Newcomb

Photo by International News Reel.

FOUR BANDITS ROB AUTOIST IN DEDHAM

Four armed men, cruising the main road between Boston and Providence in a big automobile, today held up and robbed a man giving his name as Frank Lane of the Hotel Brewster.

The robbery took place on Washington street, Dedham, near Wilson avenue.

The robbers secured but $4, according to Lane's story to the police.

AUTOIST FINED $150 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

William H. Hutchins, fifty-two years old, of Crafts street, Newtonville, was fined $150 in Newton Court today for operating an auto while under the influence of liquor. It was alleged that Hutchins drove his machine at a fast rate through Newton Corner, narrowly missing several persons waiting for a street car. With him was Alex Perry, also of Crafts street. The police say they found three pint bottles in the car, one empty and two full.

UNION SECRETARY GIVEN THREE YEARS

New York, July 17. — William Hogan, labor leader, convicted of having stolen $26,000 from Local No. 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers while serving as its secretary, was sentenced today by Supreme Court Justice Gleeson to serve from a year and a half to three years in Sing Sing. The money Hogan was convicted of having stolen was paid by non-union men for permits to work on union jobs.

NORWOOD STEEL CAR SHOPS

Closed Since Dec. 24, 1921

WILL OPEN MONDAY, JULY 17th

Steel Car Repairmen Wanted

Rate 63c Per Hour

Permanent Positions for Those Who Are Qualified

Apply to Foreman, N. Y., N. H. & H. R.R. Co.

Norwood, Mass.

Iced!

"SALADA" TEA

H228

So simply and cheaply made and yet the most refreshing beverage known

The WEEK'S BUSINESS in NEW ENGLAND

AMERICAN PAINTING & DECORATING CO. Inc.

Estimates Rendered for All Kinds Painting

CHARLES G. CAMPBELL, President

126-128 Milk Street, Boston Tel. Main 1223-3552

COPPER KETTLES

2-Gallon $3.25
3-Gallon 4.00
5-Gallon 5.25
10-Gallon 6.25

Special quantity prices. Short Notice Out of All

MAIL ORDERS FILLED

PHILIP SIMMONS

17 Marshall St., Boston

The Atlantic Printing Co.

201 SOUTH ST., BOSTON

We Write Copy, Illustrate, Print, Bind and Mail.

Beach 4960-4961

TRIMO

Wrenches and Pipe Cutters

TRIMONT MFG. CO.

ROXBURY, MASS.

ARMSTRONG TRANSFER CO.

BAGGAGE TRANSFER AND TAXI SERVICE

Telephone Beach 7400

Oldest and most reliable company in Boston. Baggage checked to destination or locally to Railroad stations or Steamship Wharves. Taxi stands at North, South and Back Bay Stations.

Main Office, 271 Albany St., Boston, Mass.

CONSUMERS

Demand in Your Shoes

Columbia Fibre Counters

Manufactured by

Columbia Counter Company

60 South Street

BOSTON, MASS., U. S. A.

Est. 1870 Mills at Lawrence

E. FRANK LEWIS

Wool Scourer and Carbonizer of Wool

Boston Office: 242 Summer St.

Tel. Main 900, Boston

Tel. 2330-2331 Lawrence

ADAMS-POND CO.

Concrete Engineers and Contractors

We design and erect all types of concrete buildings and structures

568 Columbia Road

Tel. Columbia 9021

HARDWOOD FLOORS

13/16x2¼ oak flooring, laid and grained on sides and ends, furnished and laid on top of your present floor. Let us estimate.

R. McEACHERN & SON

Inman Square, Cambridge

Tel. Univ. 2827-W or Som. 6032-W

A MILE A MINUTE

Through Darkness and Blinding Storm

SAFE!

See Section 26 of Esch-Cummins Act.

The Seventh Great Railroad Invention

Clean It With Silver Cloud Ammonia

It cleans everything. Try it once and you'll never use any other brand. Silver Cloud is not harsh. It will not injure the daintiest hands or fade the most delicate cloth. Use Silver Cloud when you wash blankets and other woolens. It is good for cleaning windows and woodwork. For sale at grocers and department stores. Office and factory, 57-59 Brainerd street, Boston, Mass. Tel. Brighton 3763.

COLEMAN BROS., Inc.

General Contractors and Builders

245 State Street

Boston, Mass.

RUSSWIN

The word guarantees safety in locks and quality in Builders' Hardware

CHANDLER & BARBOUR COMPANY

124 Summer St., Boston

GRANITE

For Paving and Curbing

GRANITE PAVING BLOCK

Manufacturers' Association OF THE U. S., INC.

31 STATE ST., BOSTON

W. S. Rendle & Sons Co.

Constructing—Contractors.

Dredging—Docks—Wharves.

Pile Driving for Bldg. Foundations

322 Border St., East Boston

Tel. 490, 1040

New England Tire & Supply Co.

Automobile Tires and Accessories

Vulcanizing and Repairing

264 Columbus Av. Tel. Beach 2350

PURE FOOD DRAKES CAKE

C. BOWEN RIGGING TRUCKING

Motor Transportation, Safe and Machinery Moving

51 Sudbury St., Boston

Telephone Haymarket 220

UNITED STATES HOTEL

Lincoln, Beach and Kingston Streets

A BUSINESS HOUSE FOR BUSINESS MEN AND WOMEN

Daily Luncheon, 12c to 1.00

Daily Dinner, $1.25

12 M. to 7:30 P. M.

Also a la Carte Service from 6 A. M. to 11 P. M.

PRESTIGE

THE prestige of the American Woolen Company rests securely upon the fact that its fifty-nine mills produce more than 30,000 different weaves and patterns of fine woolen and worsted cloth. Price for price, these fabrics have to equals in quality, texture, uniformity, dependability, and style among other woolens and worsteds, domestic or imported.

American Woolen Company

Gen'l Wool Procurement

Boston 7, Mass.

Dealers and Erectors—Wire and Iron Fencing, Gates

SECURITY FENCE ERECTING CO.

284 Somerville Av., PHONE SOMERVILLE 3900

N. E. FUEL AND TRANSPORTATION CO.

Main Office, 111 Devonshire St.

Telephone—Beach 7900

Wharf Office, Lewis Wharf

Telephone—Richmond 886-899

STEAMSHIPS

for Foreign and Coastwise Trades

TUG BOATS

for Coastwise and Harbor Towing

LIGHTERS

for Harbor Transportation of Coal

Ford Wind-Shield Ventilators

PHILLIPS KEEP VENTILATOR KOOL STOUGHTON, MASS.

This Is NEW!

No more dust, wind or insects in your eyes

Installed by most Ford dealers in your standard windshield

Manufactured by F. O. PHILLIPS, Stoughton, Mass. Phone Stoughton 231-Ring 2. Screw machine products a specialty.

Boost Boston's Port

WASTE PAPER

Baling Wire-Wiping Rags

THE LARGEST PAPER STOCK HOUSE IN NEW ENGLAND

JOHN A. DE VITO COMPANY

280 COMMERCIAL ST.

Tel. Richmond 2516 Est. 1918

INCREASED ACTIVITY NOTED IN MANY LINES OF TRADE

Business throughout New England showed improvement during the past week, despite the threatening spread of the railroad strike and the unexplained deadlock in the textile situation.

The building industry continues to boom along, even though the 48-hour week of construction now under way has broken all records.

The most important announcement of the week was that work on the new Statler Hotel, which became assured by the initial payment to the New Haven railroad for the site, would be begun within 60 days. The total cost will approximate $10,000,000, the building costing about $4,000,000 and the furnishings around $5,000,000 more. The work will require about one and one-half years to complete.

Interest in the shoe and leather trade centred on the Style Show. One of the outstanding features in the trade is the brisk demand for heavy work shoes. Stocks on the floor have been practically cleaned out, with no continued demand for immediate delivery. Many plants are practically sold up for Fall and Winter delivery.

The tendency toward advanced prices was noticeable, especially so on staple lines of men's shoes. Higher prices are expected for leather, inasmuch as the hide market for several weeks has shown a steadily increasing tendency.

That Lynn shoe manufacturers are awake to the importance of the Canadian market is shown by the intention of the Lynn factories, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, to exhibit at the Sherbrooke Fair in Canada early in September. The exhibit will occupy a prominent position in the space purchased by the Boston & Maine Railroad in an attempt to increase business between Canada and New England. One of the features will be provided by the United Shoe Machinery Corporation in the form of a rare collection of original hand-turned shoes made in Lynn.

Haverhill wood heel plants have been running at capacity for several weeks and the runs are expected to be of such long duration that union officials have granted permits to break in new help, a condition that seldom exists in the industry. Most of the output is for the Middle West markets. This is the first time that the Haverhill heel business has ever shown at its peak at this season. Local union officials attribute it to the stabilizing influence and better working conditions brought about by the recent purchase of several local plants by the United Shoe Machinery Corporation.

The Eastern Steamship Company expects to begin using this week a part of the new State Pier which is being built at Portland, Me. Work on the pier is progressing rapidly despite unfavorable weather conditions. The pier was begun on January 9, and already 3,400 piles have been driven. Sheds for the use of the grain conveying gallery are to be opened July 18. The specifications provide for completion of the work by December 30. When finished the pier will provide berths for two trans-Atlantic steamers, with every facility for prompt handling of cargoes, as well as berths and sheds for smaller ocean and coastwise steamers.

Announcement is made from Stonington, Maine, of the settlement of the quarry workers' strike which had been in progress for several months, together with the statement that the George A. Fuller Company of New York had awarded to a local quarry the contract for the stone to be used in the construction of New York's mammoth new municipal courthouse. It is expected that the work of quarrying this stone will require two years, and the agreement with the workers, which extends for this period, provides for an eight hour day, with minimum wages of fifty-nine to eighty-one cents an hour, weekly pay days, time and a quarter for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays.

The construction of the new Neponset River bridge, connecting Dorchester and Quincy, will divert more money to the granite trade, as a large part of the $600,000 to be expended will be spent in the erection of the arch of granite piers to be connected by a steel draw. Work was begun during the week by the Randall Engineering Company of East Boston, who are the contractors. It is expected that the bridge will be completed in November, 1923.

Fewer children will be compelled to attend school on the platoon system next Fall, judging from the number of school buildings now being constructed. Accommodations for 15,000 students will be provided by 28 new schools now being erected at a total cost of about $7,000,000. In addition authorizations have been made and money appropriated for 22 other schools which will cost $10,000,000. Of the number under way and authorized, twelve are junior high schools, costing about $5,000,000.

New Homes Ahead of Other Building for Six Months

Residential construction leads all other types of building in twenty-seven Northeastern States for the six months ending June 30, according to F. W. Dodge Company. The amount expended was $682,663,000, which was 39 per cent. more than the corresponding period of 1921.

Expenditures for public works and utilities were second in magnitude with $238,552,000, or 94 per cent. more than last year; and business buildings were third with $230,339,000, or 94 per cent. increase. Construction of educational buildings jumped 58 per cent., totaling $164,541,000, and industrial plants added $123,181,000, an increase of 42 per cent.

INSTALL GENERATOR COSTING $1,700,000

Announcement of the intention of the New Bedford Gas and Electric Light Company to install a 20,000 kilowat generating unit at a cost of $1,700,000, was made in connection with the petition, approved by the Massachusetts Department of Utilities, to issue $1,144,800 additional stock. The company also plans to construct a high tension system connecting with Fall River Company to permit exchanging power.

$1,690,984,000 for New Buildings in Past Six Months

Nearly two billion dollars' worth of construction was started in twenty-seven Northeastern States during the first six months of this year, according to F. W. Dodge Company. The figures, which were $1,690,984,000, exceeded 1921 by 58 per cent., and are the biggest six months total in history.

June construction started in these States amounted to $343,440,000, 5 per cent. less than May's figures, but 52 per cent. greater than June of last year.

Work actually started was less than two-thirds of the $3,000,000,000 contemplated construction announced from January 1 to July 1.

EXPANSION BY BIG PRINTER

Expansion of considerable magnitude is announced by Buck Printing Company, whose plant is located on Atlantic avenue, directly opposite the entrance to South Station. An additional floor, aggregating 5,000 square feet, has been taken over, making the total floor space occupied over 15,000 square feet. Over $10,000 worth of new type has been purchased, one new press installed and another one on the way. Plans call for the additions of three more presses.

This growth, which is all the more remarkable because of the depression which has existed in the printing industry for the past eighteen months, has been largely in the job, commercial and catalogue department, which now about equals the output of posters on which the Buck Company first acquired its enviable reputation.

The recent additions give this company an equipment unsurpassed in New England for quick service in the production of high-grade printing.

AMERICAN CO. GETS PAINTING CONTRACTS

Several large contracts for the painting and decorating of building now under construction have been closed by Charles G. Campbell, president of the American Painting & Decorating Company of Nos. 126-128 Milk street.

This concern, which specializes on work of the highest class, has decorated many of the finest theatres, hotels, churches, schools, office buildings and private residences in the East, as well as numerous large buildings in the Middle West and South.

It is interesting to know that Mr Campbell, president of the company, is the fifth in succession from father to son who have been engaged in the painting and decorating business. It is this natural aptitude, inherited ability and executive genius of Mr. Campbell which is largely responsible for the success of his organization.

Dies in Bootblack Stand

New York, July 17.—Napoleon Liggins, fourteen, died suddenly while having his shoes shined at a bootblack stand in East Ninth street.

PRINCE BRAND THE SUPERLATIVE MACARONI

ASK FOR IT

Always Buy New England Made Products

DUMBWAITERS

INVALID LIFTS, ASH HOISTS

Elevator Gates, Doors, Repairs

BECKWITH ELEVATOR CO., Inc.

123 Pearl St., Boston 9, Mass.

Phone Main 5616

J. P. O'Connell & Co.

DEALERS IN

Masons' & Plasterers' Supplies

922 Tremont Building

Boston, Mass.

Telephones 0875-0876-1870 Haymarket

Boston Paper Board Company

SCHOOL PAPER, PAPER BOARD, PAPER STOCK

161-169 Albany Street

Tel. Beach 3942

ALLEN-SLACK CO.

Fiscal Agents for Boston Montana Development Co.

Montana Milling Co.

Montana Southern Railway

68 Devonshire St., Boston

Tel. Fort Hill 3444-5-6

Gill Typewriter Co.

Typewriters, Supplies

Rebuilding and Repairing

212 Summer Street

BOSTON, MASS Tel. Main 1817

Tel. Congress 1726

MICHAEL J. O'BRIEN CO.

Contractors, Engineers, Jobbers

30 Hawley St., Boston, Mass.

Water Heating, Gas Fitting, Power, Vacuum Fire Protection, Industrial Piping

Joseph P. Vogel & Son

PLUMBING CONTRACTORS

131 W. Brookline St.

Back Bay 6764

The Bay State Cleaning Co.

House and office cleaning, floors washed and oiled, windows cleaned.

58 BEACH STREET

Beach 457-458

PRINTING for All Purposes

The Libbie Printing Co. Inc.

242 to 250 Devonshire St., Boston

a shoe lace that outwears

by months ordinary laces, stays tied and never looks shabby.

Cordo-Hyde

EAT MANSION HOUSE ICE CREAM

SOLD EVERYWHERE

KEVENEY, SAWTELLE & CO.

Members Boston Stock Exchange

Bankers and Brokers

Orders Executed in New York and Boston Markets

Unlisted Securities 50 Congress Street Telephone Main 3149

USE GAS THE PRIDE OF THE HOME

GAS HAS 1000 USES

WATER HEATING

Restaurants, Clubs: Heat Your Water With Gas—It Is Automatic. Save labor, discomfort from coal and get positive service.

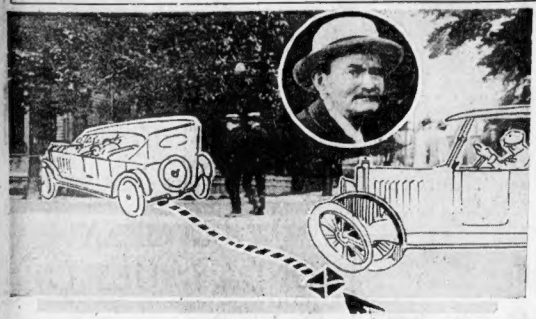
Our Engineers Are at Your Service, Call Us.

LET US FIND A NEW USE FOR YOU

Boston Consolidated Gas Co.

Price, Yes!

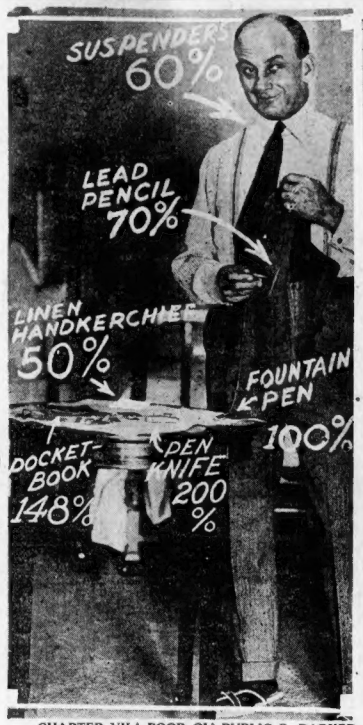
REPUBLICAN HIGH TARIFF BILL MEANS BIG BILLS FOR YOU



WOMAN CUT BY FLY-ing glass when auto strikes another car and skids into building! Mrs. Eva Levins, riding with her husband, Dr. Nathan Levins, of No. 30 Chambers street, West End, was thrown against the windshield when the car crashed into the home of Edward L. Maloney of No. 67 Columbia road, tearing a hole in the wall. Maloney (shown in circle) was thrown from his bathtub by the crash. Levins drove his own car. He ripped a wheel from the car of Robert Moore of the Back Bay before he hit the building.

HASHEESH CIGARETTES SMUGGLED INTO Boston from New York! Boston narcotic agents warned against new drug evil. Girl smokers are particular prey of smugglers. Young women are induced to smoke hasheesh and the vicious habit is almost impossible to break. The photograph above shows a so-called women's smoking room—stamping ground of the drug purveyor.

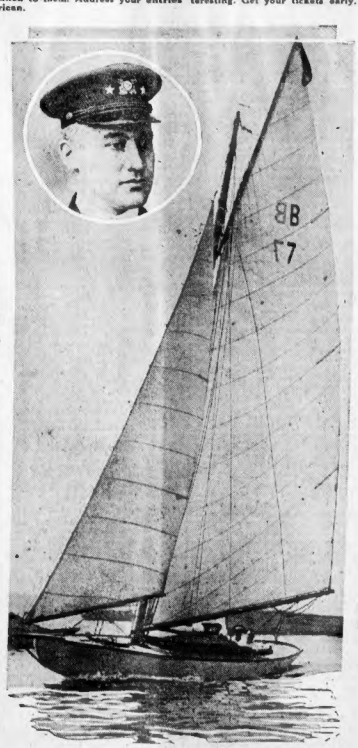
EVERYTHING IS GOING ALONG SWIMMINGLY! But have you entered the Sea Beauty Test? Today's winners are Katherine Severson of No. 20 Jamaica Road, Brookline (at top), and Mildred Schwabe of Revere. Will the latter kindly send in her street address? Checks for $5 will be mailed to them. Address your entries to Sea Beauty Editor, Boston American.



CHAPTER VII.! POOR OL' PUBLIC B. DARNED, who is a bit old-fashioned, y'know, can't even wear his suspenders without the tariff on them snapping up 60 p. c. The Republican high tariff kill did that. His linen hankie (minus perfume) is up 50 p. c. Tariff on his penknife is advanced 200 p. c.—and he's all cut up about it. His pocketbook is also sadly hit, of cetry. Tomorrow we'll show you Public in the breakfast scene from "Tariff"—sad but interesting. Get your tickets early.

"TWO NIGHTS IN A BARE-ROOM!"—IT'S A great old play, but Raymond W. Putnam thinks it's worth $50 admission. Raymond, you know, is the Wakefield chap sentenced to spend two nights in his filthy barn for forcing his poor old horse to sleep there. Raymond slept there, it seems, but when photographers and reporters flocked around he kept them off with threats of mayhem. He'd let them snap their tintype bazes for $50—but no free list. We've got the picture. Took it with special lens from 200 feet. Also shows you where Raymond "slept."

SKIMMING THE WATER AT A MILE-A-MINUTE! This new glider, invented by M. Andre Gambens, is lifted up in front by an air propeller and is thrust through the water by a marine propeller. The glider, of course, does not leave the water. Works on same principle as our sea sledges. (International News Reel)



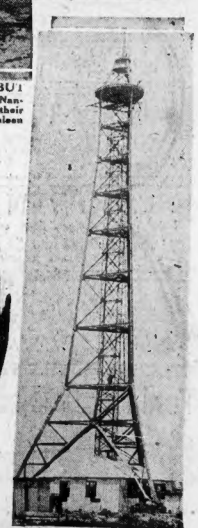
IMPROMPTU RACING ADDS THRILLS TO AN-nual outing of Dorchester Bay Yacht Club Association! Anthony S. Bull's "Hazzard" is shown shaking her sails on the return from Fort Andrews, Paddocks Island, where the day's festivities were held. Vice-Commodore Anthony H. Williams of the Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club (shown in circle), was one of the outing officials.

THEY'VE GOT THEIR TOES TURNED UP, BU! migosh, they're full o' life! Five li'l cuties of Paragon Park, Nantasket, went out on the rocks to do a few steps. The ladies sign their income tax blanks as follows, left to right, Bertha White, Kathleen Monahan, Peggy Eldridge, M—— Edwards and Alice Kelly.

YOU CAN'T GET EM-ployment looking like a chorus girl! That's advice given by Miss Anne E. Trottery, Y. W. C. A. employment head, who recommends the gown above as the right type to impress employers. P[illegible] of the powder, too.

RUSSIAN THE SEASON WITH A SMART BLOUSE! Obviously Russian in spirit, designed by a Frenchman, imported by a Briton, this charming blouse is easily the most fetching on an American. The creation is fashioned of voile with figuring imprinted in cerise and blue. A new and exclusive fashion to the Boston American. (International News Reel)

"I'M GONNA BE A CHAMPEEN LADY FISH SOME day! Thats the reason folks see me practicin' in the frog pond. My name?—jus' Mary Neon, an' I live in the West End. This is my boo' swimmin' suit."



YOU HAVE TO USE one of these to step into an airship! An elevator runs up the entire 160 feet. This one was made for the new American airship ZR-1, under construction at Lakehurst, N. J.

COUNSEL CLASH IN FLANAGAN CUSTODY CASE

Alonzo R. Weed, newly appointed Superior Court judge, sitting for the first time in the divorce session of court, behind a bank of blooms sent him by admirers, was forced to referee a verbal clash between Attorneys John F. Feeney and Clarence W. Rowley today.

Attorney Rowley appeared for Mrs. Mabel C. Flanagan, endeavoring for the fifth time to have more liberal arrangements made for her to see her two young sons boarded by her divorced husband, Dr. Frank J. Flanagan, at a home in Atlantic.

Attorney Feeney has represented Dr. Flanagan through the many court fights over the children, dating back two years.

The lawyers clashed over treatment accorded Mrs. Flanagan by Mrs. George Ferrier, with whom the Flanagan boys board. Attorney Rowley alleging that Mrs. Flanagan is insulted whenever she calls at the Atlantic home.

"Last Tuesday," he said, "Mrs. Ferrier locked the doors of her home to Mrs. Flanagan when she calledto see her babies."

"Reason," said Attorney Feeney, "was because Mrs. Flanagan arrived in a high-priced limousine and Mrs. Ferrier thought she was about to kidnap the boys."

Mrs. Flanagan is a hairdresser at No. 178 Tremont street.

"But she is never treated respectfully," said Attorney Rowley.

"That is not true," said Mr. Feeney, whereupon he pictured the reception always given the mother when she calls at the Ferrier home.

"Your Honor," said Mr. Rowley, "Mr. Feeney has a marvelous way of calmly painting beautiful pictures which are far from facts."

The debate and interruptions got personal when Judge Weed, peeking over a mountain of carnations, called it a draw and ordered facts.

The case was shortly after continued until tomorrow.

Mrs. Flanagan wants the children over week-ends.

WINTHROP STARTS DRIVE TONIGHT

Winthrop's seven-day campaign to raise $35,000 to establish the Winthrop Community Hospital starts tonight with the first rally at the St. John's Episcopal Parish House. It is planned to buy the Metcalf Hospital at Winthrop Centre and furnish it with new equipment.

The campaign will probably be continued until next Monday, although the team captains are preparing to make a drive which will wind up Friday if possible. Meetings will be held every day at 6 o'clock at the Parish House.

G. Wallace Tibbetts is chairman of the executive committee which is behind the movement. Vice-president and division marshals are: Preston H. Churchill, Eugene P. Whittier, Frederick G. Dows and Charles H. Benson. Frederick Courtenay Barber of New York, organizer and director of seventy-six campaigns, will have charge of the drive.

Prominent men and women of Winthrop have declared themselves solidly behind the drive and the response for volunteer workers has been so large that twenty teams have been picked up to go after the subscriptions.

Lifebuoy is a blessing to housekeepers and every woman who works with her hands.

It keeps the hands in perfect condition.

It prevents "dry" hands.

Its pure palm and cocoanut oils soothe and soften.

A soap you will love to use.

LIFEBUOY
HEALTH SOAP
Wake up your skin!

QUAKER ELKS LOOKING OVER HUB CLUBS

Fifteen members of the Philadelphia New Building Committee of the Brotherhood of Elks visit Boston today to inspect several of the larger hotels and clubs of the city.

With them is Charles T. Orkelow, exalted ruler of Philadelphia Lodge No. 2, B. P. O. Elks.

At the Northern avenue docks, several local members of the order will form a welcome committee. Michael F. Cullney, exalted ruler of Boston lodge, and Exalted Rulers George H. Johnson and Joseph M. Sullivan, are the Boston representatives who will greet the organization.

M. F. Cullney
Photo by Openheim

G. H. Johnson
Photo by Openheim

After breakfast at the Copley-Plaza, the committee will call on Mayor Curley at City hall. Then the committee proceeds to explore the various clubs and hotels of the city. They will be accompanied by the local members of the organization throughout the day.

J. M. Sullivan

The party will leave this afternoon for Cleveland, Ohio.

The fifteen members of the committee follow:

Frank Buehler, chairman; Louis N. Goldsmith, secretary, and David B. Provan, Frits Pflug, Benjamin B. Foster, J. J. Murphy, Alexander Boyd, George H. Webensmith, James A. Condon, Everett M. Mathews, Albert H. Lander, Jr., Furey Hills, Samuel T. Banham, Mortimer Gleason and Frank Mulkern.

SEEK TO CONTINUE HAGUE CONFERENCE

The Hague, July 17. By International News Service.)—M. Litvinoff, head of the Soviet delegation to the International Conference on Reconstruction of Russia, has asked the conference sub-committee to attempt to find a new basis for continuation of the deliberations, according to a news agency report circulated here today.

London, July 17.—Prime Minister Lloyd George told the House of Commons today that unless a solution was found for the deadlock in the conference over Russian affairs at the Hague, the British delegation would probably return to England by the end of the week.

Mrs. Larz Anderson Best Known Woman in Boston Society, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

"MRS. LARZ ANDERSON."

That's one-sixth of the answer to the question, "Who are the six most noted women in Boston society?" But it's a pretty important sixth to judge by the very decided way in which every one mentioned Mrs. Anderson's name to me when I put the question to them. So I am starting out the list with her name, adding another every day until at the end of the week the list will be complete.

The mistress of "Weld," Brookline's wonderful showplace, is not only a hostess of rare charm and a philanthropist of never-tiring devotion, but she is a writer of no small renown, and I would have been surprised, indeed, if she had not been named by so many. Incidentally she has led a life more interesting than most story-book heroines, and it would take far, far more space than is permitted here to tell of all of her thrilling experiences.

MRS. ANDERSON (Isabel W. Perkins) is a daughter of the late Commodore George H. Perkins, U. S. N., and a granddaughter of William F. Weld of Boston, from whom she inherited her large fortune.

It was while the former Miss Perkins was travelling in Italy under the chaperonage of Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, daughter of the famous authoress, that she first met Larz Anderson at the American Embassy in Rome, who was then a very youthful diplomat. It was a case of love at first sight, and they were married in June of 1897.

Then followed their delightful honeymoon spent in a tour around the world and their return to Rome in the Winter, where they were for some time the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott just as Mr. Elliott had completed his great work of sculpture, "Diana of the Tides."

About a decade later came Mr. Anderson's appointment as American Minister to Belgium, and the Andersons found themselves taking an active part in the festivities of one of the gayest courts in Europe. There was, for instance, the time during Mr. Anderson's service as Minister to Belgium that the Andersons attended the marvelous fete given at Brussels by the Grand Harmonic Club. It was a costume ball, representative of the history of lace through the ages. King Albert and Queen Elizabeth were there, the latter looking very lovely in her white gauze gown embroidered with pearls and diamonds over a pale pink satin. She wore also a court train of magnificent Brussels needle point presented on her marriage by the ladies of Belgium and bearing in design the arms of the nine provinces.

But it was said at the time that Mrs. Anderson wore over her handsome rose colored dress a splendid long shoulder scarf, quite a yard wide, of priceless Brussels needle point which rivaled the Queen's lace for beauty.

THEN came the time when the Andersons sailed for the far-off land of Cherry Blossoms, for Mr. Anderson had been made Ambassador to Japan. Followed wonderful months under the mystic spell, which only the Orient knows how to cast, during which time the Boston woman and her husband were presented at the Emperor's court. Her experiences on the Isle of Nippon were so interesting that she weaved them into a book called "The Spell of Japan," which caused considerable comment.

In 1915 Mr. Anderson resigned his post and they returned to this country, to divide their time between "Weld" and their magnificent Winter residence in Washington, where they were soon ranked as important social leaders. But Mrs. Anderson did not forget her writing, and a few years afterward appeared her famous "Presidents and Pies," dealing with Washington's official social set. It enjoyed a wide circulation.

When the World War came it found the one-time Isabel Perkins prepared to do her "bit." The latter meant a stay of six months with a few miles of the front line trenches, either working with the French army or at the Red Cross canteens. A short time after her return from France she was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters by George Washington University, "in recognition of her achievement as a writer and the noble work she has done during the war for the wounded and distressed of her own and other nations." She was the first woman in the history of the university, founded nearly 100 years ago, to receive an honorary degree.

I feel that I have written only a very little bit about the life of this noted Boston woman, but as I have said before, the space here is limited. The Andersons are now at "Weld," after an unusually busy Winter at the capital.

Betty Alden

MRS. LARZ ANDERSON

Ranked by many as one of the six most noted women of Boston society is Mrs. Larz Anderson (Isabel Perkins) of Brookline and Washington.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS JAP YAP TREATY

Washington, July 17 (By International News Service).—The final official step in the consummation of the Japanese-American treaty of Yap, concluded during the Armament Conference here, was taken by President Harding today when he issued a presidential proclamation to the effect that the treaty had been concluded.

The treaty recognizes Japan's mandate over the little island, but stipulates that America shall enjoy "open door" privileges and equal rights with Japan.

KU KLUX KLAN MAN DEMANDS RECOUNT

Portland, Ore., July 17.—Charles Hall, candidate of the Ku Klux Klan and Federated Societies for Governor, who was defeated for the Republican nomination on May 19 by Governor Ben W. Olcott, will open his fight for a recount of the ballots today. His defeat was by a narrow margin of 521 votes. Governor Olcott charges that the Klan is raising $50,000 for the recount fight, and accuses the Governor's aids of irregularities in certain precincts, such as the Democrats changing their registration on election day to vote for Olcott.

Jordan Marsh Company

Store Hours 9 to 5—Store Closed Saturdays

Good News for Women of Larger Figure

600 Lingerie Blouses

The result of a "sacrifice" purchase from a leading Blouse Manufacturer going out of business

2.25 3.00 4.00

5 Other Styles at 2.25

2 Other Styles at 3.00

3 Other Styles at 4.00

Sizes 46 to 52 in each lot

We don't hesitate to say that this is the best merchandise news to larger women this entire season. We have been selling many of these same blouses in stock for much more than the prices now offered.

The majority of the blouses are made of fine voile, the better ones of finest French voile. Trimmings are real filet lace, embroidery and cluster of fine tucks.

Mail and Telephone Orders Promptly Filled

MALDEN JITNEY SKIDS INTO THE LIMELIGHT

Defying the Malden Board of Aldermen and the Boston Elevated, Joseph Hart today declared that he will run his jitney lines in Malden "if I have to spend the rest of my life in jail."

"They have sold out my business to the Elevated six months in advance," declared the stormy petrel of Malden's transportation troubles in excoriating Malden's governing board for an alleged agreement they have made to refuse to grant Hart's jitneys a renewal license of the Elevated will restore service.

Attorney George L. Mayberry today withdrew the case of the remonstrants against Hart after explaining to the State Department of Public Utilities that the Elevated had restored service on the abandoned Lebanon street line last Saturday.

Mayberry said about 2,000 people had signed a petition to drive Hart out of competition with the Elevated. Hart said a petition in his favor bore the signatures of about 3,500 people.

Hart declared that five of Malden's seven aldermen and ten of the twenty-one councilmen had signed an agreement to refuse to renew his jitney license when it expires in November if the Elevated would restore service on the Lebanon street and Linden lines.

Frank Bayrd of Malden protested that such an agreement was "un American."

Hart started his big jitney lines about six months ago. The Elevated abandoned the Lebanon street line because of his competition. He now has a dozen big jitneys, giving continuous service, and says he carries in excess of 2,000,000 passengers a year. He carries them for five cents. His lines run from Malden square to Cliftondale, also providing service for several hundred residents of Saugus, who otherwise would be forced to walk.

The troubles along the lines that had been abandoned by the Elevated say they do not want Hart competing against the Elevated, which is under public control. All Hart gets, takes away from the L., they said, depriving them of service and compelling them to contribute to any deficit resulting from Elevated operation.

Hart claims they threatened his drivers and said they would burn his cars and garage. An alderman who attended a protest meeting got a punch in the eye.

As a result of today's meeting before the State board, both the Elevated and the Hart jitneys will continue to run. The threat to take away Hart's license in November will be the big issue of Malden's Fall election.

Lonely Woman Has Lost Her Little Dog Friend

MARGUERITE CARLTON

She is mourning the loss of "Fluffy," a little white poodle, lost, strayed or stolen from her apartment at No. 359 Tremont street, nearly two weeks ago.

HAS ANYBODY MET WITH "FLUFFY"?

"Fluffy" is gone.

The little white poodle, owned by Miss Marguerite Carlton of No. 359 Tremont street, slipped out of the apartment or was taken out bodily on Thursday, July 6, and no trace of her has been found.

"Fluffy" was a pet and I am very lonesome without her. I live alone and I only hope and pray that someone will read this and send my little dog back to me."

The dog is a female. It wears no collar and the harness in which it is taken on the street was left behind in Miss Carlton's apartment. Search of the various animal homes in the city has failed to bring "Fluffy" to light. Miss Carlton has owned "Fluffy" for two years.

BRITAIN WILL SEND DEBT DELEGATION

London, July 17 (By The Associated Press.)—A special British delegation will arrive in the United States early in September in connection with the negotiations for funding the British debt to America, it was announced by Prime Minister Lloyd George in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Jordan Marsh Company

Where QUALITY Is All Dependable

Making the Summer Kitchen a Delightful Workshop Requires Thoughtful Selection of Household Utensils

Such as these Capable, Reliable Up-to-the-Minute Kitchen Servants

These articles have been passed by scientists and tested in actual use by housewives. That is why we know they will give you satisfaction from the very start.

They will do household duties in less time and do better work with less effort—and prices are noticeably modest.

Sauce Pans, aluminum, long handle with cover, 4-qt. size 75c

Shelf and Lining Paper, for your pantry. Small roll.... 50c Large roll.... 90c

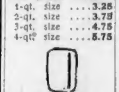
Wax Paper, for your picnic lunches, three different sized rolls: Small ..... 5c Medium ..... 10c Large 50c

Oval Canners, of heavy black tin; holds 12 jars with rack. Price.... 3.50

Aluminum Tea Kettles, best quality, 5-qt. size 2.25

Oval Willow Clothes Baskets, good size. 1.25

Ice Cream Freezers: 1-qt. size .... 3.25 2-qt. size .... 3.75 3-qt. size .... 4.75 4-qt. size 5.75

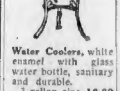


Four-Piece Canister Sets, flour, sugar, coffee and tea. Price 1.25

Fancy Decorated Serving Trays, several beautiful designs. Price... 1.25

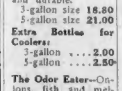
Water Coolers, white enamel with glass water bottle, sanitary and durable. 3-gallon size 18.50 5-gallon size 21.00

Extra Bottles for Coolers: 3-gallon .... 2.00 5-gallon 2.50



Coffee Percolators, a standard make, very best quality; 3-pint size 3.95

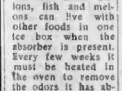
Flour Cans, good quality tin, white enameled; 25-lb. capacity. Price 1.25



The Odor Eater—Onions, fish and melons can live with other foods in one ice box when the absorber is present. Every few weeks it must be heated in the oven to remove the odors it has absorbed; this leaves it fresh and as absorbent as ever. Price 1.00

Aluminum Griddles, of fancy cast aluminum, best quality. 95c

Sad Irons, three sizes to set; also handle and rest. Complete set 1.75



Coffee Percolators, aluminum, colonial style, 6-cup size. Price 2.50

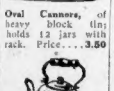
Garden Hose, moulded rubber, best quality. ½ inch .... 10c ft. ¾ inch .... 16c ft. ⅝ inch .... 18c ft.

Universal Lunch Boxes, metal boxes fitted with pint vacuum bottle. Special 1.85

Andrex Ovens, small portable oven and toaster, fine for camps and summer cottages. Price 79c

Six-Piece Pantry Set, consisting of bread, cake, flour, sugar, tea and coffee cans; white enamel. Price 2.65

Wool Wall Dusters, long handles, for walls and ceilings; best quality. Special 50c



Avona Dust Brush, pure bristle ... 1.00

Fireless Cookers. Do your summer cooking with a fireless cooker; may be bought on our deferred payment plan; two compartment. Price 35.00

Towel Rods for the bathroom, extra fine quality, all brass, nickel plated; will not rust; 13 in. size. Price 1.00

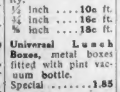
Bath Sprays, red rubber with large rose spray and hold-tight faucet grip. Special price 90c

Avona Screen Paint, qt. can 40c

Metal Window Boxes, self-irrigating galvanized finish, in green enamel; 30-inch size. Special 1.00

Handle Shopping Baskets, very good quality; 3 sizes. Special 35c, 55c, 95c

Kitchen Household Scales, 24 lbs. by ounces, platform style. Price... 1.75



BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON'S LIVE WIRES

OLD HOWELL ST. GANG

"PONSI JACK" MURRAY · "SCRUB" BOYLE · "SWEDE" ELLIOT · "PETE" HICKEY · "BUTTER" MURPHY · "BOZO BOB" MURRAY · "BORAX BILL" HANRAHAN · "INCH" MURPHY · "JAY" FLAHERTY · "ROD" ROBINSON

WHAT'S YOUR LIST?

SPORTS

SHEVLIN AND PERRY TOP CLASSY CARD AT THE ARENA

GOULD AND PAULSON ALSO TO BATTLE

By JACK CONWAY.

Forty rounds of major league fighting!

Eddie Shevlin and Jack Perry in the final number!

And a part of the profits for disabled war veterans!

Young Gould.

Of course you are going to take in the Arena A. C.'s big show at the Boston Arena tonight.

If you want to see some real, honest-to-goodness fighting, you'll not be disappointed. Then while witnessing a bang-up show you will also know you are helping some youth who risked his all in the Great Adventure and who is now suffering as a result of the wounds received in battle.

There is intense interest in the ten-round tussle between Eddie Shevlin and Jack Perry. This is the feature number and should prove to be one of the toughest welterweight battles ever staged in this city.

It will be the fifth meeting between this pair. Shevlin won the first two battles; then Perry grabbed a couple of decisions.

The last bout saw Shevlin entering the ring with a deep wound in his side as a result of a lancing by a surgeon's knife. But he fought as best he could, which was far below the Shevlin standard. And Perry won. Jack said he would have gained the decision even if Eddie had been at his best. He points to the fact he had previously bested the Roxbury youth at Worcester.

Shevlin Will Fight His Hardest for Victory

Shevlin is Irish. Which means he's game. And he wants revenge tonight. He intends to convince those persons who have been attacking him and claiming he has shot his best as a fighter that he is still a mighty ring master.

The Roxbury idol has trained faithfully. He is boxing brilliantly. His punches have power and direction. There is speed to his every movement.

"I'll beat Perry tonight," is Shevlin's confident statement.

"I will win another decision over Eddie," is the way Perry put it. "I'm tough and strong and can punch. I'll force the issue from the bell. Shevlin is passe as a star. He can't stand the hot pace any longer. I hope to win by a knockout, but under any conditions I'll win."

It is a crucial battle for both men. A win for Shevlin means he will be out with the headliners once more. If Perry scores, he can demand matches with the best men in his boxing division.

It will be a hard, bitter battle. You'll want to be down front where you can see the punches flying.

Robinson Opens Campaign for Wilson Bout

George Robinson, Cambridge middleweight, will open a campaign which he confidently hopes will end with a bout with Johnny Wilson when he battles Jack McClellan of Somerville in another ten-round mill. Pat McCarthy was originally billed to meet Robinson. Jim MacDonald claims Pat got cold feet and took it on the run. Anyhow, McClellan is a dandy substitute and will give Robinson a regular battle.

A lot of Robinson's colored admirers will be on hand to cheer him on to victory.

Wildman Gould to Take on Mike Paulson

Wildman Gould will furnish the fans all kinds of action when he colldes with Mike Paulson of St. Paul in another ten-round bout. Gould is action himself as a fighter and will give Paulson trouble. Paulson is tought enough to stand up under Gould's wallops and so the fans are sure of plenty of sport.

Charley Parker, South Boston kayo king, will be back in our midst in a ten-round whirl with Dinny Glynn of Roxbury. Charley says he will land a knockout, but Glynn only smiles. He figures on making Parker look foolish.

There has been a heavy advance sale, but there are still plenty of choice reservations to be had. The fans can get tickets without the war tax, at No. 39 Court avetet.

Jack Conway Picks Shevlin to Win Over Perry

Jack Conway has four chances to boot one tonight at the Arena A. C.'s big show. But he's going to try to bat for 1,000. Says Jack:

"I'm going to string along with Eddie Shevlin once more. He's right and I believe he will outpoint Jack Perry. The latter is tough and strong and a good puncher, and will be in there every minute battling like a champion. But Shevlin will win.

"George Robinson has trained carefully and will take the honors from Jack McClellan.

"Young Gould is wilder than ever and should win over Mike Paulson.

"You can take it from us that Charley Parker will win over Dinny Glynn."

MILLION DOLLAR SEMI-PRO

This is Walter Gautreau, the mill-

Walter Gautreau

lion-dollar kid in the semi-pro ranks today. Walter in a recent game accepted ten chances without a slip-up and batted for .500 against the Malden Knights of Columbus on Ferryway green, Malden.

Walter is by no means a newcomer in these parts, for the last few years he has been changing the scene about the fields in and around the University city. This year he was heard from while at Holy Cross College, and Jack Barry took him along down to the Wrigley City where he is covering the keystone sack.

TIGERS HAVE STAR IN ROOKIE

Stoner, rookie twirler with the Detroit Tigers, has made good his first year in the big leagues. He has been called on to take his regular turn in the box, and has chalked up several victories, aiding the Tigers to maintain an even pace in the American League race and hold to their first division berth.

Lil Stoner

HEAVY WEEK FOR SOMERVILLE NINE

"Jiggs" Donahue's Somerville Legion team has a busy week ahead. Tonight at Ferryway Green his boys will oppose the Malden City club. Wednesday Malden K. of C. will play the Legionevs at Lincoln Park, Somerville. Thursday they travel to play the Concord Town Team. Friday, at the Richard Trum Playground, the Somerville Baseball Club, just returned from a trip through Canada, will oppose the legion nine. The Saxony Mills of Newton have booked Donahue's warriors for Saturday.

Sore and Tender Gums

Saturate a piece of cotton with Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil and place it against the sore gums. It relieves instantly, takes out all inflammation and heals the sore gums. 30c per bottle.

Babe Features in Benefit

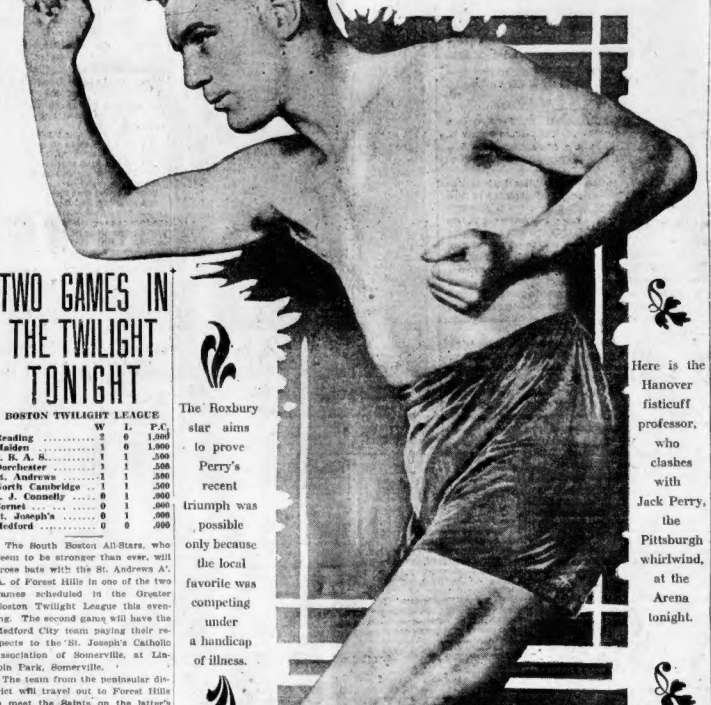
New York, July 17.—Babe Ruth, and Bob Meusel will perform a circus stunt today for the benefit of the widows of slain policemen in this city. Ruth will attempt to catch a ball thrown by Meusel from the roof of the Colian Theatre in Times Square.

Owens Back in Harness

Umpire Brick Owens, who was injured badly when struck by a foul tip from Bob Veach's bat, will umpire behind the plate at Fenway Park today.

DARTMOUTH EDDIE SEEKS REVENGE

Shevlin and Perry stand 2—2 in their ring bouts today and both are out to land the "rubber" decision in their little set-to tonight. Shevlin is one of the headiest boxers in the game and can be depended upon to put up a good battle.



The Roxbury star aims to prove Perry's recent triumph was possible only because the local favorite was competing under a handicap of illness.

Here is the Hanover fisticuff professor, who clashes with Jack Perry, the Pittsburgh whirlwind, at the Arena tonight.

TWO GAMES IN THE TWILIGHT TONIGHT

BOSTON TWILIGHT LEAGUE

	W	L.	P.C.
Reading	2	0	1.000
Malden	1	0	1.000
S. B. A. S.	1	1	.500
Dorchester	1	1	.500
St. Andrews	1	1	.500
North Cambridge	1	1	.500
J. J. Connelly	0	1	.000
Cornet	0	1	.000
St. Joseph's	0	1	.000
Medford	0	0	.000

The South Boston All-Stars, who seem to be stronger than ever, will cross bats with the St. Andrews A. A. of Forest Hills in one of the two games scheduled in the Greater Boston Twilight League this evening. The second game will have the Medford City team paying their respects to the St. Joseph's Catholic Association of Somerville, at Lincoln Park, Somerville.

The team from the peninsular district will travel out to Forest Hills to meet the Saints on the latter's ball orchard, the Carolina avenue grounds in the Forest Hills district.

Now that Manager Joe Norton has Eddie Gill going good, it looks as though the former Holy Cross slab artist will oppose the home club.

John Collins, who is boss of the Saints will send Longstrome, Mullowney or Strecker to the peak, all three of these youngsters going good at present.

The Somerville battle will be for blood. Medford and the St. Joe's of Somerville will have some battle on their hands which should draw a capacity crowd to Lincoln Park.

Howie Fahey will trot the Medford nine on the field and the usual howl will come from the fans of those who love the veteran ball star, Raymie Skilton. John Prior, Kincaide or Dobey will go on top of the hill for the Medford outfit, while Manager Dunlavey will send one of his two star twirlers, either Jim Shea or Shanahan, to the rubber.

MISS WAINWRIGHT IN SWIM CLASSIC

New York, July 17.—Miss Helen Wainwright, hailed as the greatest all-around mer-

Helen Wainwright

maid in the country today, is the first American girl to enter the Joseph P. Day cup race, the international ocean classic for women, which will be held in New York Bay on August 1. The first actual entry has come from England by cable, that of Miss Hilda James, the foremost female natator in Europe. The entry of Miss Wainwright insures the meeting of the leading girl swimmers of America and Europe.

WHITE SOX PROTEST PURCHASE OF ELSH

Pittsburgh, July 17.—Proposed purchase by the Pittsburgh Pirates of Outfielder Roy Elsh of the Sioux City Western League club, has been halted by Baseball Commissioner Landis. Landis advised the Pirate management that the Chicago American League club had protested the purchase.

DAVIS CUP TEAM TO BE CHOSEN THIS WEEK

New York, July 17.—Of the fourteen nations which challenged the United States to defend the Davis Cup, symbolic of the World's Tennis Championship, only four remain as possible contenders, Australia, France, Spain and the British Isles.

Since the tennis season began six nations have been eliminated by defeats on the court—Belgium, Rumania, Denmark, Czecho-Slovakia, India and Italy—and the other four for various reasons eliminated themselves through defaults, the principal excuse being the enormous expense of transportating a team.

All the first round and second round preliminary matches were played in Europe, too far away from Canada, Hawaii, the Philippines and Japan, for those nations to send representatives; but three of the four remaining matches, and possibly all of them, will be staged in this country.

The American Davis cup committee will attempt late this week to close the few loose ends that will bind one of the most colorful tennis seasons in American annals and to do the most difficult job of all—select the team that will defend the nation at the net. Four players probably will be chosen—two singles and two doubles players.

Selections seem to be centred about William T. Tilden 2d, American champion who did not defend his right to the British title at Wimbledon this year; William M. Johnston of California, former national champion; Watson M. Washburn of New York, R. Norris Williams 2d of Boston and Vincent Richards of Yonkers. The first two are certain, the first four made up the team last year.

The history of the four surviving teams so far is:

France won by default from Canada and then defeated Denmark; Australia won from Belgium and then from Czecho-Slovakia; Spain won by default from the Philippines and then defeated India; the British Isles drew a bye in the first round and then defeated Italy. The winner of the France-Australia match will meet the victor in the Spain-British Isles set-to in this country.

The Australasians are considered the more formidable. On the team are Gerald Patterson, who won the singles championship at Wimbledon; J. O. Anderson, who, with Randolph Lycett of England, won the doubles; and Pat O'Hara Wood, who, with Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, won the mixed doubles championship at Wimbledon.

The French and Spanish teams of Cochet and Borotra and Count De Gomar, M. Alonzi and E. Flaquer, respectively, are made up of sensationally playing young men. The British team, that defeated Italy, was composed of F. G. Lowe, A. R. Kingscote and William Riseley.

74-Year-Old Oarsman Seeks Match at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, July 17.—Word has been received here that Hilton Belyea, of St. John, New Brunswick, will row here in the national regatta. He has changed his mind about retiring. James H. Reilly, 74-year-old professional sculler, has also requested to be permitted to row in the special race.

DEMPSEY PLAYING A FINE GAME

Bill Dempsey of Boston College fame is playing a fine game for the Abbot Worsted nine at Grantville when he is not chasing pills for the Malden Knights of Columbus. He swings a wicked stick and is as fast as any of the ball tossers in the State covering ground.

Al Davidson is doing the bulk of the slab work for the Abbot nine, and last week Manager R. J. McCarthy tried out his star against the Salem Town Team and he wiggled away with a tie score when darkness set in.

On July 23 the Abbot Worsted will journey to Donovan Field, Salem, where they meet the Wiich City club in another tussle.

William Dempsey

Burrells Claim Game

The Burrell A. C. of Roxbury claim a forfeited game over the Paine Newsboys of Brookline. This game was to be played at the William Eustis Playground Sunday. The Burrells were right on their toes ready to give the Paines a trimming. This is the second time the Paine Newsboys did not showup.

The fragrance comes from the fine long filler.

DEMPSEY AND WILLS ARE BARRED HERE

By JACK CONWAY.

Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills have been barred from appearing in boxing exhibitions in Massachusetts.

Hooray!

The fans can still see Kid Diver and Young Quitter at any of the clubs provided they have the regulation price, plus the war tax.

The Boston American's Green edition of Saturday gave the first news of Dempsey and Larry Williams being barred from giving an exhibition at New Bedford last Saturday.

Harry Wills has likewise been kayoed by the commission. An attempt was made to have the negro champion show in this city, but when the matter was put up to the Boxing Commission the promoters were informed that a permit for a Wills exhibition would not be granted.

And so the promoters took the air; also a walk in the Hall of Flags at the State House, where they reflected on the wonders of democracy; a stroll along the Common with its free air helped relieve the situation.

Schedule of Twilight Games This Week

TONIGHT

South Boston All Stars vs. St. Andrew's A. A. at Carolina Grounds, Forest Hills.

Medford City Team vs. St. Joseph's Catholic Association at Lincoln Park, Somerville.

TUESDAY EVENING.

Cornet All Stars vs. Dorchester Baseball Club at Ronan Park, Dorchester.

Reading Town Team vs. North Cambridge K. of C. at Russell Field, North Cambridge.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

J. J. Connelly Club vs. South Boston All Stars at C. J. Lee Grounds, South Boston.

St. Andrew's A. A. vs. Reading Town Team at Reading.

St. Joseph's Catholic Association vs. Cornet All Stars at Little River Playgrounds, Lynn.

Dorchester Baseball Club vs. Medford City Team at Medford High Grounds.

THURSDAY EVENING.

North Cambridge K. of C. vs. Malden K. of C. at Ferryway Green, Malden.

Dorchester Baseball Club vs. J. J. Connelly Club at J. J. Connelly grounds, Roxbury.

Malden Knights of Columbus vs. Medford City Team at Medford High Grounds.

TED KID LEWIS IS MINE HOST

Ted Kid Lewis

Ted Kid Lewis, who has been cleaning up in British pugilistic circles, and incidentally collecting nice purses, has purchased a "pub," and in between bouts gets behind the counter and serves drinks. All that's necessary to complete the picture is a white apron and a white collared glass f old-fashioned suds.

Woburn at South Boston

The Columbus All-Stars of South Boston will face Woburn Legion tomorrow evening at the Christopher J. Lee playground. Manager Jim Lynch has signed Arthur Fallatio to play in the outfield in place of Arthur Sullivan, who has joined Albany of the Eastern League, "Duck" Wesfer, who twirled for Tufts last season, will be on the mound for Woburn.

Dempsey a Credit to the Boxing Game

Jack Dempsey is a fine, clean-living young man. His proposed exhibition at New Bedford was to be much like the ones he gave at the Old Howard last Winter. No heavy blows would have been delivered, no gore spilt as is the case in some of our ham and egg fights.

A lot of people who are not in the habit of attending boxing bouts would have turned out to see Dempsey. They would have witnessed a fine exhibition of boxing. They would have seen what clean living and training can do for a young man. And they would have gone away boosters of the boxing game.

But the learned Boxing Commission decided otherwise. It put the bars up on Dempsey because he is very much in the public eye.

Colored People Aroused by Barring of Wills

Colored people in Boston and vicinity are very indignant over the barring of Wills. They desire to see their champion. They do not necessarily demand that he be permitted to engage in a regular fight. All they ask is that he take part in an exhibition. This would give them an opportunity to get a line on the chief rival of Jack Dempsey.

The Boxing Commission should not attempt to obstruct the ring game. It should also stand on its own feet, as it were, and not follow the whims of boxing commissions in other states.

Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, is barred here because he was set down in New York. You may not think a great deal of Wilson as a champion, but there is no getting away from the fact he has been handed a raw deal by Tex Rickard and the boxing commissions of the country.

Because he failed to live up to an agreement he was clubbed into signing Wilson is barred in New York. Like a lot of sheep, the boxing commissions of the country rise up and accept the decree of the New York commission.

New York Commission Considers Itself Supreme

The New York commission apparently figures it controls the boxing game. It has even gone so far as to make a heedless decree taking away the titles of Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Wilson.

It was believed that boxers suspended in Massachusetts would also be set down in New York. But such is not the case. Jack Marley was suspended in Massachusetts, but was permitted to fight in New York last week.

Yet Johnny Wilson is still under suspension here because he was banned in New York.

Hooray for the Commission!

The usual answer to your "Lost and Found" ad in The Boston American is the prompt return of the thing you've lost. Telephone your ad without delay to

THE BOSTON AMERICAN
Boston's Want Ad Directory
Read for Profit — Use for Results
Telephone Main 5180

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON'S LIVE WIRES DORCHESTER RANGERS "RUSTY" O'CONNOR "LARRY" HUGHES "LEFTY" SMITH "SCUP" CLARK WICKED ST. BERNARDS "THE BAYLEYS" BRETT & CASEY "BOW" BARBERO "DAVE" SHALEY "HIGO" DACEY WHAT'S YOUR LIST?

SPORTS

MOVE ON FOOT TO START WEEK END BALL GAMES EARLIER

NEW MOVE TO BENEFIT FANS AND CLUBS

By NICK FLATLEY.

"Why," a fan writes in to us, "don't they start the Saturday ball games earlier?"

Probably, we might reply, because it never occurred to them, or nobody ever hollered for earlier baseball.

"On Saturdays," continues our correspondent, "everybody gets through work at 1 o'clock, everybody that would attend ball games. If you work in the city now you have to hang around a couple of hours. If the games started at 3 o'clock, or 2:30 at the latest, it would help things a lot.

"It would get a lot of fans, too, who don't go now because they have to catch early trains for the beaches. Trains to most of the resorts down on 'the Cape' leave before 6 o'clock, and a chap can't take a chance of getting in a ball game before he catches the last rattler. But with an extra hour or so the beach fan would be among those present.

"Why," concludes our correspondent, "don't you agitate this?"

Consider it agitated.

Seems to be a lot of sense in what the writer has to say at that. We would be very glad to get a few more opinions on this subject. Boston fans want more winning ball games, and maybe they want them earlier on Saturdays.

Ty Cobb and His Tigers Against the Red Sox Again

Ty Cobb escorted his Tigers against the Red Sox again today, and unless the Duffys do a sudden lot of hypnotizing they are in for their sixth successive defeat. The Detroiters are hustling and have a mighty fine, fast ball club. Everybody in the bunch hits .300 or thereabouts, and Ty's new infield is a very fine piece of machinery.

Fred Haney, of Omaha last year, has replaced Jones at third, and in his one appearance here looked like a second Dante Bush. He's a midget, though sturdy enough. He made a flock of nifty plays Saturday, showing ability to grab the torrid ones, as well as an aptitude at doping the batter, and getting in close for the bunters.

The young man beat out a very nifty bunt himself, toward third, and then when called on to manage a bunt he dribbled a dandy toward first, showing that he knows how to handle the war club, so his batting average in the lineup goes to show Haney has been swapping off with Jones, but now it looks as if he had permanently replaced that efficient athlete, who hasn't been swatting according to Detroit standards.

Local National League Club Passed Him Up Last Year.

This player was recommended to the Braves last season, but the National Leaguers passed him up. Detroit, in a campaign to get plenty of new talent, paid a lot for the kid, and it looks like a mighty fine investment.

Mister Cobb keeps right on winning with his young pitchers, and it is really feared as a pennant contender. He isn't many miles back, and his team has now found itself out pretty well and is all set for a whirl down to the finish. Pillette unfurled his tenth victory to open the series, and looked like a million dollars doing it.

Incidentally he stopped Del Pratt, who had nicked the aaxie in twenty three consecutive contests. As Del is going now, though, that streak is an interlude. He can start building a new record this p. m.

Oleson, Formerly of Cornell, Is Another Star in the Box

Oleson, the former Cornell star, who won out on the experience he got at year with Syracuse is another of the youthful sharpshooters who is upsetting the dope according to Tyrus has one of the best prospects that's been out in years, and he has the stuff to beat any ball club.

Joe Dugan's injured runner is about well again, and Joseph consequently will be back at third very shortly. When that happens, Foster is likely to get a stab at shortstopping, as the candidates for that job haven't been going at all well. Pittenger's fielding is inclined to be shaky and the athlete hasn't been hitting.

Walters have been asked on Chick Maynard, the Dartmouth hero, and it is reported that Washington is going to grab him.

LIZZIE MURPHY AT WALPOLE ST.

Lizzie Murphy makes her final Boston appearance tonight, when the Providence Independents play the New York-New Haven All Stars at the Walpole Street Grounds. The latter took the Tigers into camp recently and feel they can repeat at the expense of the Providence nine.

CUTS

will heal quickly and will not generate pus or form poisonous matter when

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil

is applied. 30c per bottle.

STANDING OF -: THE CLUBS :-

American League	Raw Clubs Will Stand Tonight
	W.	L.	P.C.	W.	L.
St. Louis..	50	36	.581	.586	.515
New York..	49	36	.576	.568	.535
Chicago ...	44	40	.524	.529	.518
Detroit	44	42	.512	.517	.506
Cleveland.	41	44	.482	.488	.477
Washington	40	43	.482	.488	.477
Philadelphia	34	45	.430	.437	.423
BOSTON..	33	49	.417	.474	.412

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
Chicago 4, New York 0.
St. Louis 2, Washington 0.
GAMES TODAY
DETROIT AT BOSTON.
Chicago at New York.
St. Louis at Washington.
Cleveland at Philadelphia

National League	Raw Clubs Will Stand Tonight
	W.	L.	P.C.	W.	L.
New York.	49	30	.620	.650	.613
St. Louis	52	34	.605	.609	.598
Chicago ...	43	40	.518	.524	.512
Cincinnati	44	41	.518	.528	.512
Brooklyn ..	42	42	.500	.506	.494
Pittsburgh	38	44	.463	.450	.458
Philadelphia	31	47	.397	.405	.388
BOSTON...	29	50	.367	.375	.362

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
BOSTON 3, CINCINNATI 4.
St. Louis 3, New York 6.
Brooklyn 2, Pittsburgh 7.
Philadelphia 10, Chicago 7.
GAMES TODAY
BOSTON AT CINCINNATI.
New York at St. Louis.
Brooklyn at Pittsburgh.
Philadelphia at Chicago.

PLAISTED AND TEN EYCK TO ROW AUG. 5

Syracuse, N. Y., July 17.—A race which will bear the interest of every American rowing fan and one which will hark back to the days of the oarsmen of forty or fifty years ago will be staged at Philadelphia on of Syracuse University and Fred Plaisted of Dartmouth, coached by Jim Ten Eyck, Plaisted as the opponents.

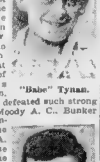
Plaisted has accepted an invitation for the event, and the Orange mentor, now at Duluth, Minn., to whip the Duluth Boat Club crews into shape, accepted by wire.

Both oarsmen are more than sixty years old. The race should be another match of a century. Ten Eyck, acknowledged to be the dean of American oarsmen and considered the greatest rowing coach in the country, would face a rugged foe in Plaisted, a sculler of world wide reputation and in his day classed with Ten Eyck, Courtney and others of equal fame

TYLER A. C. WANTS TO ARRANGE GAMES

The Tyler A. C. of the South End would like to arrange games with any thirteen to fourteen year old teams in Greater Boston. This club, after losing their first two games of the season, came back and won eighteen in a row. They are out to extend this winning streak at the expense of other teams around Boston. This bunch has defeated such strong teams as the Moody A. C., Bunker Hill Trojans, Junior team) and the Alpine A. A. (three times). The makeup of the team is as follows: Teddo Sh. A. Hayes p. Graham 1b, Murphy c. Barrett 2b, Tynan ss, J. Hayes lf, Maloof cf and Georges rf. Teams desiring games write Arthur Hayes, No. street,

"Babe" Tynan.



Arthur Hayes.

Outdoor Sports

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By TAD

SAVE YOUR MONEY MY BOY—A LOTTA THESE FINALE HOPPERS WILL BE WITH YOU IF YOU'VE SPENT IT YOU'VE GOT NO FRIENDS IN SWIMMING—HA—NO POCKETS—GET ME?
THERE'S OLD 6 TO SIX TELLING BILLADONNE HOW TO GET A TRIPLE NELSON ON A DOLLAR
WE ALWAYS SAVE NOW CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU—THERE'S NO POCKETS IN SHROUDS—BUT WE KEEPS HIS HIS BROTHER IS LIKE HOMA—GOTTA HEART AS BIG AS A BIRD SPOT—
KEEPS YOUR LISTENERS OPEN AS THE VILLAGE EGG TELLS HIS CLERK ABOUT PILING UP THE NICKELS AND DIMES
OUTDOOR SPORTS

JOE JACKSON IN PETITION FOR PARDON

By JOSEPH S. ROGERS.

New York, July 17.—A nation wide movement to restore "Shoeless Joe" Jackson in the good graces of organized baseball was started here when petitions were circulated outside the Polo Grounds during the White Sox-Yankee game.

This step in behalf of the player who was involved in the World Series scandal of 1919 will lead direct to Commissioner Landis, to whom the appeal will be made.

Just what those back of this movement expect to gain by campaigning for the famous "pillow-ttter" is not clear.

Following the recent expose that Jackson had been playing around New York under an assumed name, Judge Landis, it is reported from an authoritative source, hired a detective agency to sift the matter to the bottom. These detectives are still on the job and will thoroughly investigate the source of the petition.

One thing is certain—if the petition ever comes to Judge Landis, Michigan boulevard, in which the High Commissioner's Chicago office is located, is likely to be strewn with papers provided the commissioner even considers receiving those who present it.

Very few signatures were obtained and those that did sign did so outside the ball park.

"Tryin' to aid somebody?" was the remark often heard when signatures were asked.

Guards at the Polo Grounds stepped an effort to circulate the petition in the grandstand. Threatened with expulsion from the park, one man, whose name stuck in a few he had in his pocket and quickly disappeared in the crowd

DILBOY POST BACK ON HOME GROUNDS

After an absence from its home grounds the Dilboy Post, V. F. W., of Somerville, will make its appearance at the Richard Trum Playground tonight at 6.15 p. m., when it will have as its opponent the Robert Fulton Council, K. of C., of Dorchester

The ex service men are playing a brand of baseball that the fans enjoy and are playing to large crowds

Herlihy, who has been pitching steadily for the team, has not passed a man in the last fifty innings.

It is doubtful if anyother pitcher in semi-pro baseball can boast of this achievement.

FRED FULTON WILL FIGHT BOB ROPER

New York, July 17.—The stage is all set for the heavyweight match between Fred Fulton and Captain Bob Roper, to take place at the Broad St. C's open air arena, Newark, tonight. The bout is scheduled for twelve rounds, but the odds favor Fulton to secure a decisive win. This will be their third meeting.

NEPONSET WANDERERS HAVE FEW OPEN DATES

Neponset Wanderers have an open date away from home, July 22. Are also in the field for twilight games away from home. Dick Stanton, manager, No. 19 Walnut street, Neponset. Telephone Dorchester 7974-J after 8 p. m.

GOLF

By F. G. THAYER.

Three golf events are on the week's program, the State open at the Springfield Country Club on Wednesday and Thursday at 72 holes medal play; the South Shore Golf Club's opening of its series of five weekly team matches to determine who is to be the possessor for one year of the appropriately engraved shield on Wednesday. On Friday and Saturday the regular open tournament scheduled on the M. G. A. program at the Norfolk Golf Club.

The fact that Gene Sarazen, the recently crowned National open golf champion, will compete in the open at Springfield gives added importance and greater significance to the standard of play to be expected. Tommy McNamara and Tommy Kerrigan are also two other high class golfers who give local golfers a chance to the open than would a championship open only to those living in the New England States.

* * *

Many of the boys went up over the road yesterday so as to get in a couple of practice rounds on the old State course before the champion ship proper. There will be eight prizes, the first a purse of $200, and last place $10. If an amateur should win he will receive a $50 medal.

* * *

At Norfolk on Friday and Saturday any player who is successful in breaking the competitive course record of 71 will receive a special prize. There will also be two grand and two net trophies.

* * *

What club has got the best team of eight players on the South Shore will be determined when the last of the series of five successive Wednesday meetings is terminated on August 16. Until that time, each week Crow Point Golf Club, Hull Golf Club, Scituate Country Club, Cohasset Golf Club, Duxbury Country Club and the Plymouth Country Club will match their best players.

* * *

The Nassau system of scoring by pars and halves will come into vogue for each side and handicaps will prevail in making up the matches except when the club handicap of the home player is lower, it will be adopted instead. The committee in charge of any disputes which may arise regarding rules or irregularities of play is as follows: Charles E. Mason, William H. Thayer, George M. Barnum, E. H. Baker, Jr., William B. Howe, Jr., and Ralph Hornblower.

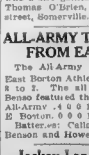
* * *

The Scituate Country Club has been fortunate to secure the services of John B. Fitzpatrick as their new professional. He is a brother of the greenkeeper, Jim Fitzpatrick, and comes to us with about the upkeep of a golf course as he does the actual planting of the game. He has had a good schooling in the old country, having been recently the pro at Lehinch, the Irish championship course and where the turf has been cultivated to a fineness of texture that it resembles a beautiful plush carpet. Fitzpatrick has also played well up in the Irish champion ship tournaments of recent years.

EAGLES LOOKING FOR PREY

The Somerville Eagles are ready to tackle any of the local fifteen and sixteen-year-old baseball nines in the city. This club has made a fi[illegible]ty good showing this season, having won nine out of eleven games, while they lost one and tied an other.

Ryan and Egan are the battery for the fifteen year old squad. The latter also shares with O'Brien in the backstop role. Mahoney is on first, and O'Brien, Cole and Stoner take care of the infield. The outer garden is in the hands of Cronin, Foley and Kiley. Those who desire games are in touch with Thomas O'Brien, No. 472 Medford street, Somerville. Telephone 233-W



Thomas O'Brien.

ALL-ARMY TEAM WINS FROM EAST BOSTON

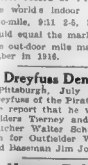
The All Army team defeated the East Borton Athletics at Fort Banks 8 to 2. The all round playing of Benso featured the clash. The score: All-Army .4 0 0 1 2 1 0 0 x—8 12 1 E Boston. 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 0—2 8 1 Batteries: Callahan and Roach, Benson and Howe.

Jockey Lang Suspended

New York, July 17.—Chick Lang, jockey, has drawn a six-day suspension for his poor ride on Tenlee Saturday at Empire.

JOIE RAY GIVES UP AS MILER

Joie Ray, without a peer for nearly a decade as a miler, is through as a mile runner. Recent defeats by Ray Watson and his Lisle Bird [illegible] to make the distance around 4:20 has convinced Ray that his best days are behind him. He intends to try the longer distances, two and five miles, but it is doubted whether he can go the route.



Joie Ray

Ray's withdrawal means that he will never attain his ambition of breaking the world's mile record. He holds the indoor record of 4:6 3-5 and also the world's indoor record for the two-mile, 9:11 2-5, but he never could equal the mark of 4:12 3-5 in the out-door mile made by Norman Taber in 1916.

Dreyfuss Denies Trade

Pittsburgh, July 17.—President Dreyfuss of the Pirates denied flatly the report that he would trade Infielders Tierney and Barnhart and Catcher Walter Schmidt to Brooklyn for Outfielder Wheat and Second Baseman Jim Johnston.

Herman Fights Henry

New York, July 17.—Tonight Babe Herman takes on Billy Henry in a twelve-round bout.

CAMBRIDGE TO ACT TODAY ON SUNDAY BALL

The climax in Cambridge's Sunday baseball row was expected to develop today, following the action of police in taking the names of a number of young men who solicited and received contributions from spectators at yesterday's ball game between North Cambridge K. of C. and Salem Town Team.

The pound which the Park Commissioners issued for the game expressly stipulated that no money should be collected. Police officers were on hand before game time, and when they saw spectators giving money to attendants they took the names of the latter

A meeting of the Park Commissioners was scheduled for 3 o'clock today, at which time City Solicitor Peter J. Neilligan was to give an opinion as to the legality of the receipt of contributions at the Sunday games.

Should the solicitor rule that money may be collected without the violation of a law, the case against Sunday ball will probably drop dead on the other hand, however, if he holds the collection of money illegal the young men whose names were taken are liable to arrest.

CLEARY OUT FOR TWO WEEKS

William Cleary

William ("Billy") Cleary, third baseman of the North Cambridge Knights of Columbus will have to [illegible] ball game on Friday [illegible] this [illegible] two weeks, suspended by the Cambridge Knights baseball league [illegible] Manager Frank [illegible] ("Peck") Wrenn in a Twilight league tussle in a game at Russell Field [illegible] the South Boston All-Stars

LONGWOOD TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS

Six of the country's ranking lawn tennis players have been seeded for the thirtieth annual Longwood challenge bowl singles tournament which will open at Chestnut Hill today

Of particular interest is the prospect of a clash between William T. Tilden 2, and R. Norris Williams 3d, present and former national champions

Besides Tilden and Williams, the seeded players are Wallace Johnson of Philadelphia N W Niles and L. B. Rice of Boston and Philip Neer of Portland, Ore.

Willard Not in Condition

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 17.—Jess Willard will not be in condition to meet a leading heavyweight boxer here Labor Day, he wired Dan V. Lackey, local boxing promoter.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Baltimore..	54	31	.759	Reading..	46	39	.541
Rochester	54	34	.614	Toronto..	34	48	.469
Jersey City	49	39	.557	Syracuse..	34	57	.374
Buffalo	46	44	.511	Newark..	24	58	.371

MORAN AND HIS REDS ROOT FOR BRAVES

Cincinnati., July 17.—After seeing the Braves battle the Reds in two close games here Saturday and Sunday, one of which was taken by each team, Cincinnati fans are more than convinced Fred Mitchell's team is not a last-place outfit, and will not linger in the cellar much longer.

No team has given the Reds a harder fight in quite a while than the Braves. Pat Moran's high-steppers didn't score a run until the ninth inning, and Sunday the Braves took the decision 6 to 4 and in so doing gave Pete Donohue the worst licking that young man has sustained this season.

With John Watson primed to go against Johnny Couch in today's game the Braves seem a good bet for an even break on the series, even though Couch pitched a two-hit game in Boston last month. That was a much better game than Couch usually pitches, and it is not likely he will repeat the effort, while the Braves continue their style of batting they showed Saturday and Sunday. Watson stands a [illegible] chance of being [illegible] for their

Four Runs Were Killed Off at the Home Plate

Four Reds were killed off at the plate Sunday, three of them on close plays, on which it was necessary to tag the runner. The way Gibson stood his ground against the flying spikes and tagged out the men made it rather plain Fred Mitchell is making no mistake in catching him regularly.

The Reds batted McQuillan and Oeschger hard in spots and without the able defensive work of Gibson and Kopf would have made enough runs to save Donohue from defeat, but Kopf threw three runners out at home, one by a play that was new to most of those who saw it.

This came in the fourth when, with Hargrave on third, Pinelli on first, none out and the score tied, Caveney hit to Ford.

The latter tossed to Kopf at second, forcing Pinelli. Hargrave was running home, and nine of ten seasoned baseball fans would have thrown to first to complete the double play, letting the run score. Kopf, though, whipped the ball to Gibson, who retired Marquard by a step and thus eliminated a run that would have given the Reds a tie score in nine rounds.

Kopf and Gibson Were Also Busy With the Stick

Kopf and Gibson also played heavy roles on attack. Gibson driving in one run with a sacrifice fly and another with a double. Kopf sent in a run with a single. Cruise knocked in the fourth with a triple that hit the wall in front of the right-field bleachers on the fly, the first time such a drive ever has been hit into the league game. Rooked then scored him with a single.

It appeared for a while Powell was going to join Southworth and Fillingim in the lame-knee brigade. He collided with Daubert in beating out a hit in the seventh. Both went down, and Pow [illegible] left knee was hurt. But he finished out the game O. K. and apparently will escape being laid up.

Table of Runs

DAY'S HIGH—LOW SCORES

NATIONAL LEAGUE

High—Philadelphia, 10.
Low—New York 0.

	M	T	W	T	F	S	S	T
1 Boston	9	10	4	14	*	1	2	5	35
2 N. York	2	3	4	5	3	2	4	3	0	43
3 Chicago	4	6	1	8	5	3	0	1	7	39
4 Brookl'n	1	4	1	6	4	0	2	6	2	16
5 Pitt'gh	7	4	3	14	*	0	6	3	2	39
6 Cin'ti	11	0	4	21	3	3	3	4	4	56
7 Phila'la	7	0	11	18	6	3	2	10	3	55
8 St. L'is	4	3	6	11	1	9	4	1	1	36
Totals	47	34	33	121	27	36	20	35	20	370

AMERICAN LEAGUE

High—Chicago 4.
Low—New York and Washington 0.

	M	T	W	T	F	S	S	T
9 Detroit.	6	10	1	23	4	*	2	1	2	49
10 Chicago	2	3	2	4	0	*	3	3	4	18
11 N. York	*	2	4	6	*	4	2	0	0	17
12 St. L'is	8	1	2	16	*	0	0	2	1	15
13 Boston	3	0	7	15	*	3	0	1	0	29
14 Cleve'd	*	2	1	13	4	5	2	*	2	29
15 Wash'n	2	3	1	1	6	*	1	2	0	13
16 Phila'la	5	4	1	2	1	0	*	1	*	15
Totals	31	33	44	108	19	22	11	13	9	186

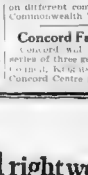
INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

High—Reading 8.
Low—Newark 1.

	M	T	W	W	1	F	S	S	T	T
17 Syracuse	2	12	5	21	4	3	10	1	5	51
18 Newark	*	3	2	8	12	7	1	3	1	37
19 Balt'ore	*	8	6	14	2	9	2	7	3	51
20 Roch'ter	12	9	6	27	12	9	13	5	6	66
21 Toronto	*	3	0	23	2	6	11	*	4	49
22 J. City	*	4	1	5	18	5	7	*	*	33
23 Buffalo	*	2	4	6	3	1	5	3	1	16
24 Reading	*	4	11	6	4	1	8	*	2	24
Totals	19	52	53	121	58	40	60	31	30	365

DAVIDSON LEAVES DORCHESTER

Claude Davidson has resigned as manager of the Dorchester Baseball Club of the Greater Boston Twilight League. Too much work time, claims of Claude having to give up as boss on the Dorchester team. He has been appointed to the Chamber of Commerce Twilight roster, which means a lot of work on the outside he takes his labors on different commissions, etc., of the Commonwealth Trust Company.



Claude Davidson

Concord Faces Lexington

Concord will play the first of a series of three games with Lexington tonight, Knights of Columbus team. Concord Centre playground, tonight.

DORCHESTER T. T. MEETS FITTONS

FITTON A. C.		DORCHESTER
Silva, c f.		Spillane, c f.
Clunkas, s.s.		Malley, s.s.
O'Leary, 2b.		Lally, 2b.
Archdeacon, l.f.		Morris, 3b.
Burns, 1b.		Murray, c.
Lavan, r.f.		Hall, 1b.
O'Reagan, c.		Reardon, lf
Dorgan, 3b.		Casey, r.f.
Ring, p.		Cundrick, p.

The Dorchester Town Team will oppose the Fitton A. C. of East Boston at Ronan Park this evening at 6:15. Manager Joe Kelly will send his pitching ace, Cundrick, after this game. The Fittons have won their last seven games.

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

This Day in History—July 17, 1922

THIS is the anniversary of the opening of Kings College, now Columbia University, in 1754. The first session took place in Trinity Church vestry room with ten students.

Magazine Page

Star Sparks in the Summer Night

JULY has a greater number of "meteor showers" than any other month except October. At least a dozen have been listed. Although called "showers," these meteor exhibitions usually consist of only a flying spark.

Souls for Sale

RUPERT HUGHES' GREATEST NOVEL

What Would YOU Do?

IF you were beautiful young Remember Steddon, a Massachusetts minister's daughter, whose sweetheart died before the wedding, would you try to bring up your baby among those who knew you in your own home town? Or would you run away for a fresh start with new surroundings? If you had your living to make, would you try to get into the movies? Dr. Bretherick, the family physician, advised Remember to go West. This she did, writing her parents a fictitious tale of having married and lost her "husband." She falls from a cliff and is told that the accident caused the death of her unborn child. Remember arrives in Los Angeles and determines to "pay the price" for a chance in the movies, but is refused. She is coached by Director Clavmore. She takes an auto ride with him and is held up by a bandit in the midst of a love passage. This struggle of a young girl to work out her own salvation is stirringly told in Rupert Hughes' greatest novel. Go on with the story.

"THE company doesn't re[quire] you to reveal a secret[ion], Miss Steddon, only de[sire] then. Besides there are half a dozen villains here and I still think you'd better run out of the arena seeing that we're already spent half the night and all of our nerves showing you going for reinforcements."

Mem was sufficiently snubbed and apologized so meekly that Kendrick was still furious.

"And for God's sake don't play the worm! The story is rotten and your criticism is perfectly just, but we poor directors and actors have to do our best with the putrid stuff the office hands us."

Mem stood about and watched the fight. It was a magnificent or a loathsome spectacle, according to the critic. When Vergil describes an old-fashioned battle with wooden boxing gloves decorating the opposing features it is accepted as of epic nobility. The movies give the real blood instead of nouns and knock out teeth with primeval dentistry.

The actors who assaulted Holby were tender of his raw cheek at first, but both he and Kendrick demanded action, and after Holby had smashed a few noses with the effect of knocking corks out of claret bottles, there was anger enough

Men stood about and watched the fight. It was a magnificent or loathsome sight, according to the critic

The one caution Kendrick shrieked through his megaphone was not to knock Holby senseless and not to knock him out of the arena range.

The camera men were filling and panting their machines to keep the action within the picture and they were howling contradictory messages to the fighters.

There was none of the arena order in Mem's soul. She was none of the critics who watched gladiators butchered or thrilled to inquisitional processions, or went to modern prize fights.

She was as sickened by the noise of the blows, and the spurt of blood, and that most desperate drama of when arena men batter each other in rage, that she had to retreat into the cold morning air out of sight and hearing of the buffets that seemed to land on her own tender flesh.

The dawn was just pinking the sky when the last of the night work was over. Everybody was dead beat. There would have to remain after the actors had gone, and the actors had filled a twenty-one-hour day of grilling emotion and physical toil.

The chauffeur who took Mem home in an automobile told her that he had already had twenty-four hours of driving and would have four or five hours more. She expected him to collide with almost anything, but his eyes still attended their office.

It was 7 o'clock when Mem crept into her bed, an hour later than she had usually wakened. Her alarm clock stared at her with rebuke, but she gave it a day off and slept till nightfall.

The next day the company gathered to see the rushes of the night's stuff. Almost all of them were perfect, vivid, dramatic with the chiaroscuro of lightning upon mid-high, storm, and incredibly real.

A strange feeling came over her and over the others when they saw the various takes of the scene in which Holby clambered across the fallen telephone pole, pushed through the branches of the toppled tree and passed on into the teeth of Angle Portland beyond the power [illegible] from the pit there was a small man who was waiting. She had seen him during her long [illegible] and never dreamed of [illegible].

Kendrick [illegible] That came near being a portrait of [illegible] walking out of this world."

Tom Holby did not speak, but he reached out and seized Mem's hand wrung it with an eloquence beyond words. He seemed to be squeezing her heart with clinging hands.

There were five takes of this bit, and Mem began only now to understand the hazard she had incurred in comprehend how close she was to annihilation, to the end of her days upon this beautiful world.

It came over her like a confirmation of death. What an unbelievable thing it was for all of being the most familiar thing in life. the one experience that no book could accurately, man, animal plant. As that tree had fallen, so she would have lost her roots in the good old earth. As the telephone wires of the prostrate pole had gone dead so the thrill would have cut off her nerves, everything beautiful, precious, vouchsafing, would have been denied her. She would have been void even of the precious privilege of pain.

The old Greeks used about the simplest, the philosopher, who had wanted to know how he looked when he was asleep, and had held a mirror before him and shut his eyes. But she had seen herself asleep on the screen, and now she had seen herself marching into her grave.

The vision was intolerable to her. It assailed her like a nightmare. It drove her frantic to make the most of life, to taste every one of its sweets, its bitters its gloomy shadows, each land of existence. To experience and to make others experience. She must be quick about it, for who could tell what moment would be the last? For the sake of other people she must live at full speed from now on, act many pictures, briskly, brilliantly, hurriedly, so that she should not waste a grain of the sand speeding through the hour glass.

As she watched the last of the takes her heart surged with anguish for that strange girl she was there, struggling against the wind, fighting her way out of a little inconvenience into destruction.

It seemed to her that she typified all girlkind, all womanhood, all humanhood, passion swept, love urged, braving obstacles, defying every restraint and stumbling on into the blackness into the lurking horror running blithely, blindly into the ambush that every path prepares.

She was consumed with impatience to begin a new picture at once, and to be very busy with life and love, beauty and delight.

And yet—there is always an "and yet." The yes follow in incessant procession, treading one another's heels.

And yet, when Tom Holby, after they had left the lot, asked her to ride with him for a bit of air and sweet her to the perfect opportunity of bliss, her soul balked.

He was handsome, brave, masculine, chivalrous, devoted. He had leaped into danger to save her out of it. He bore in his cheek a scar that would mar him for life, perhaps, as his badge of courage.

His big racing car, like a fleet stallion, had galloped them far from the eyes of witnesses into a sunset of colossal tenderness, with a sky flushed as delicately as a girl's cheek, yet as huge as a universe.

They sped along "the rim of the world" with desert on one side and the whole Pacific sea on the other. The world was below them for their observation and they were concealed by distance.

And yet, when Tom Holby told her he adored her and that she was adorable; when he courted her with deference and meekness and pleaded for a little kindness—her heart froze in her. She could not even accept a proffered bastinado.

She looked at him and thought—and said:

"Too many people love you, Tommy. You belong to the public, and you couldn't bring yourself down to really loving little me."

"Oh, but I could! I do!" he cried. "Damn my public! I don't care for anything but you."

She was not quite serious and not quite insincere when she answered:

"But I haven't had my public yet, and I love it. I want it. If I ever grow as tired of it as you have done of yours, then we might see each other. But just now the only love I can feel is acted love."

"Then let's have a rehearsal," he suggested, cynically. But she shook her head and laughed. She could not tell why she laughed, but, having tasted mirth, she decided that that was what she had chiefly missed in life and what she needed most.

Her home had been nearly devoid of gayety except of an infantile, ecclesiastical sort. Her father had been one of those who could never think of Christ as a warrior any smite but one of pity or forgiveness. A laughing, Messiah was an incredible horrible. And as her father's chief aim in life was to fill life with religion, hilarity with its inevitable skepticism had no part at home.

Since she had left her home on the most dismal of pilgrimages, Mem had given herself chiefly to the earnest, the passionate emotions.

And now she felt like a desert suddenly dreaming of rain.

"I want to laugh, Tommy," she cried. "Amuse me, make me laugh!"

But Holby was no wit. He had an abundance of wholesome fun in his nature, and he roared when he was tickled, but he was not a comedian, a humorist, or an inventor of gags material.

He shook his head and could not even think of a funny story, at least of none that he dared tell Mem.

He was as willing to escape from her in her present mood as he from him and he said:

"There's the new Charlie Chaplin on reels. We might get in."

"Let's try," said Mem. "I've just realized that what I'm really doing for is a good laugh, lots of good wild laughs at I don't care what."

Holby swung his car round and raced toward Los Angeles.

"Tommy," said Mem, "what is comedy? What is it that makes a thing funny?"

"Search me" said Holby "I don't know."

"Neither do I," Mem pondered "But I'm sick of all these crying scenes and emoting all over the place. I want to be a commedienne. Do you think I could be one?"

I don't think so," said Holby with scientific candor. "You never made me laugh. You don't have to."

No, but I'm going to. I think if I ever love anybody I'm sure to be a great comedian. Do you know any comedians who aren't married, Tommy?"

"Lots of 'em," said Holby. "A sense of humor keeps a man from getting married—or staying married long."

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

Copyright, 1922, by Harper & Bros.

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

By ANN LISLE

"BRAVO, Pussy!" cried Pat, and Phoebe with crimson cheeks hid her face on Neal's broad shoulder a n d finally realizing what a little ration she'd delivered.

Phoebe hid her face on Neal's shoulder

White Neal went into some business matters with Carlotta and Pat. I n s i n u a t e d stealing Phoebe and taking her over to my office where Neal could rest her as soon as he'd finished straightening out affairs.

"You'll let me see your office before Neal does?" cried Phoebe with a wife's pride. "Oh, Barbie, you're really treating me like a little sister."

This told me how Phoebe longed for the sister love Virginia is denying her. And it repaid me for the very sacrifice Phoebe suspected me of making. I was afraid Virginia might return to the office, and I wanted to get my little new sister away before a second hurt came to dim her honeymoon happiness. No, I had with a shuddered I knew Neal would approve.

"Bless your heart, Phoebe-kins, I'm enough of a feminist to like the idea of having the sister branch of the Hyland concern put one over on the brother side of the organization. And seeing my office ahead of Neal is nothing short of a triumph for the cause of woman-in-the-world of work.

Then I gave Neal a farewell hug, happy in his whispered

"You are a brick!"

So, with a farewell for Pat and a "see you later" for Carlotta, I seized Phoebe's hand and departed. But as we whisked across the main office and out through the corridor, I caught a glimpse of someone sitting in one of the small private offices at the further end of the corridor. I did not doubt it was Virginia. Probably she'd run to this room for shelter when she left Pat's private office. As the office form three sides of a square around the big main room this meant that no one save us two have seen Virginia. Probably even Pat didn't know that she was lurking—in hiding.

I wonder if Virginia had seen Phoebe and me and if she'd take it for granted that Neal had deserted for a moment it worried me. Then I decided that the whose thing was in the lap of the gods. For if Neal has a face-to-face encounter with Virginia, he can be relied upon to give a good account of himself.

"You're company—kind of a visiting lady you blessed little sister, you! I cried as we were traveling to my office. "So a tax, for ours in honor of the occasion."

Phoebe smiled wistfully, beguiled with the wonder of her happiness, responsive to every bit of love in the world.

She sat close to me during our drive to my office, shyly telling me how marvellous Neal is. I listened to her praises of my young brother, recapturing in her almost awestruck joy at the beauty of life, my own gasping wonder that a man like my Jim could live and—love me.

If I needed anything further to establish Phoebe in my affections it came when we reached my office. For her interest and admiration was further emphasized, by her gracious sweetness to drab little Miss May.

"So you're Anne's new partner," she said, holding out her hand with her mixture of shyness and graciousness. "I'm going to try hard to make a hit with you, Miss May, and to make you think I'm very efficient. For I've an idea that the care of our tiny apartment won't occupy all my time. And I'd rather fill my spare hours with work than with play. So if I can win over my husband and my big sister here—and I come to you appealing for a part-time job—I hope you'll be on my side."

"If you came here to help I'd work my fingers to the bone teaching you the business," declared Miss May, with sudden passion. "And the business is going won't we Mrs. Harrison?"

fore long that we'll need help, won't we, Mrs. Harrison?"

"I—don't know," I said slowly.

"Why, Babbie, wouldn't you give me a job if I wanted it? Don't you believe I'm a real person, and might be a better wife to Neal if I did something worth while to make me grow? asked Phoebe, looking around my office with vivid interest.

The telephone saved me the necessity of answering.

The call proved to be from Mabel Hyatt, who was already at the office and wanted to arrange to come straight to Carlotta instead of meeting me at my own Pat didn't know that she was lurking—no less—in hiding.

I wonder if Virginia had seen Phoebe and me and if she'd take it for granted that Neal had deserted for a moment it worried me. Then I decided that the whose thing was in the lap of the gods. For if Neal has a face-to-face encounter with Virginia, he can be relied upon to give a good account of himself.

"You're company—kind of a visiting lady you blessed little sister, you! I cried as we were traveling to my office. "So a tax, for ours in honor of the occasion."

Phoebe smiled wistfully, beguiled with the wonder of her happiness, responsive to every bit of love in the world.

She sat close to me during our drive to my office, shyly telling me how marvellous Neal is. I listened to her praises of my young brother, recapturing in her almost awestruck joy at the beauty of life, my own gasping wonder that a man like my Jim could live and—love me.

If I needed anything further to establish Phoebe in my affections it came when we reached my office. For her interest and admiration was further emphasized, by her gracious sweetness to drab little Miss May.

"So you're Anne's new partner," she said, holding out her hand with her mixture of shyness and graciousness. "I'm going to try hard to make a hit with you, Miss May, and to make you think I'm very efficient. For I've an idea that the care of our tiny apartment won't occupy all my time. And I'd rather fill my spare hours with work than with play. So if I can win over my husband and my big sister here—and I come to you appealing for a part-

Corns?

GETS THEM
—just say
Blue-jay to your druggist
Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

Free: "Foot Beauty" Booklet. Address Bauer & Black, Chicago, Dept. 98, for valuable book, "Correct Care of the Feet."

Olives Free for Recipes

New England housewives are requested to send in recipes for appetizing dishes made from green olives. A large bottle of big green queen olives will be sent each winner printed here. Address Olive Editor, Boston American 8, Boston, Mass.

Rice and Olive Croquettes

Half cup rice, half cup boiling water, one and one-half cups milk, one egg, beaten, half cup olives, half teaspoon salt, one and one-half cups white sauce, fine crumbs, one cup grated cheese. Place boiling water in double boiler, add rice and cook until water is absorbed, then add milk and cook until milk is absorbed, add salt and olives which have been coarsely chopped. Spread on plate to cool. Shape into croquettes, dip in crumbs, then in egg and crumbs. Fry in deep fat. Serve with white sauce, in which grated cheese has been melted.

MRS. J. M. GONZALEZ.
No 50 Playstead road, Newton, Mass.

Walnut and Olive Sandwich

One small bottle stuffed olives, chop half cup walnuts, parkaze cream cheese, two hard-boiled eggs. Blend all together with mayonaise dressing. Spread on bread or crackers.

No 44 Park Street, Lynn, Mass. EMMA PHANEUF

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Joke," Boston American.

Bushel of Children

"I've been married five years, and I've got a bushel of children."

"How's that?"

"My name is Peck. I've got four children. Don't four Pecks make a bushel?"

Alice Johnson, No 14 Avon street, Somerville, Mass

Smart Sayings of Clever Youngsters

The Boston American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston American.

Tired Hands

One day I was very busy washing knives. After an hour's struggle, I fell back and said: "Oh, how tired my hands are." My little son, on hearing my complaint, said: "Oh, ma, if your hands are tired, use mine."

HELEN DONOVAN.
No. 10 Cottage St., East Boston.

moment. Then he proved his complete faith in the older man.

"Horrors old chap." he said quietly, "I know how close you are to Virginia. She's one of the people who feel that you 'belong.' Even your tact and diplomacy can't steer you safely much longer through the twists and turns things have taken for us. So I just want to tell you that we've hurt Virginia—and for the present she's happier—sort of forgetting us."

Copyright, 1922 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

To Be Continued.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Boston American will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment in My Life" Address Embarrassing Moments, Boston American.

Scattered Apparel

I was greatly embarrassed one Saturday afternoon when the cover of my overpacked suitcase flew open and deposited the contents on the depot floor, where I had hurried to catch a train. I managed to dodge into the smoking room away from the smiles and jokes of the lookers on until train time.

L. C. F

Saving for Vacation

The Boston American will pay $1 for every letter published on "How I Am Saving Money for My Vacation." Writers should confine themselves to not more than 250 words. Address "Vacation Editor," Boston American.

Thrift Club

I belong to a thrift club in the bank and save fifty cents a week. When vacation comes you will have twenty-five dollars, and it is an easy way, besides it gives you the saving habit.

B.

DAILY SHORT STORY—GAMBLER CURED

By Frank H. Williams

THIS is the story of the way in which Jerry Henderson was cured of gambling.

Jerry was always in all games of chance. But he had a big night

Time after time Jerry lost.

—a wonderful one night—and upon this night hinges the story.

Time after time, up to the big night Jerry lost with unvarying consistency. But his faith in his eventual luck held supreme.

"Some day," Jerry would smile after digging into his jeans to settle a gambling loss, "I'll come into my own and then—watch me go! All this bad luck is going to change, just like that. I'll be the luckiest man in the world when my luck does change."

But time after time it continued to lose until—his big night came around.

It started out calmly enough with Jerry in a two-bit draw poker game. During the forepart of the evening Jerry lost regularly as usual.

Then Jerry picked up a hand, looked at it and smiled. He bet. The others thinking he was bluffing, raised back. Jerry raised again. Finally he was called.

"Eight in the middle!" cried Jerry, exultantly. "One card, the jack I wanted. Boys, here's a treat for you—heres a royal flush!"

He had it, too.

A look of triumph spread over Jerry's beaming countenance.

"Boys," he said, "this is my big night. My luck's changed at last. It's me for the biggest game in town."

En route to find the big game Jerry took on another drink or two—maybe. From all the people with whom he drank he secured information as to bar games. But on visiting each game in turn Jerry found none that was big enough.

Finally a man in confidence told him about a game where the bills on the table during each hand ranged up to the 5,000 and 10,000 figures.

"Me for it!" exclaimed Jerry, rather huskily.

When Jerry climbed the steps to the big money game he staggered quite a bit. The moonshine was doing its work.

But his glance cleared when he reached the gaming table. On the table were the 5,000 and 10,000 bills he'd been told about—a lot of them, too.

This was where had make his killing!

The game was poker. The first hand Jerry sat in brought him a full house on aces. The second hand won him the pot with a straight. The third hand he won with a single pair of nines.

Every hand in which he bet he won.

His luck certainly had changed. It was, indeed, his big night.

The stack of bills in front of him piled higher and higher. The room swam before him in a haze of tobacco smoke, dollar signs and bills.

Again and again he won.

From being the man who couldn't win he had suddenly become a man who couldn't lose.

The other players gazed at him in dumb amazement. It was uncanny, this marvelous, unceasing winning streak.

He must be hundreds of thousands of dollars ahead, Jerry thought—hundreds of thousands!

At the point he felt a hand on his shoulder. He turned to see his friend, Slim Montgomery, staring down at him.

"I'm rich—rich!" cried Jerry. "Look!"

He picked up a heap of bills and showed them to his friend. To Jerry's surprise a look of disgust came to Slim's face.

"Rich! Rot!" cried Slim. "I've come to take you home. You're wasting your time here!"

"Wasting my time?" demanded Jerry.

"Money," mumbled Jerry feebly, terror now clutching at his soul.

"German marks!" cried Slim. "German marks! Worth—nothing! If you weren't half seas over you'd have seen what they were. Now come home.

"Marks—" murmured Jerry. "Home!"

Suddenly he jumped to his feet. His face was absolutely white.

Society for over 75 years has refined upon Gouraud's Oriental Cream to keep the skin and complexion in perfect condition through the stress of the season's activities. Send 15c for Trial Size FERD. T. HOPKINS & SON, New York City

Gouraud's Oriental Cream

Household Hints

When separating the yolks from the whites of eggs a little of the yolk will sometimes slip into the white. To remove this drop a clean cloth into warm water and wring it dry. Touch the yolk with a point of the cloth and it will at once cling to it.

* * *

To clean candlesticks, whether silver or tin, fill the candlestick with boiling water. Without allowing it to stand for any time, pour off the water and thoroughly dry with a cloth. By this method both the color and substance of the candlesticks will be preserved.

* * *

To clean zinc, dip a piece of flannel in paraffin, and with it well rub the zinc. Then polish with a dry cloth. Zinc when cleaned then has washed in hot water and soap to remove the smell of the oil, polish with a dry cloth.

* * *

Four ounces of shelled nuts give as much protein as four ounces of meat, and more than double the food value. Where they are found difficult to digest, try putting them through a mincing machine or nut mill, for when finely ground they are more easily assimilated.

VACATION TIME

SUNBURN
MOSQUITO BITES
RED BUGS
CHIGGERS
POISON IVY

Don't let these things worry you; take along a bottle of

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil

It stops the itching, takes out the poison, heals the bites and kills the insects.

30c per Bottle.

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

Chinese Civilization

WHEN the people in Europe were going about dressed in skins, and using pieces of stone tied to sticks for tools and weapons, the Chinese were a skilful and highly cultivated nation with a literature already well defined.

Magazine Page

Rice at Weddings

THE custom of throwing rice at weddings comes from India, and is very old. Rice is the "staff of life" in that and many other countries, and to throw it over a newly wedded couple was one way of wishing them prosperity.

Landru—His Secret Love Affairs

First Authentic Story of French Bluebeard, Who Won 283 Women, Written By William Le Queux

By WILLIAM LE QUEUX
(Former Criminologist and Author of "The Fifth Finger," "The Four Faces," "Tracked by Wireless," etc.

HENRI LANDRU, the world's greatest love criminal, carried on his terrible affairs for years. Mme. Cuchet, one of his first victims, and her son, were lured to a villa at Vernouillet and burned to death.

Thus were all traces of his terrible crimes removed, and "the nest of love" left free for its next victim! The secret was Landru's alone.

How lightly it preyed upon his mind may be judged from the fact that one hour and a half later he was entertaining, at his flat in the Rue des Petits Champs, his latest conquest, Madame Labord-Line. She was a well-preserved widow, with a pleasant face and dark, wavy hair, whom he had met accidentally in the Rue de Rivoli, and whom he had promised to marry—but whom he intended to rob.

As they sat together at the dinner table, Landru behaved as the most devoted and perfect lover.

Surely, none would dream that Henri Cuchet—the name by which this fresh victim knew him—was the same ogre who had so brutally poisoned a woman and then brutally struck her down because she did not die quickly enough!

"I love you, my adored," he assured her as he held her hand in his while they sat over their after-dinner coffee.

"It is my greatest regret that I have lately been compelled to be absent from you so much. But soon—ah! very soon—you will be my wife, and then we shall be always together."

"I dream of this always. Though I have to travel for my business affairs I think ever of you—only you. Yet I wonder," he went on in that soft, musical voice he assumed when, ugly as he was, he fixed women with his deep, intense, snake-like eyes, "I wonder if you really love me half as much as I love you, my own darling."

"I swear I do," declared the woman firmly. She was a widow of experience, forty-seven years old, and her only value in Landru's eyes was that she had a considerable quantity of furniture at her flat. "I love you, my darling Henri," she added. "I love you with all my heart."

"Ah, my adored!" cried Landru, suddenly taking her passionately in his arms and kissing her fondly. "We love each other—nothing else matters."

The woman stood locked in Landru's arms—that embrace which was invariably fatal.

Monsieur Cuchet had, by careful questioning, discovered that his unsuspecting victim—"Bresil" he had nick-named her in his secret diary of death—possessed about ten thousand francs, which included some rather valuable share certificates, as well as her furniture. It was this money for which he was angling, and not her heart.

So despised her—as he did all women. Yet this arch-criminal could make such a pretence of ardent and undying affection that he caused the heads of over a hundred women to reel by his carefully-chosen phrases, his poetic similies, his love for flowers, for birds, and for nature. That was why he pretended to love the country.

That same evening that he had removed all the traces of poor, confiding Madame Cuchet and her entranped son, he suggested to his fiancee that she should store her furniture and give up her flat.

"I have a little villa out at Vernouillet," he said. "I have not spoken of it before, my sweetheart—my wife to be, because I hoped to have a little surprise in store for you. You do not look very well. I noticed it a week ago. Country air and quiet surroundings would, I feel sure, do you good. Why not run and visit me? We will be married in June. I have big contracts, and my affairs will be far more prosperous then. I shall furnish for you a nice apartment here in Paris and a villa out in the country. My little trou at Vernouillet is sufficient for my wants as a bachelor, of course, but it is too small, as you will see, because we should want to entertain our friends."

Thus persuaded, Madame Labord-Line, the well preserved, corbut conceited and unsuspecting widow, fell into the trap.

"Most excellent!" exclaimed Monsieur Cuchet enthusiastically. "I will call in the car for you tomorrow afternoon at three, and we will motor out there."

Then, after a kiss, they went out together, walking across the Place de l'Opera to the Grand Cafe, where for half an hour they sat listening to the orchestra. It was nearly midnight when he drove her in a taxi to her home just off the Avenue de Villiers when, after promising to call for her the next afternoon, he kissed her an affectionate bon soir.

Landru's bon soir spoken with his lips meant a death kiss.

Next morning, in order to prepare for the reception of his next victim, he bought some flowers—winter carnations—with some cold provisions from Felix Potin's, and drove out to Vernouillet.

He was engaged in arranging the carnations with long stalks upon the dining-table, whereat not so many hours before he had poisoned Madame Cuchet and her son, when there came a sudden ring at the door, and in surprise—for he did not welcome callers—he reluctantly opened it.

Upon the doorstep stood a tall dark-moustached man.

Such was the wonderful intuition of the criminal that in an instant he scented danger.

He held his breath, and for a second stood rigid as one turned to stone.

"Mieeur Diard," the stranger said, "I am a police officer. I have several questions to ask you."

THE STORY SO FAR

Landru's early life is described by M. Le Queux in the opening chapter of his story of the world's greatest love criminal. After years of petty swindling he turned his attention to victimising women, making love to them, getting control of their property, and then killing them. Mme. Cuchet was one of the first. Landru poisoned her and her son Andre in a villa rented with her money and set up a furnace to burn their bodies.

"I love you, my adored one!" said Landru to Mme. Labord-Line, just after killing Mme. Cuchet and her son and burning their bodies in his Villa of Mystery at Vernouillet.

CHAPTER III.

The Secret of "The Devil's Oven"

THE sudden and unwelcome appearance of the police officer upon the scene of the double crime startled Landru. Next second, however, he recovered himself. His self-possession was always marvellous.

"Yes; what do you want?" he asked, holding his breath, but outwardly betraying no concern.

"I am here to make an inquiry," gravely replied the tall man in uniform. "There have been complaints at the Prefecture. You have been burning something very obnoxious during the night. Monsieur Maurice, the butcher in the Rue de Mantes, says that while passing your house with his wife, on their way home at two o'clock in the morning, they saw thick black smoke coming from your chimney with a terrible smell of burning. I am here to investigate."

Landru laughed in the man's face.

"Your butcher friend must have been under some delusion!" he replied. "I have burned nothing. Come in and see. Come at once into the kitchen and satisfy yourself. I have not been awake at two o'clock in the morning, for, fortunately enough, I am a very sound sleeper."

"Two other people have complained—one a doctor from Triel, called to visit a patient in the Rue de Hameau," said the constable. "Hence my order to investigate."

"Quite so," laughed Landru with his usual bonhomie. "It is your duty to call. Well, you are certainly at liberty to look around. "Come in," and he took the officer to the scene of the tragedy, all traces of which had, of course, been obliterated.

Landru, with his wonderful air of cool nonchalance, completely disarmed any suspicions the constable might have entertained, for the latter, after glancing around the small kitchen, passed to the dining-room and there took a drink of wine from the very glass, a tall, thin tumbler, from which Madame Cuchet had swallowed the poison!

Though all the time Landru was highly alarmed that suspicion should have been aroused against him, he treated the village constable with the most careless nonchalance, apparently highly amused that the local doctor and the butcher should have believed they had seen smoke issuing from his kitchen chimney at an hour when he was fast asleep.

"Who else was here in the house?" asked the policeman as he sipped his wine—an excellent white wine of Anjou, which Landru usually kept.

"My wife, and my stepson Andre," was the assassin's unhesitating reply.

"And where are they? Perhaps they will confirm your statement. It would be better."

"They will, no doubt, if necessary. But they are both in Paris—visiting friends."

"When will they return?"

For a second Landru hesitated. That question was a poser. He saw that the apparently simple garde champetre—the rural French policeman—had received instructions from his brigadier to make more than a casual inquiry.

He had never dreamed that the smoke and consequent smell outside would attract anybody's attention in the dead of night!

The situation, he instantly realised, was one of grievous peril. Therefore he preserved that sphinx-like attitude which was his chief characteristic, and his deep-set eyes twinkled as he explained to his visitor that Madame Cuchet and her son had gone to visit her sister, and was staying the night with her.

"They will be back tomorrow, I expect," he added. "Then please come and see Madame Cuchet."

Landru, shrewd and quick-witted, wanted to gain time. He already had his excuses in readiness for the disappearance of the pair, but until next day he did not dare. It was to put it forward. If the police in Paris inquired of Madame Friedmann regarding her sister, she would simply that she had not seen her. In such case his intention was to explain that he had quarrelled with the woman Cuchet, who had taken her belongings and left him.

As soon as the police-officer had gone, the assassin returned to the little dining-room with its carved buffet and snatching up the fresh carnations he had been arranging for the benefit of his next victim, Madame Labord-Line, he carried them out into the garden and tossed them away. In view of his unexpected visitor it was, he saw, far too dangerous to invite his newest conquest down to Vernouillet; therefore, he entered his car and drove in all haste back to Neuilly. There he garaged the car, and taking a taxi, called upon the good-looking South American widow.

On greeting her, he bent and kissed her hand with exquisite politeness. Then he said:

"I am full of regret, my adored. Instead of taking you out to my little villa to-day, I have just learnt of some very sad news. A dear relative of mine was killed in the aircraft in Belleville last night and I am compelled to travel to Lyons to break the terrible news to his poor wife and family."

"How very dreadful!" exclaimed the widow. "I heard the bombs at about three o'clock this morning. They say that over twenty people were killed."

"Yes—and sixty others injured, poor things!" was her bearded lover's reply. "I am so extremely sorry to disappoint you, dearest, but, under the circumstances you will forgive me, will you not?" he asked, looking at her with that strange, intense gaze which few women could withstand.

"Of course, my dear heart," she replied as they stood together in each other's arms in her cosy, well-furnished little salon. "When will you return?"

"Ah! Alas! I cannot say. I may be away for a week—perhaps even more. But I will write to you." And after he had kissed her fondly and received her parrot-like vows of undying affection which were ever upon his lying lips—in those same terms of passionate endearment he used to dozens of other women—he left her and drove home to the bosom of his family, to whom his absence from home "on business" were so frequent that they were never mentioned.

Madame Landru, an honest, hard-working woman, of course, know nothing of her husband's love-nest. It was well-furnished little flat au troisieme in the Rue des Petits-Champs, or "The Ladies' Flat at Vernouillet, to one of the most picturesque parts of France.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

(Copyright, 1922, by William Le Queux.)

Life Career of the World's Greatest Love Criminal, as Shown by the Archives of the Paris Police traces of which had, of course, been obliterated.

Landru, with his wonderful air of cool nonchalance, completely disarmed any suspicions the constable might have entertained, for the latter, after glancing around the small kitchen, passed to the dining-room and there took a drink of wine from the very glass, a tall, thin tumbler, from which Madame Cuchet had swallowed the poison!

Though all the time Landru was highly alarmed that suspicion should have been aroused against him, he treated the village constable with the most careless nonchalance, apparently highly amused that the local doctor and the butcher should have believed they had seen smoke issuing from his kitchen chimney at an hour when he was fast asleep.

"Who else was here in the house?" asked the policeman as he sipped his wine—an excellent white wine of Anjou, which Landru usually kept.

"My wife, and my stepson Andre," was the assassin's unhesitating reply.

"And where are they? Perhaps they will confirm your statement. It would be better."

"They will, no doubt, if necessary. But they are both in Paris—visiting friends."

"When will they return?"

For a second Landru hesitated. That question was a poser. He saw that the apparently simple garde champetre—the rural French policeman—had received instructions from his brigadier to make more than a casual inquiry.

He had never dreamed that the smoke and consequent smell outside would attract anybody's attention in the dead of night!

The situation, he instantly realised, was one of grievous peril. Therefore he preserved that sphinx-like attitude which was his chief characteristic, and his deep-set eyes twinkled as he explained to his visitor that Madame Cuchet and her son had gone to visit her sister, and was staying the night with her.

"They will be back tomorrow, I expect," he added. "Then please come and see Madame Cuchet."

Landru, shrewd and quick-witted, wanted to gain time. He already had his excuses in readiness for the disappearance of the pair, but until next day he did not dare. It was to put it forward. If the police in Paris inquired of Madame Friedmann regarding her sister, she would simply that she had not seen her. In such case his intention was to explain that he had quarrelled with the woman Cuchet, who had taken her belongings and left him.

As soon as the police-officer had gone, the assassin returned to the little dining-room with its carved buffet and snatching up the fresh carnations he had been arranging for the benefit of his next victim, Madame Labord-Line, he carried them out into the garden and tossed them away. In view of his unexpected visitor it was, he saw, far too dangerous to invite his newest conquest down to Vernouillet; therefore, he entered his car and drove in all haste back to Neuilly. There he garaged the car, and taking a taxi, called upon the good-looking South American widow.

On greeting her, he bent and kissed her hand with exquisite politeness. Then he said:

"I am full of regret, my adored. Instead of taking you out to my little villa to-day, I have just learnt of some very sad news. A dear relative of mine was killed in the aircraft in Belleville last night and I am compelled to travel to Lyons to break the terrible news to his poor wife and family."

"How very dreadful!" exclaimed the widow. "I heard the bombs at about three o'clock this morning. They say that over twenty people were killed."

"Yes—and sixty others injured, poor things!" was her bearded lover's reply. "I am so extremely sorry to disappoint you, dearest, but, under the circumstances you will forgive me, will you not?" he asked, looking at her with that strange, intense gaze which few women could withstand.

"Of course, my dear heart," she replied as they stood together in each other's arms in her cosy, well-furnished little salon. "When will you return?"

"Ah! Alas! I cannot say. I may be away for a week—perhaps even more. But I will write to you." And after he had kissed her fondly and received her parrot-like vows of undying affection which were ever upon his lying lips—in those same terms of passionate endearment he used to dozens of other women—he left her and drove home to the bosom of his family, to whom his absence from home "on business" were so frequent that they were never mentioned.

Madame Landru, an honest, hard-working woman, of course, know nothing of her husband's love-nest. It was well-furnished little flat au troisieme in the Rue des Petits-Champs, or "The Ladies' Flat at Vernouillet, to one of the most picturesque parts of France.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

(Copyright, 1922, by William Le Queux.)

The Situation Saved

An eminent London judge, whose handwriting was very scrawly, once sent a note to a friend among the lawyers seated at the barristers' table. Not being able to make anything of it, the friend scribbled something equally undecipherable upon a half-sheet of notepaper and passed it up to the judge. The great man looked somewhat annoyed as he glanced at it; and when the court adjourned he asked his friend, "What do you mean by that? I invited you to come and dine with me tonight." "Yes," said the barrister, "and I replied that I would be delighted to do so."

Hopeless Prospect

The proud mother was showing off her son to a neighbor. "He grows more like his father every day," she said. The neighbor, being one of the boy's father's acquaintances, did not expand with appreciation. "Dear me," he said, "and have you tried everything?"

Easier for Her

Marcella—Gwendoline, the heiress has no incentive to fish for a husband.

Phyllis—No; she can buy one in the market.

Amusements.

LOEW'S STATE
PARASCHAIST TE AVE—CONTINUOUS 1 PM to 11 P.M.
AFTERNOONS 25¢ EVENINGS 35¢ & 50¢ (extra)
ETHEL CLAYTON
In "FOR THE DEFENSE"
IN ADDITION TO FRANK MAYO
In "OUT OF THE SILENT NORTH"
Latest Comedy, "SHORT WEIGHTS"
Featuring "Brownie," the Wonder Dog
PATHE AND LOCAL NEWS

ST. JAMES THEATRE, Mats. Daily Except Mon., Thurs., 2:15. Eves. 8:15
Featuring MONTAGU LOVE (in Person)
And All Star Cast in George Broadhurst's
"BOUGHT and PAID FOR"
NOT A MOTION PICTURE

BOSTON THEATRE Continuous
BROADWAY AT CONCLUSION—WELLS, VIRGINIA & WELLS, Novelty & Mirth; CLARENCE OLIVER & CO., Comedy Sketch; JOHN GELVEY, Dialogue & Songs; BUSTER KEATON in "My Wife's Relations."

NORUMBEGA PARK Wilson Ave. Newton
MAJESTIC LUNETTE'S RADIO BAND CONCERTS
FREE DANCING
Reservations for Theatre Cafe Canoes

LANCASTER THEATRE
BERT LYTELL "Sherlock Brown"
ALL-STAR CAST "The Ancient Law"

GORDON'S OLYMPIA Wm. Hodge's Stage Success "The Man From Home," Mr. & Mrs. Carter De Haven in "His Last Chance," Arthur Martel at Organ. Free Auto Parking.

GORDON'S GLOBE Continuous 1:30 to 10:30 Polly Ontaglio & Tom Brown in "Just Married." Also Gladys Leslie in "The Girl Next Door." Free Auto Parking.

Amusements

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
CONTINUOUS—9:15 A.M. to 10:30 P.M.
ROY STEWART in "THE SAGE BRUSH TRAIL"
BUSTER KEATON in "MY WIFE'S RELATIONS"
Walter Brooks & Co.; Harry Rose & Co.; Adams & Gardner; LaTorre & Mansfield; Montavio & Nye and Juan Adair & Co. Pathe News.

B. F. KEITH'S
Week of July 17 at 2 and 8.
The Season's Greatest Surprise
Seriously Funny
SPAGNOLETTI SISTERS
International Favorites, Duos of Violins and Harps
ELIZABETH BRICE—HARRIS & MANLEY—CAMPBELL, Jobs & Bride, Rellet Sisters, Hugh Herbert & Co., Gordon & Healy, John B. Hymer & Company.
EXTRA—KARYL NORMAN—EXTRA
"THE FAMOUS FASHION PLATE." All New Gowns

FENWAY PARK
TODAY AT 3:15
RED SOX vs. DETROIT
Seats at Shannon's, Phone Beach 1550

MODERN BEACON
A REAL FAMILY RESORT AT REVERE BEACH
OSCAR WILDE'S "A WOMAN OF NO IMPORTANCE"
BASIL KING'S "THE DUST FLOWER"
BUSTER KEATON in "His Wife's Relations"

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE
Continuous from 12:30
TOM MIX in "FOR BIG STAKES." BUSTER KEATON in "MY WIFE'S RELATIONS." Cecil Landon rot. Also "ONE MAN WITH TWO MOTHERS." 5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS.

GORDON'S GOLDEN GATE Continuous from 1 P.M.
Pretty Baton, Hilton Sisters & Mabel Hayden in "The Woman Who Walked Alone."

GORDON'S SCOLLAY SQUARE Continuous from 1 P.M.
Margaret Ford, Ray Hillie & Co., Eugene in "His Wife's Relations."

GORDON'S WASHINGTON Continuous from 1 P.M.
Screen-Comedy & Co., Willis Smith, Ringling & Dean, Wilson & Hill, Whitney's Dogs, Mabel Love & Co., Buster Keaton in "My Wife's Relations." Free Auto Parking.

Do You Know That—

All the cork used in the world in a year weighs little more than 1,200 tons.

* * *

Throughout the history of Japanese feminine dress the graceful lines of the kimono have prevailed almost unchanged.

* * *

The chief enemy of the fox raisers of Alaska is the eagle which swoops down on the pups as they sport about in the open.

* * *

Canada possesses nearly half the water-power of the world.

* * *

One curious remedy suggested for leprosy, a plague of the East, is eating pythons.

* * *

Beira, in Portuguese West Africa, is built on sand so deep that horses cannot travel on it. Merchandise and passengers are carried in trolleys running on rails and pushed by natives.

* * *

One of the highest mountains in Germany has been successfully ascended by an aeroplane, which landed on a small plateau fifty yards from the actual summit.

Advertisement

NEVER USE A FINE COMB KIL-VE IS A PREVENTIVE

It kills all vermin and the eggs or nits that cling to the hair. Its consistent use will keep your children safe from contracting vermin from other children. It is absolutely harmless, non-oily, non-sticky and doesn't interfere with growth or color of hair. Don't be ashamed to ask for it, at all drug stores—25c, 65c and $1.25.

SCHWARZ'S KIL-VE
DESTROYS VERMIN ON CHILDREN'S HEADS

Fresh From Paris—

Latest From Marie Suzanne

Paris, France.

VELVET, in a very thin quality, is one of the latest trimmings the French couturiers have devised. As in this instance, it is frequently combined with crepe de chine. This Paul Poiret frock is of gray crepe de chine with a great crepe-tined loop of black velvet making the front of the skirt. This is held at the girdle with a line of pale pink velvet roses.

THE Ballets Russes is a favorite haunt of silver tissus. One gown seen there had its bodice brought low over the skirt and arranged at the back in a great loop that developes into a tunic of varying length. Straps support the bodice over the shoulder.

FASHION FAD IN JEWELRY

—By Rita Stuyvesant—

THE new jewelry is most attractive. You are not in style this season unless you wear the long dangling earrings, slave bracelets and unusual bead girdles. And many smart costumes are made by the use of gay jewelry well chosen.

For instance, true distinction may be given to the brunette who chooses a frock of all white Canton crepe, and then adds a long string of glittering red beads, lipstick shade. Long earrings of the same shade bead charm, too. Or perhaps a flat wooden bead girdle to enhance the white gown. Any gay becoming shade may be selected.

A lovely frock of platinum gray crepe was a little dull until two flat French blue slave bracelets were worn on the upper arms, and large solid triangular earrings of the same beautiful blue swung from the ears.

Earrings, bracelets, girdles, strings of beads for the neck and novelty rings are offered in almost every conceivable color and combination. The influence of the Egyptians and Chinese is strongly felt in the design of this jewelry.

One shop shows the upper part of the earring separate from the drop, so that you may have several pairs of earrings with a single upper part. These earrings are inexpensive.

Imitation black jet jewelry is becoming to blondes or light complexioned brunettes. A frock of white with a jet girdle is attractive, and black earrings and bracelets too would be smart.

Lovely little cups are offered in bead work for dance wear. The fine beads are strung on wire, and a small cap is formed by crisscrossing the beads, leaving a two-inch square between them.

The flappers have taken to wearing a pretty colored jeweled barette in the side of the hair, and these too are shown in numerous colors to match one's frock. Oval, square and round barettes are used.

STARTING LIFE RIGHT

By Wm. A. McKeever

TEACH both your boy and your girl how to keep a simple book account of their own small business.

It is surprising how many men live by mere hit or miss methods. They know little of the relation of income to expense until their account gets into the "red" and some kind of trouble follows.

It is also distressing to observe the large number of otherwise good women who possess only a childish knowledge of their husbands' business, although the peace and security of the entire household may be dependent thereon.

Yet, it is a comparatively easy matter to train a boy and girl early to keep a day-book account of the small business transactions in which they are most directly interested, and so to teach them easily to manage their own affairs. In attempting this important lesson make the method simple, direct and free from technicalities. The daily form of account will prove easy of management and will become an interesting bit of reminiscence for the future.

A simple record will suffice to lead the boy into the habit of auditing his personal business affairs. There is one nice point in business psychology enveloped here. That is, if your child becomes watchful of his own transactions he will almost certainly desire to see the account grow in his favor and he will become a saver as well as a spender.

Also do not overlook your young daughter in this bookkeeping affair. For the girl to have her own small income and to record daily the items of her personal expense is certain to make her money wise in due time and perhaps to save her from somebody's money-mudsills. She, too, should have her regular dollar, with a regular weekly allowance for the same, and with the provision of a slow accumulating savings account.

The wise parent will fulfill with strict fidelity the business contract with his own child. In the practice of the method here named, [illegible] will give due written credit, to a regular savings account expended by the child out of his wages. Both parent and child will find keen pleasure in watching this investment grow.

A tan-cent notebook, ruled for debits and credits, with a pencil attached, and your child is ready to start with his business bookkeeping. Now, stay by him for a week or two until he acquires the habit, and you will thus add a permanent asset to his character.

Hot Weather Headaches

When you cool off suddenly and when you sleep in a draft, you get a Cold. The natural result is Headache, Neuralgia and Sore Muscles.

To Stop the Headache and Work off the Cold,

Take

Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING caused by the heat is quickly relieved by just one dose of Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets.

Does not contain any harmful or habit-forming drugs.

The box bears this signature E. W. Grove

Price 30c.

THE THIBMLE THEATRE

Registered U. S. Patent Office

Now Showing—"A Liberal Entertainer."

To-morrow—"A Radio Radiator."

HAMGRAVY IS THE CHEAPEST GUY IN THE WORLD
I'D LIKE TO GO PLACES - ICE CREAM PARLORS, SHOWS, ER I'D LIKE TO HAVE SOME FUN
GOSH HE'S TIGHT
EO, OLIVE OYL, OLD KID
HAMGRAVY I WISH YOUD TAKE ME SOME PLACE I WANT TO HAVE SOME FUN
ALL RIGHT - LET'S GO DOWN TO THE ICE CREAM PARLOR
JOY!
AND SPIN AROUND ON THE STOOLS
SEGAR

THEN THE FUN BEGAN

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

HELPFUL HENRY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

WHAT'S THE MATTER STEVE — STUCK?
YEH - GUESS I'LL HAVE TO BE TOWED IN TO TOWN - CAN YOU HELP ME?
ARNOT
SURE THING - THAT'S EASY
HEY HENRY - I'VE GOT A ROPE IF YOU HAVEN'T
NO, IT'S THIS ROAD MAP THAT I WAS LOOKING FOR I'M LOOKING FOR THE NEAREST GARAGE FOR YOU TO RING UP

Kabibble Kabaret

Copyright 1922 International Feature Service Inc.—Registered U S Patent Office

by HERSHFIELD

DEAR MR. KABIBBLE
I'M GOING TO DESERT MY WIFE - DO YOU THINK SHE'LL MISS ME?
NOT IF SHE AIMS CAREFULLY!

BRINGING UP FATHER

Registered U. S. Patent Office

DAILY IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN AND IN COLORS IN THE BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER

By Geo. McManus

OOH! THIS IS A DEAD TOWN. ALL I DO IS SLEEP TO KILL TIME.
WELL - HOW DO YOU EXPECT TO ENJOY IT IF YOU SLEEP?
OH! WHO IS THAT!
OH! ONE OF THE MANY GIRLS OF THE VILLAGE. THAT'S THE TENTH ONE TO PASS WHILE YOU WERE - ASLEEP!
JAMES! COME HERE!!
© 1922 BY INT'L FEATURE SERVICE, INC.
BRING ME SOME BLACK COFFEE AN' STAND BY ME TO SEE THAT I DON'T FALL ASLEEP AGIN!
YES SIR!
7-17

POLLY AND HER PALS

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

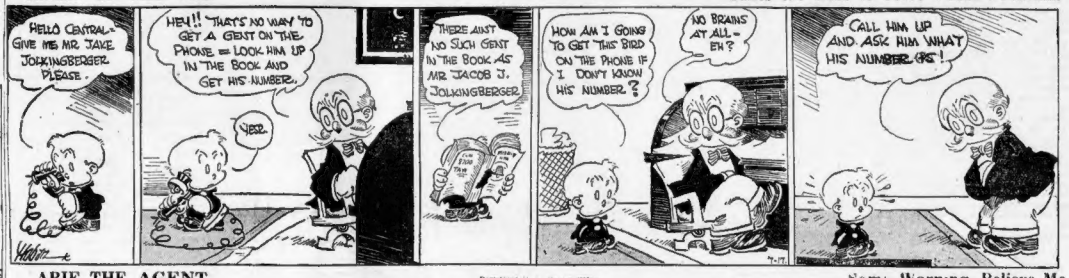
Getting Acquainted

HOW THEY BITIN', BROTHER?
GREAT! I KETCHED SIXTY BASS OUTTA HERE YISTERDAY!
PRIVATE PROPERTY POSITIVELY NO FISHING!
Y'KNOW WHO I AM? I'M THE PROPRIETOR OF THIS PLACE!
YEAH?
Y'KNOW WHO I AM?
NO! WHO ARE YOU?
I'M THE BIGGEST LIAR YOU EVER SEE, SON.
CLIFF STERRETT
July. 17.

JERRY ON THE JOB

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Takes the Boss to Solve These Problems

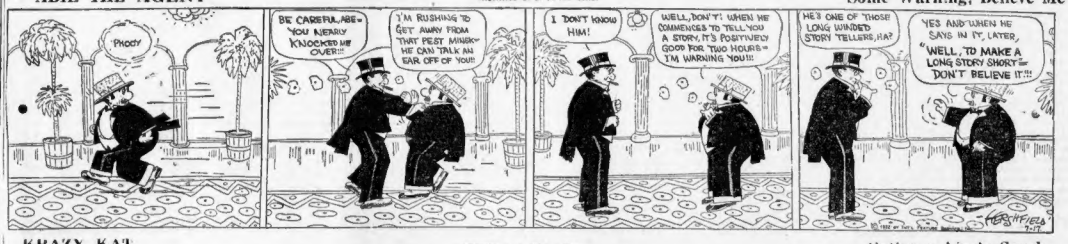


HELLO CENTRAL - GIVE ME MR. JAKE JOLKINGBERGER PLEASE.
HEY!! THAT'S NO WAY TO GET A GENT ON THE PHONE - LOOK HIM UP IN THE BOOK AND GET HIS NUMBER.
YESS.
THERE AIN'T NO SUCH GENT IN THE BOOK AS MR JACOB J. JOLKINGBERGER
HOW AM I GOING TO GET THIS BIRD ON THE PHONE IF I DON'T KNOW HIS NUMBER?
NO BRAINS AT ALL - EH?
CALL HIM UP AND ASK HIM WHAT HIS NUMBER IS!

ABIE THE AGENT

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Some Warning, Believe Me



PHOOEY
BE CAREFUL, ABE - YOU NEARLY KNOCKED ME OVER!!!
I'M RUSHING TO GET AWAY FROM THAT PEST MINUS - HE CAN TALK AN EAR OFF OF YOU!!
I DON'T KNOW HIM!
WELL, DON'T! WHEN HE COMMENCES TO TELL YOU A STORY, IT'S POSITIVELY GOOD FOR TWO HOURS - I'M WARNING YOU!!!
HE'S ONE OF THOSE LONG WINDED STORY TELLERS, HA?
YES AND WHEN HE SAYS IN IT, LATER, "WELL, TO MAKE A LONG STORY SHORT - DON'T BELIEVE IT!!!
HERSHFIELD

KRAZY KAT

Rather a Lively Spook

A GREAT SCIENTIST SAYS THAT US KATS HAS GOTTA ASTRAL BODY
HAVE YOU GOT ONE?
YOU BET. AND IT'S ALL WHITE - SO REMEMBA IF YOU SEE MY ASTRAL BODY SOMETIME TRYIN' TO MICE.
I SURE WILL.
OH-HOH - RIGHT AWAY HE PLANTS HIS INSIPID ASTRAL BODY AT ME - AND HERE'S WHERE I TREAT YOU NICE.
WAM !!
DAWGON DAST YO TOUSHES... CHAMPION OF MEEYOW ALLEY HEH ?
THE H & CLAW
I JUST FOUND OUT THAT ASTRAL BODY STUFF WAS ALL A FAITE, 'IGNATZ' - AIN'T IT AWFUL - HERRIMAN

US BOYS

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

You've Just Got to Sympathize With Shrimp

WHY DON'T YOU BOYS GO INTO MY CELLAR? - DONCHA SEE THE SIGN?
SURE WE SEE THE SIGN! - WE'VE BEEN READIN' IT FOR A HOUR!
JUST PUSH OPEN DOOR AND WALK IN SURE
WELL WHY DON'T YOU GO IN? - GEE WHIZZ, YOU CAN'T TELL WHAT'S IN THERE!
HUH?
JUST PUSH OPEN DOOR AND WALK IN
HUH?
GOSH, THAT'S OUR REASON FOR STAYIN' OUT!
SURE!
DARN IT, AFTER ALL MY TROUBLE, I WOULDN'T FEEL SO BAD IF THE BLAMED THING DIDN'T WORK, BUT IT DID!
7-17
GEO. McMANUS

MOVIE WORLD NEWS AND GOSSIP

By FRIEDA DAVIS.

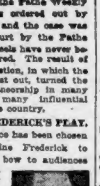
It begins to look as though Massachusetts would not come out as strongly in favor of censorship when the referendum vote comes next November as had seemed apparent. This State has been decidedly in favor of strict censoring of all films.

The decision handed down in the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court, upholding the New York Motion Picture Commission in the case against the Pathe News Reel has done much to soften the attitude of a number of prominent men of Massachusetts and is giving as a reason to change sides on the censorship question.

A release of the Pathe Weekly News Reel was ordered out by certain censors and the case was carried into court by the Pathe people. News reels have never before been censored. The result of the case in question, in which the Pathe people lost out, turned the tide against censorship in many quarters—and many influential quarters—of the country.

PAULINE FREDERICK'S PLAY.

At last a place has been chosen for Pauline Frederick to make her new bow to audiences over the foot-lights. "By Right of Conquest," by Michael Morgan and Peter Traill, will serve her for the coming season. Years ago Miss Frederick signed up for the movies when a number of stage celebrities were rushing pell-mell to the new Pauline Frederick industry. Miss Frederick, however, was enthusiastic even in She said that she intended to return to the stage some time, but that she felt she could learn much more from screen acting. As a matter of fact, she has improved immeasurably through her work in "Hans Bach: "Prelude in G Sharp Minor," Rachmaninoff; "German Waltz," Beethoven; "Waltz in A Flat," Brahms.



KDKA, EAST PITTSBURGH.

7:30.—Weekly Survey of Business Conditions. 8:00.—"Some Contributions of Chemistry to Preventative Dentistry," by Dr. C. C. Vogt, of the University of Pittsburgh. 9:00.—Concert by violinist, pianist and accompanist. Violin solo, "Preghiera," D'Auberge; "Marcella Mia," Valente; "Who Knows," D'Auria; 'O Sole Mio, Di Capua; Nasarene E. La Marca; "Scotch Poem," MacDowell; "Minuetto," Paderewski; "Scherzo Tarantella," Wieniawski; "Ave Maria," Percy B. Kahn; "Elegie," Youfesoft; "Arabesque," Wrangell; "Love Adieu," Stasante; "Molly on the Shore," Grainger.

"ON LOCATION" MEANS SOMETHING.

"Going on location" means something to the movie world these days. Time was when it was only necessary for a party of town for the day shooting scenes." Today it means nothing less than six months' trotting. When George Fitzmaurice filmed "The Man From Home" he took his company from Hollywood to London and then to France and Italy.

Now George Melford has taken his company to an island in the South Seas for a month to shoot scenes on his next production, "Ebb Tide," from a story by Robert Louis Stevenson. James Kirkwood and Lila Lee head the cast, which includes George Fawcett, Raymond Hatton, Jacqueline Logan and Noah Beery.

ZIEGFELD UNIT IN SIBERIA.

W. K. ZIEGFELD is beginning to discover that he has competition in his own family. His son, Henry, Jr., is working the movie field with a vengeance. He is at the head of a movie unit that is filming life in Siberia under the Soviet government.

Young Ziegfeld is a junior at Yale and is spending his summer vacation with this film outfit. They have been crossing Siberia by caravan, "shooting" as they go, and will photograph at first hand in undeveloped resources of that country and will show the present regime under the Soviets. This is the first company that has been able to go as far into the country.

WALTHALL FOR "GIMME"

Henry B. Walthall has been picked for the role of the husband of the dissatisfied wife in the next Rupert Hughes film, "Gimme," in which Helene Chadwick will be seen as the wife who was, before her marriage, financially independent, and who, after her marriage, must ask her husband for every cent she spends.

LOUISE FAZENDA SIGNS

Louise Fazenda, the famous comedienne, last seen in the Cosmopolitan production, "Tea Beauty Shop," has re-signed with Mack Sennett, in whose comedies she has won fame. What her first pie-hurling comedy will be is still undecided.

MAY JOIN INSPIRATION

Now that Lillian Gish has thrown her hat in the independent producing and starving ring, more than one movie director is asking for the privilege of distributing her pictures. At present it looks as though the Inspiration Corporation would back her as they have been doing for Richard Barthelmess, a former Griffith player.

This company has proved so successful in launching Barthelmess that they are considering taking on a few more stars. Miss Gish has been closeted with Charles Duell, head of that organization several times lately.

6 P. M. Baseball Bulletins Daily From Amrad

Beginning today the Amrad Radio Station, WGI, Medford Hillside, will broadcast at 6 p. m. a preliminary report on the major league baseball games furnished by the Boston American. This will be in addition to the complete final scores and the late news flashes furnished by the American, which will be broadcasted as in the past as soon as the reports of all games are in. The 6 o'clock broadcast will include the last minute returns from all the games, and will generally include the final score of the local game.

LATEST NEWS FLASHED BY RADIO

Plenty of singing will feature the radio program this evening from the Amrad Station at Medford.

AMRDA, WGI, MEDFORD.

7:30—"The Family Circle."

7:45—Late news flashes and final baseball scores, Boston American.

7:55—Weekly Business Message.

8:00—"The Four Fold Function of the Financier," by Professor Albert Church Lane, Ph. D., Sc. D.

8:15—Carrie W. Dean, soprano, accompanied by Louis Wood-Perrot. "Awake My Heart to Gladness," Densmore; "A Little Bit o' Honey," Rond; "My Laddie," Thayer.

8:30—F. J. McCarthy, baritone, accompanied by Elizabeth F. McCarthy; "Tommy-Lad," Margetson; "A Dream," Bartlett; "Your Eyes Have Told Me So," Penn.

WJZ, NEWARK.

8:00—Business and industrial conditions in the United States. 7:00—Stories for children. 7:30—"Round the World Trips." 8:00—Concert. 9:30—Musical program by the Van Olinda sisters. Violin solos: "Meditation from Thais," Massinet; "Lontre' Danse No. 1," Beethoven. Zeis: "Liebestreud," Kreisler; "Serenade," Shubert; ballet music from Rosamunde, Shubert-Kreisler; "Broken Melody," von Biene; "On Wings of Song," Mendelssohn; "Hejre Kati," Hubay; piano solos, "Music Box," "Hans Bach: "Prelude in G Sharp Minor," Rachmaninoff; "German Waltz," Beethoven; "Waltz in A Flat," Brahms.

Question Box for Radio Fans

T. H. C., Cambridge—The approximate cost of the simplified superregenerative circuit would be as follows: Loose-coupler, $7; two amplifying tubes, $6.50 each; two variable condensers, $5 each; two rheostats, $1.50; two fixed condensers, 70 cents; C battery, 50 cents; phones, $5; wire, $1. Total $38.70.

F. N. W., Boston—If your B battery was properly connected with out any short, it would not be exhausted if the filament was not lighted. When the filament is cold, there is no flow of electrons from the filament lights, it is unlikely that your tube is out of order, as the filament is, generally speaking, the most fragile part of the tube. The 22½-volt battery will certainly not burn out the plate, although it might damage the filament if used in place of the six-volt storage battery.

J. K., Brookline—The loop antenna is said to be more directional when one end is grounded, and the other end connected to a tuning coil as with an ordinary antenna. There is no real advantage in doing this, especially as it requires the use of an additional coil.

M. R. L., Palmer—Marconi's "searchlight" antenna is practically a parabolic mirror, similar to those used on auto lights, with parallel vertical bars inseat of a glass. The transmitter or receiver is located where the bulb is located in the light.

USES HANDKERCHIEF AS SUICIDE NOOSE

Union Hill, N. J., July 17.—Henry Gayer used a pocket handkerchief to commit suicide. Gayer had been ill for some time. When his wife went to call him for breakfast she found his body hanging to the hings of the bedroom door.

SAY MOTHERS TAUGHT GIRLS SHOPLIFTING

New York, July 17.—Charged with shoplifting with the aid of their young daughters, Mrs. Lena Frankel and Mrs. Anna Schmidt were fined $100 and $50. Mrs. Frankel's daughter had stolen $10 in jewelry which the mother secreted in her bosom.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

MALE HELP WANTED

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

REAL ESTATE—SWAMPSCOTT

Tahanto Pocasset

LOTS on Fatmouth State road, 1 mile beyond Monument Beach, facing main highway, 80 ft. frontage, 200 ft. deep; $300 and up. Handsome Mission attractive bungalows ready for occupancy. Access on ground daily and Sunday. BROWN & STACKPOLE, 101 Tremont st., Boston. Tel. Main 3131.

REAL ESTATE—CAMBRIDGE

2 FAMILY HOUSES in the section of Massachusetts ave. and Harvard sq., Cambridge, to be sold at reasonable price. CONWAY, 1260 Massachusetts ave., Cambridge.

NEW 2-family house, 6 and 6 rooms, tiled bath, fireplace, steam heat, electric lights, front and rear entrances; reasonable terms. CHARLES F. HURLEY, 671 Massachusetts ave., Arlington. Tel. Arlington 471.

FOR SALE—Cambridge, near Central sq., 2 family house, 12 rooms; price $8,500. For other particulars call University 3018, A. M. STEWART & CO.

4 FAMILY house, rents $1,200; price $9,000; investment for workingman. JOHN T. SCULLY, 1500 Mass. av., Cambridge; University 3013-M.

ARLINGTON—CAMBRIDGE.

Choice selection of excellent homes. D. FRANK ELLIS, 1507 Mass. av., Sq. Cam.

NEAR HARVARD SQ.—2-family house, 4-5 rooms, improvements $4,000. Call University 0479-J.

REAL ESTATE—DORCHESTER

DORCHESTER—Nice home of 9 rooms and sun parlor; 83 Steplen st., After 5 p. m.

APARTMENTS—EVERETT

4 ROOMS, all improvements, electric lights, $25 month. 701 Dorchester 8275-W, or call 90 Webb st., Everett.

REAL ESTATE—WAKEFIELD

5,000 FEET OF LAND—$75

$10.00 DOWN—$5 MONTH.

Wakefield-Reading line. Fair ground—boating and bathing. Boston Queensborough to Wakefield, the finest will take you to the fair ground. MONTVIDA, 23 Devonshire st., Boston, tel. Congress 2497 or Crystal 700-R.

REAL ESTATE—WINTHROP

Winthrop Highl'ds Real Estate

FOR SALE—Single, two, three and four apartment houses. Land, Furnished Summer cottages, apartments. Room registry near water and station. Shore Road, Cor. Grover av. Hutchinson st.; Ocean 1440; near Bothwell.

Furnished Rooms

FUR. ROOMS—MISCELLANEOUS.

HOTEL WASHINGTON

1020 WASHINGTON ST.; 250 rooms, 150 have baths; rates $1.50 up; weekly, $7 up; also suites, 3 and 4 rooms; for tourists and permanent guests. Tel. Back Bay 2700.

FURNISHED ROOMS—BACK BAY

BOYLSTON AVE., 625—Large room with or without kitchenette; also side room; continuous hot water; 2 baths. Boylston Garage 1st. Look Bay 2770.

1-2-3 ROOMS convenient for traveling men who appreciate home comfort; steamer, electricity, janitor service; weekly, $3.50-$10.00.

FURNISHED ROOMS—CAMBRIDGE

BROADWAY, 278—Newly furnished room with kitchenette; University 0196-R.

2 HOUSEKEEPING rooms, 1 bedroom from Central square, Cambridge. Tel. 2260 E.

FURNISHED ROOMS—EAST BOSTON

WEBSTER ST., 117—Furn. rooms for light housekeeping; also single beds; bath.

FURNISHED ROOMS—REVERE

OAK ISLAND, Revere—2 housekeeping rooms, $5 week; 1 room, $3 week; bath.

FURNISHED ROOMS—ROSLINDALE

FURNISHED room and kitchenette, 47 University st., Roslindale. Tel. 2490-J.

FURNISHED ROOMS—SOUTH BOSTON

FOUNTAIN ST., 9—2 furnished rooms for housekeeping; all improvements; steam heat.

HARRISON AVE., 415—Front room with 2 other rooms; housekeeping if desired. Tel. Beach 2779-M.

WARREN ST., 239—2 furnished housekeeping rooms; $3.50 week. Tel. Beach 2349-W.

FURNISHED ROOMS—SOUTH END

BOYLSTON ST., 625—Large room with or without kitchenette; also side room; continuous hot water; 2 baths. Boylston Garage 1st. Look Bay 2770.

DILLAWAY ST., 7—Of Hollis; large housekeeping room; 1st floor; also single room; 1 flight.

FARNSWORTH ST., 190—Room with board $7 week; single rooms $3 up week; men only.

TREMONT ST., 636-658—2-room suite; private bath; kitchenette; also room newly renovated; best accommodations; con.

WEST NEWTON ST., 37—Homelike, Every room a front; 2 baths, 2 toilets; 2 sinks. Most quiet location in every room. Private baths. Gentlemen only. Tel. Back Bay 2700.

NEW YORK HOUSE, 47 Hollis st.; exchange references. H. J. MARLOW, 465 Main st.

3 ROOM SUITES, for, or unfur., housekeeping; also 3a., 4th., 727 Tremont st.

APARTMENTS—ROXBURY

4 ROOM flat; gas, toilet; $15 per month. CHAS. ROSE, 30 Dale st., Boston. Main 4174.

APARTMENTS—ROXBURY

TERRACE ST., 138—4 rooms and toilet; $17 per month. Apply to MacLEAN, 218 Roxbury st.

7 ROOMS, steam heat, janitor service, $35 month; 5 rooms, $25 month; 4 rooms, $20 month. Inquire 2000W.

HUMBOLDT AV., 76—Sic rooms, steam heat; all improvements; $50. Tel. Roxbury 1705-W.

2 ROOMS; use of electrics from Corporate. Suite 2, 269 Humboldt av., Roxbury.

HAMMOND ST., Hotel Grove, 2 rooms from Northampton st.; $12 week. Tel. 2119.

ICE CHESTS AND STORE FIXTURES

For Grocers, Markets, Restaurants

Whitman Co.—Sullivan Sq.

INFORMATION WANTED

HM, please write or call. S. T. MORTLOCK, Den. Del. Nantasket.

Advertise Your Wants in the Boston American

Tel. 5180 Main

BOSTON AMERICAN

Published daily (except Sunday), 80-90 Summer st., Boston, Mass. HEARST NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Boston, Mass. Also at the Postoffice, Providence, Rhode Island.

Domestic rates (Subscription by Mail, Postage Paid), One Month, 50c; Six Months, $3; One Year, $6. Foreign Rates: One Month, $1; Six Months, $5; One Year, $10. One cent extra per copy in the Boston Postal Zone. Subscriptions payable strictly in advance.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

WANTED

High Tension Linemen and Switchboard Operators

Permanent Positions

To Take Places of Men on Strike

Between New Haven and New York

Rate 70c Per Hour

Apply to R. D. FITZMAURICE

General Superintendent

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad

Room 446, South Station, Boston

New Haven Railroad

Men Wanted

Permanent Positions

Blacksmiths, Welders (elec. and oxy-acetylene), 70-80c per hour.

Machinists, Boilermakers, Pipe Fitters, Upholsterers, Tinsmiths, 70c per hour.

Air Brake Men, Carpenters, 63-70c per hour.

Experienced Helpers, 47c per hour.

Track Men, 35c per hour.

ROOM 479

South Station, Boston

Open 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

To Take the Places of Men on Strike

Boston & Maine Railroad

Signal Men Wanted

Men having knowledge of both electrical and mechanical signal maintenance—70 cents per hour.

To Take the Places of Men on Strike

Permanent positions for competent men whose work is satisfactory.

Apply to Room 215 Old Fitchburg Station, Boston

Boston & Maine Railroad

MEN WANTED

Permanent positions for competent men whose work is satisfactory as Machinists, Boilermakers, Blacksmiths, Coach Repairmen—70 cents per hour.

Car Inspectors, Carpenters—63 cents per hour.

APPLY TO

Room 309

North Station, Boston

Between 7 A. M. and 11 P. M.

To Take the Places of Men on Strike

LINEMEN WANTED

Permanent positions for competent linemen whose work is satisfactory in the maintenance and reconstruction of telephone and signal lines. Six days per week.

To take places of men who refuse to work for rate awarded by United States Railroad Labor Board. This strike is threatened by the United States Government and not against the railroads.

Apply 8:00 a. m. to 4 p. m., Room 419, South Station, Boston.

WANTED—Three neat appearing men to represent a large manufacturer of food products, toilet preparations, drug sundries, etc. Permanent position. If $35 per week will appeal to you, call between 9-12 and 4-8 daily. Apply 12 Cornhill st., room 806.

SALESMEN

MEN for special outside work; selling experience not necessary; you work with a partner; $40 to $60 per week to start. GARNER & CO., 31 Union Park st., Boston.

CHAUFFEURS' COURSE, $14; 7 lessons $5. Learn chauffeuring-ignition courses. See us before you buy. Call 1-3 P. M. 1-3 Warren st.

WANTED—Brick mason and carpenter; steady work; $1.125 per hour; 8 hours; Sat. and overtime; transportation paid to job; also laborers; 44½ cents per hour; 44 per week. Apply to CASPER RANGER CONSTRUCTION CO., 201 Devonshire st.

MALE HELP—MISCELLANEOUS

7 AUTO LESSONS $5

FULL CHAUFFEURS' COURSE IS ACTUAL ROAD INSTRUCTION. Garage Attendant st., near Arlington st., open 9 to 9. Tel. Beach 2000.

MEN for messengers, freshmen, $15-$20 a week; railroads ground; Boston; no strike. RAILWAY ASSOCIATION, Desk 507, Brown.

MEN for messengers, freshmen, $15-$20 a week; railroads ground; Boston; no strike. RAILWAY ASSOCIATION, Desk 507, Brown.

AGENTS, CANVASSERS, SALESMEN

SALESMEN—Write for list of lines and full particulars; earn $2,500 to $10,000 yearly; no delay; demand for men; fascinating work; exclusive territory; unrestricted. SALESMANSHIP CLUB, Adams House, Desk 1000, Chicago.

DANCING

Wm. H. O'Brien Private Classes Daily 9 A.M.—11 P.M. Class Every Night and Summer 286 Mass. Ave. Cor. Boylston Boylston Mon., Wed., Fri. and Sat. "ROSELAND"

PROF. LERNER 3404 BACK BAY. 3405

PRIVATE INSTRUCTION—Guarantee modern dances in 10 private lessons; new method, 772 pa. Bldg., Tremont st. Studio open daily and evenings. Lessons any time. Open all summer.

MUSICAL GUMEDY DANCING!

Private lessons by appointment. Class every Monday night and Saturday afternoon. PROF. LESLIE, 2404 Mass. av., E. B. 2838.

HIGGINS ACADEMY, 1859—Select all-sum-mer dances, classes, social; est. 176 Tremont st.

DIAMONDS, WATCHES & JEWELRY

$1 DOWN. DIAMONDS and WATCHES. $1 WEEK. Large stock, lowest prices. H. BURKE & CO., 3 Bromfield st.

ALSTERLUND Pays Cash

Diamonds, Old Gold, Silver, Platinum. Pawn Tickets Bought, Sold or Exchanged. 21 Winter st.

WATCHES, DIAMONDS OR CREDIT WATCH repairing, manufacturing. Open Wednesday & Saturday evenings. 37 Temple st., 3d floor, Opera Building.

CASH paid for diamonds and gold, silver, platinum, old false teeth, bridgework. 24 The Gorham Co., 2 Winter st., Room 24.

LOST AND FOUND.

$100 REWARD

FOR return of, or for information leading to recovery of Ford touring car, stolen on Tremont st., July 12, between 9 and 10:30 p. m.; No. 2,946,977. DR. J. L. WEENE, 92 Main st., Somerville. tel. 6084 Somerville.

CLOTHING

MENS 485 SUITS $6.98. WOLF SUITS & CO., 2078 Washington St.

CASH REGISTERS

National Cash Registers

RESCUED, bought and sold. C. T. KNIGHT, INC., 19 Bluxome st., Richmond 8288.

TRAVEL GUIDE

BOSTON TO BATH Cedar Grove and Gardiner, Me., and Other Kennebec River Points

Boothbay Harbor and the Islands

Passenger and Freight Service Ice Hunting Mon., Wed., Fri., and Sat. P. M.

We carry your car to Maine at less cost than driving.

Kennebec Navigation Co., Fish's Wharf, Boston. Rob 4613

NEW YORK $5.19

Via Rail and Boat

Outside rooms with running water for $1.50.

Latest connecting train from So. Station 8:10, daylight saving time. Steamer leaves Providence 2 P. M.

COLONIAL LINE 196 Wash. St., Boston Phone Oxng. 2784

BAY STATE LINE NEW YORK $4.25

Via Rail & Boat

STATEROOMS, $3.50, $3.85 and $5.00. Steel Steamships Georgia and Tennessee Leave Providence, 5 P. M., Standard time. Tickets and staterooms at South Station, Back Bay and Consolidated Ticket Office.

PIANOS & MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

UPRIGHT PIANOS

$25 $50 $85

as low as

$5 down $1 weekly

88-note player $175

55 rolls music free

New pianos half price

Best Piano Bargains in Boston

Used Chickering Uprights, $95, $98, $78; Hallet & Davis, Stadivary, Vose, Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and many others, $78 to $150. General new pianos $195, $218 and up. Biggest warerooms in New England. A visit to my place will surprise you.

J. P. COLLINS

100 Summer Street, Boston Largest piano dealer in the world

NORRIS 181 TREMONT ST.

AUTOPIANO

CONSIDERED the best player piano made! Mahogany, fumed oak, or walnut. Time to wear out and look, perfect music trucking device. Send for catalogue. Sold only by NORRIS, 181 Tremont st. We are Boston's Exclusive Dealers.

WE OFFER 50 used upright pianos, standard makes, $10 to $50; 20 player pianos, $50; now is the time to make a saving; no interest or carrying charges. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st.; all makes to rent. Warerooms open evenings.

KRAKAUER & BAUER, dealer in Apollo, Melville Clark and Kranich & Bach player pianos; also 50 other high class player pianos; you will be pleased to call at the Krakauer & Bauer Steinert grands are specialty.

USED PIANOS, $10 up; guaranteed, $50 up; $10 down, $2 per week. Open evenings. 1000 Washington st., Boston.

MISCELLANEOUS

Bed Bug Menace

Bed bugs here, bed bugs there, bed bugs everywhere. These little reds are dangerous. Of all the Reindeer-vilus we've heard these "reds" are decidedly the most dangerous. take my word; Together let us fight these pests. Protect your home from our hosts. Martin's Pest Powder will do you good. It will drag and department stores sell $1.25, 65c and $1.50 by mail Eleven different powders. Name kind wanted. Martin's Pest Powder Co., Somerville, Mass.

WALTHAM CHEMICAL CO.

WALTHAM, MASS.

BOARD AND ROOMS

HOME and board for students or young business man, $11 week. Tel. Jamaica 2211-M.

STORAGE

HUB STORAGE WAREHOUSE 600 Harrison ave. Tel. Beach 1000. Packing & moving. Estimates furnished and booked.

MOTOR CYCLES AND BICYCLES

NEW bicycles, $22 up; 3ds, $10 up. BOSTON CYCLE CO., 18 Warren av., open eves.

MAIL ORDER—PARCEL POST

ELECTRIC STOVES and lamps. REMORY, 1220 N. 13th st., Phila. Pa.

SEWING MACHINES

SEWING machines sold and repaired, good as new, $6. 86A Somerville av.

FURNITURE

BABY carriage sold on the dollar. BACK BAY FURNITURE CO., Brookline Village. 3331-M.

OFFICE FURNITURE

RANGES in Dusk, Cabin and Chair. A. E. PEARSON, 140 Canton st.

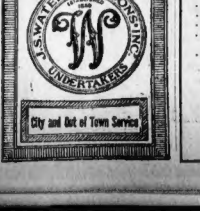
WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Used Gillette and Gem blades. 241 Friend st., Boston.

DEATHS

IRWIN—In Arlington, July 15, Louisa Irwin, aged 77 years.

Funeral Monday at 2 P. M. from the residence of her brother, Dennis W. Kelleher, 979 Charles st., Malden. Time of funeral later.



Automobile Exchange

NEW and USED CAR DEPTS. Open Evenings

Oakland

NEW and USED CAR DEPTS. Open Evenings

OAKLAND COMES BACK STRONG!!

New 6-44 Model, Finest Automobile Yet Produced by the Oakland Motor Co.

Let us demonstrate to you all that we claim for this remarkable, light-weight, economical car.

YOUR VACATION! HOW WILL YOU SPEND IT?

Come and see us and let us explain how remarkably easy it is for you to obtain a good, reliable, light-weight, economical car with which you and your family can enjoy the pleasures of motoring to the country and seashore during your vacation, as well as on week-ends and holidays throughout the year.

If you do not wish to invest the amount necessary to obtain a new car, you can secure delivery of any of the following cars with a very small amount down and on exceedingly easy terms for the balance.

1922 Oakland Touring 6-44, Latest Model
This car has not been driven 2000 miles—used only as a demonstrator.

1921 Oakland Touring
Refinished, new tires.

1921 Oakland Sedan
Overhauled, repainted; an excellent family car.

1920 Oakland Sedan
Refinished, first-class condition

1920 Oakland Roadster
Used as demonstrator.

1919 Oakland Touring
1918 Oakland Roadster

1918 Oakland Touring
1917 Oakland Touring

Many other open and closed cars from $100 up, mostly overhauled and repainted, ready to drive away.

Why Waste Money on Repair Bills?

When by trading in your present automobile as your first cash payment you can take delivery of a later model, overhauled and refinished. The satisfaction and economy of running a car that will give you the best return without mishaps and continual expense is yours by coming to see us and letting us show you how.

OPEN EVERY EVENING THIS WEEK

For the convenience of those who cannot come to see these values during business hours.

Please us and let us send one of our cars to bring you to our salesroom

DUNBAR SANDERS INC.

655 Beacon St. Tel. Back Bay 8220

TONIGHT

COME UP and look over our stock of new and used cars. "Ready to Go." A small payment, ordinary payments to suit. Don't stay home all the time; drive around and get out in the fresh air once in a while. You can have in your present car in a few minutes. Open every night and Sunday. DUNBAR BLOOMFIELD CO., 1000 Washington st., Boston.

Trade In Your Old Car

FOR ONE of our fine new or used cars; small cash payment if necessary; take care of balance; convenient terms. Open every evening. OLDSMOBILE SALES, 1040 Commonwealth av.

FORD SEDAN, 1921

FINE condition, paint and tires good as new, $375. 1 mile from Lake. BART MILTON GARAGE, Milton.

1918 PAIGE, $500

VERY clean and in good condition. Tel. Weymouth 1124-J.

For Sale or Exchange

PIERCE ARROW Roadster, body in good condition. Tel. Jamaica 0487.

SAXON SEDAN

6 CYL., EXCELLENT CONDITION. $400 CASH. 1 MILE FROM LAKE. PHAR. WORDEN, 113 GREEN ST., JAMAICA PLAIN. PHONE JA-maica 0336.

OVERLAND

1918, CHEAP for cash. Jamaica 568.

GYPSY back curtains for Fords, $4.50; 1920 R. F. D. Rural Free Delivery Mail Boxes, $3.50. BANCROFT, 224 Columbus av., Boston.

TRAILERS—Ford and horse cars, sales, storage, rentals. BOSTON TRAILER CO., 36 Rose-field st.

TRAILERS

ALL SIZES, small payment down, balance monthly. BOSTON TRAILER CO., 36 Rosefield st.

TAKEN for debt: 1917 Cadillac sport touring car; $600; 1st class condition; to be seen at 78 Bennett st., Somerville. DON-NELLY, the Barrel Man. Tel. Som. 1264 M.

MAXWELL touring, good condition, $225. Call Milton 1813-M.

PATENTS

OUR PRACTICE has extended over a period of 17 years, all communications strictly confidential. Prompt, efficient, conscientious. Hand book free on request. MUNN CO., PATENT ATTORNEYS, New York Office, 661 Woolworth Bldg. Washington Office, 625 F st. Scientific American Office, 604 Hobart Bldg., San Francisco Office, Hobart Bldg.

WALL PAPER

50,000 ROLLS

WALL PAPER

MUST be moved; 1922 patterns; sample, few older; chance for property owners who appreciate it. E. J. HICKEY & CO., 180 Friend st., 2 minutes from North station, Union or Haymarket.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

STUDY MEDICINE EVENINGS

Accredited afternoon and evening courses, leading to B. S. and M. D. degrees. Work may be taken through school.

CHICAGO MEDICAL SCHOOL, 3851 Ellsdale Avenue, CHICAGO

LEGAL AND PUBLIC NOTICE

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE AL COREY

Notary Public. Always home. 44 Cortez st., near 210 Columbus av.; phone Dewey 2316-J. NOW

What School?

A Service to Help You Choose

THE Information Bureaus of the Boston Sunday Advertiser will be glad to help you settle this question satisfactorily. From them you may secure, without any cost, complete and reliable information. Use the coupon below.

INTERNATIONAL BUREAUS
HOTELS, RESORTS, TRAVEL AND EDUCATIONAL
NEW YORK, BROOKLYN, BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA, CHICAGO, SAN FRANCISCO, LOS ANGELES, SEATTLE, PORTLAND, OREGON, MINNEAPOLIS, ATLANTA

Boston Sunday Advertiser, 80 Summer St., Boston

Please check below the kind of school desired, and indicate in space following preferences as to location, religious denomination, etc.

- Accountancy School
- Advertising School
- Architectural and Mechanical Drawing School
- Art School
- Automobile School
- Business College
- Catholic School for Boys
- Civil Service School
- Comptometer School
- Dancing School
- Domestic Science School
- Drawing School
- Dressmaking School
- Electrical School
- Elocution, Oratory and Dramatic Art
- Engineering School
- Fashion Drawing School
- Garment Designing School
- Girls' Finishing or Finishing School
- Hair Dressing School
- Interior Decorating School
- Language School
- Law School
- Millinery School
- Motion Picture School
- Music Conservatory
- Nautical School
- School of Salesmanship
- School of Stammerers
- Technical School
- Telegraph School
- Trade School
- Vocal Training
- Wireless School

Your Name .....
Prospective Student's Name .....
Street Address .....
City ..... State .....
When Student Plans to Enter .....
Remarks .....

Buildings best safeguarded against fire, reflect credit for the owners as well as the city.—Alfred Davenport, president Board of Fire Underwriters.

BOSTON AMERICAN

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—July 17, 1922

Boston's latitude is similar to that of Detroit and the southern boundary of Oregon, also Rome (Italy) and Sofia (Bulgaria).

Fitzgerald's Circular

Shows Startling Figures on Political Conditions and Non-Voters in the State

John F. Fitzgerald has sent a circular out to the Democrats in the State. While it is in behalf of his candidacy for Governor, its real importance to the Democrats lies in the facts which he shows concerning the political condition of the people of the State.

He points out that less than 6 per cent. of the people live in towns of 2,500, while 80 per cent. of the people live in the cities and large towns. He shows that less than one-half of the people of the State qualified by age to vote are registered and thus able to vote.

In other words, there are 1,200,000 people living in the State who by reason of their age could vote if they were registered. Mr. Fitzgerald assumes, not without justification, that most of these unregistered inhabitants would be Democrats if they were capable of voting.

These figures are quite startling and show a grievous failure on the part of somebody.

Junior Naval Reserve

This Movement, Strongly Endorsed by Prominent Man, Deserves to Be a Great Success

We have received the following letter from Lieutenant Edward F. Sullivan, U. S. J. N. R.:

Editor Boston American,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Referring to our phone conversation regarding some comment on the U. S. Junior Naval Reserves recruiting campaign in the editorial columns of the Boston American.

I would like the Boston American to endorse our movement through its editorial column as has every Hearst paper wherever we are established.

We are recruiting boys between 14 and 20, to be assigned to posts in various districts with a commandant, an ex-serviceman, in charge. Mayor Curley is actively interested in the movement.

The boys are given a naval training, not interfering with school or work, along the lines of the Boy Scouts, only a naval-military movement, boats are obtained for drill, etc.

We have the backing of the Governor, the Mayor and the admiral of the district.

Our motto is, "American crews for American ships and American ships for American commerce."

The Boston American can help us wonderfully by editorial comment, as have the Hearst papers of New York and Chicago and on the West coast.

Why should Uncle Sam hire his competitors' delivery wagons to take home the groceries?

Anything that you may do to help us will be thoughtfully recognized.

LIEUTENANT EDWARD F. SULLIVAN,
U. S. J. N. R.
Army and Navy Club, No. 10 Park square, Boston.

The Boston American hopes to see this movement a great success. Fathers and mothers can trust their boys to the commandant who will be selected to lead them, and they will receive a Summer training which will do them good and do the country good.

This movement is endorsed by President Harding, Vice-President Coolidge, General Pershing and Secretary of War Weeks. Of the movement, President Harding said, "I cannot too strongly endorse the work you are doing." General Pershing said, "The purpose of your organization is a most important and worthy one and should have the support of all right-thinking Americans." John W. Weeks, though Secretary of War, was in the navy in his youth. He says that he hopes to see the junior organization continue. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt says, "With all good wishes to the U. S. Junior Naval Reserve, whose work is of real benefit to the country, for they are endeavoring to recreate the days when American bottoms, American manned, sailed the seven seas."

Indeed, with the ship subsidy we must see that our American ships are American manned, and the Junior Naval Reserve will help to enable us to do it.

McCall's New Duties

Special Effort Will Be Needed by Him to Fill Predecessor's Boots

Ex-Governor McCall has been appointed to fill the place made vacant on the Board of Public Trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company by the resignation of Mr. Homer Loring.

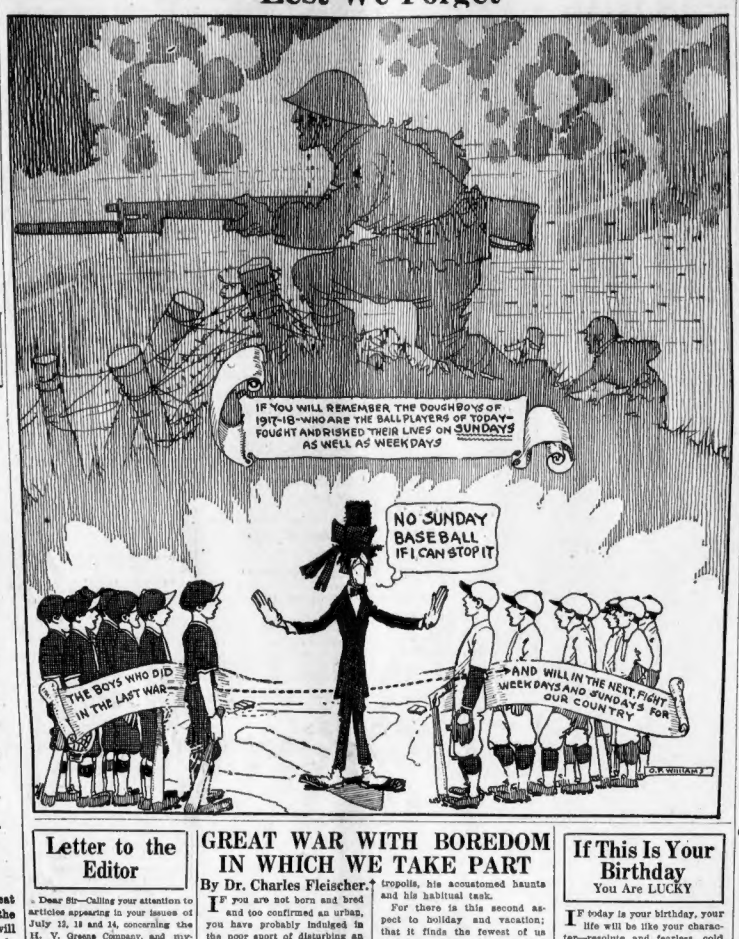
Governor McCall will be obliged to fill a big aching void on that street railway. It is no sinecure. He succeeds to the place of a very able and very experienced man.

Now Governor McCall is himself a very able man, but he is without the special experience of Mr. Loring and he will have to make it up by a special effort if he is going to fill Mr. Loring's boots. We have no doubt that in a little time he will be able to do it if he tries and we have no doubt that his public spirit will make him try.

It is an interesting and singular coincidence that the two biggest street railways in the State are under public management and that on the Board of Public Managers are McCall for the Eastern and Samuel L. Powers for the Elevated. These two men, who graduated from Dartmouth together, started in youth as law partners, and now in their declining years they are performing exactly the same public service.

If we are to judge Mr. Powers from his conversation and experience we should say that he enjoyed his public job much more than he enjoyed the job of representing the telephone company when it was fighting the public. It certainly must be more satisfactory.

Lest We Forget



IF YOU WILL REMEMBER THE DOUGHBOYS OF 1917-18-WHO ARE THE BALLPLAYERS OF TODAY-FOUGHT AND RISKED THEIR LIVES ON SUNDAYS AS WELL AS WEEKDAYS
NO SUNDAY BASEBALL IF I CAN STOP IT
THE BOYS WHO DID IN THE LAST WAR
AND WILL IN THE NEXT, FIGHT WEEKDAYS AND SUNDAYS FOR OUR COUNTRY
H. A. WILLIAMS

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir—Calling your attention to articles appearing in your issues of July 12, 13 and 14, concerning the H. V. Greene Company, and myself, I desire to say that the articles clearly indicate bias on the part of the writer thereof whom we strongly suspect, and have a right to assume, is an ex-employe of the H. V. Greene Company, whose resignation was requested.

The articles and each of them are entirely unfair and clearly indicate that the same were not published as a fair comment on pending litigation; a great many statements are added by way of good measure to vent the spite and spleen of the ex-employe above referred to, and I intend to hold your sheet, and every person connected with the publication of these articles, to strict account for the publication thereof.

I direct your special attention to page three of your issue of July 12, in which you publish my picture and the picture of a lady, labeled "Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Greene." It seems to me a dastardly thing and an outrage to mention Mrs. Greene in any manner, as she is in no way concerned, neither is she connected with any of the companies mentioned, and for your information, I might add that the picture is not Mrs. Greene's.

Taking your issue of July 14, in connection with your issue of July 13, there is clearly shown a lack of proper investigation by persons responsible for the write-ups and the glaring headlines, for the issue of July 14 denies, takes back and modifies certain statements set forth in the issue of July 13.

I desire to call your especial attention to page 2 in your issue of July 14, in which you publish the picture of the late F. Liston Collins counting money, and I wish to recall to your mind, if you will be fair enough to do so, that this picture was taken when Mr. Collins was donating this money, which he is shown in the picture to be counting, to your "Christmas Basket Fund," in his last days, this being the Christmas of 1919, he died about three weeks after. Aside from the fact that you are libelling the memory of a deceased person, who was a very decent man in every respect, your conscience should trouble you at least a little when you have in mind that you spent this money that Mr. Collins gave, contributed by employes of this company, and you took great glory in doing so.

You will please bear in mind that while you purport to be protecting the interests of many investors, as you call them—of small means—you are tearing down, or attempting to tear down, a structure which has been several years in building and upon which a great deal of time, energy, and money have been spent. In other words, you have assumed the role of a "bull in a china shop." You are causing restlessness, dissatisfaction, and prejudice among thousands of shareholders of financial institutions with which our company has been connected. The damage in this respect cannot be estimated and for whatever damage may ensue, which without qualifications lays at your door as publishers of these articles, we shall hold you responsible.

I am asking you to publish this letter and to have you repair in so far as you are able the damage done to the clients of this company, to the company, and to me and mine, and this request of mine is made without waiving or relinquishing any rights which I now have against the persons taking part in the attempt to hold me up to public ridicule, against whom I intend, when the proper time arrives, to take appropriate proceedings.

Respectfully submitted,
H. V. GREENE.
July 14, 1922.

FREE IS THE WORD.

This is the Kind of stuff that
Is called
Free verse, probably
Because it is so
Free from rhyme
Or reason, and gets Nothing.
The writer

GREAT WAR WITH BOREDOM IN WHICH WE TAKE PART

By Dr. Charles Fleischer.

IF you are not born and bred and too confirmed an urban, you have probably indulged in the poor sport of disturbing an ant-hill.

And then you have watched, with the amused interest of a still more giantesque Gulliver among the Lilliputians, the disturbing result of your monstrous intrusion.

The apparently terrified little creatures, with a panic in their breastle (as Robbie Burns said of the field-mouse he turned up with his plough) scurry hither and thither, obeying the primal instinct, seeking somehow to get away from danger—and even from themselves.

Something like that is the spectacle of the human ant-hill, a city or town of a Sunday or holiday.

Thousands upon thousands of the people act as though some unseen force had suddenly disturbed their heaped-up and routine activities and let loose their energies in aimless scurrying to and fro.

People bent upon spending a holiday or a vacation look, first of all, as though they were hurrying off from some place which necessity fairly compels them to leave in order to get to some other place from which they will be equally eager to return to their original habitation.

Poor little worrying, hurrying, scurrying human ants!

Your average vacation-bound New Yorker or Bostonian, eagerly off for the Adirondacks or down Maine, is still more eager to return to his cherished metropolis, his accustomed haunts and his habitual task.

For there is this second aspect to holiday and vacation; that it finds the fewest of us able to accept victoriously the challenge of leisure.

In other words, our play has somewhat of the quality of antlike terror about it. Instead of the carefree joy that ought to characterize us human beings when released from work which, after all, is only second nature to us.

However, we do not mean herewith to inveigh against toil, but only to call attention to the great war against boredom into which most of us seem forced whenever we are relieved of the need to work.

This is said in part at least to stimulate the reader to be braver in his fight with boredom. Indeed, to develop an attitude towards playtime which will duly find him at least as resourceful and as significant as in worktime.

It is curious to see so many persons comparatively masterful in their work, who are fairly dragged around and desperately helpless in the hands of a free day or a spell of vacation.

You find your work a challenge because its mastery spells personal conquest. So, in a manner, it becomes your play and you enjoy it.

When you have the chance to loaf, invite your soul and let it also help you to the nectar and ambrosia in the cup of life. For in your leisure you are FREE to be what you really are.

Copyright, 1922, King Features Synd., Inc.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

IF today is your birthday, your life will be like your character—resolute and fearless, cold and precise, for yours is a nature in which there is more power than love.

Today is of uncertain omen for all ventures and extremely dangerous to people who are in proximity of electric currents.

The coming year will be one of grave anxiety for you. You will meet with undeserved difficulties in your business and serious disputes in your domestic life.

A child born today will be unresponsive, but brilliant and acquisitive—not scrupulously honest, but fearless and responsible.

Famous persons born today:

Elbridge Gerry—Vice-President of the United States. ("Gerrymander" was named after him.)

Timothy Pickering—Secretary of State.

John Wilbur—Quaker preacher.

John Jacob Astor—Capitalist.

(Copyright, 1922, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Once-Overs

ARE YOU SATISFIED WITH WHAT YOU HAVE ACCOMPLISHED?

Ever pick up the evening paper and read of the sudden death of an acquaintance—the very last one you had thought of as dying?

Ever think what that one was doing the morning of the day when life went out so suddenly?

How did the fellow feel when he tied his tie that day?

Did he have a premonition that something was going to happen?

The chances are that he felt just as well and natural as you do this minute.

Then you doubtless thought of his family, and how he provided for them in case of sudden death.

Was he kind and was he true in character, and will they miss him—is more along the line that your thought takes shape.

And then you begin to think of yourself in his place.

Are you ready to go to the great beyond today, or even tomorrow?

Have you accomplished what you or your family would like you to, for the given time you have been on earth?

Copyright, 1922, by International Feature Service, Inc.

SEEN AND HEARD

K. C. KOO, C. F. LO, C. S. CHEN and C. T. CHEN, four Chinese students who graduated from Tech as mechanical engineers last month, left Cambridge on a forty-day auto tour which will include twenty-one of the principal cities of the country. They will have letters of introduction from the Tech faculty to the heads of many large industries. While in Washington they will submit a report of their inspections to the Chinese Educational Mission. The mission will forward the report to the Chinese government.

And add to City Hall ditties!
Sing a song of water,
The "Hall" is full of tax,
That hurt the tender footsies
Of the pols who have been lax.
(With sad music.)

Much has been said lately of the little Pilgrim cemetery at North Truro, on the road to Provincetown. But there is another cemetery in Truro—far more picturesque—at the edge of the South Truro woods. "Mercy," "Thankful," "Prudence," "Hope" and "Priscilla"—these are the most common women's names carved on the stones, many of which are dated as far back as 1725. And here's a sample of one of the inscriptions (on a headstone in memory of a local sea captain drowned at sea): "His ship goes on, tho' his hand be still; may his soul make port, if it be God's will."

New England farmers aren't fond of the white daisy, which they regard as a pest, because it spreads amazingly and destroys value of hay in which it is harvested. The writer has been told it was brought to Boston from England as a garden flower by Governor Dudley in colonial days and spread from his estate all through the New England States.

The Root Beer Man, with his oute, queer van,
Is again back in old Dewey square.
He gets more patrons, both
flappers and matrons,
Than when rivals sold "Bottled Goods" there.

World's largest and also longest old-fashioned flower garden is in Franklin Park, where the herbarium spreads a table of beauty stretching around a mile. It is devoted entirely to the familiar garden blooms of New England, starting with crocuses, snowdrops and hyacinths in Springtime and winding up with alumlas and asters in late Fall.

In these, the good band concert days,
We never can get "hep"
To why they play the classical
Instead of tunes with "pep."

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON VOICE DEVELOPMENT

By Garrett P. Serviss

I RECENTLY attended the fiftieth anniversary of my graduation from Cornell University. Meeting men whom I had not seen during half a century, I have been surprised to find that often the voice was a better reminder of personality than the face. But this recalls a feature of education that appears to be almost entirely neglected, notwithstanding its enormous importance.

Singers, of course, always carefully cultivate their voices—that is a matter of unavoidable necessity. Once in a while a student who intends to become a lawyer, and a little more frequently those who aim to be pulpit preaching, may be found paying some attention to the development of the organs and the art of speech. But an immense majority of those who throng the rooms and halls of the schools and universities apparently never give a thought to the evolution of their vocal powers.

Good Voice Important

Yet a clear, well-modulated voice is as important in social converse and in the conduct of business intercourse as in public speaking. But most persons seem to think that any kind of articulate noise will suffice to express thought. The fact is that the voice should be fitted to the thought. If it is not thus fitted there is the same lack of economy of the listener's attention that Herbert Spencer dwelt upon in his discussion of the proper arrangement of words in a sentence.

A wrong emphasis or an awkward inflection is as misleading as a wrongly placed word. But it is impossible to make the emphasis or inflection right if the voice is not under control. A good story teller is always envied, but very few of those who feel envious of his superiority know how much of the success that they admire is due merely to the voice control of the speaker.

It is no intellectual but physical power. Partly, no doubt, this is a gift of nature, but not altogether so. And, at any rate, intelligent and persistent cultivation will certainly abundantly repay anyone who applies it to the development, strengthening and improving of his voice for every day, ordinary use.

'Movie' Accentuates Situation

This being a reading age, we might, if we chose, almost exempt ourselves from the necessity of communicating thought by the voice or receiving it through the ear. The immense development of the "movie" accentuates this situation and an extreme evolutionist might amuse himself by predicting the approach of a time when the vocal chords and the auditory apparatus will begin to pass into desuetude preparatory to being classed with the vermiform appendix, and other mile-stones of an abandoned life-road.

But nothing could be more disastrous than would be any serious tendency to deterioration of the human speaking voice. It would be the abandonment of what has been, perhaps, the most notable conquest made in the evolution of physical humanity; that, namely, of the sound waves as a means and medium of communication between minds. The roaring, barking and screaming of the mammals lower than man is outgrowing and development do not contain even the first rudiments of speech, while it must be maintained that the unquestionable musical ability of the songs of birds is a proof that music is a product of separate development and is not intimately connected than is speech with man's intellectual nature.

—Medbury Says—

We Have Self-Starters on Autos, but We Need Them Most on Callers

Most people know how to receive callers, but very few know how to get rid of them.

Any man knows what time to arrive, but not many of them know when to leave.

You have to throw some callers out of your house before they can take the hint.

And even when you throw them down the stairs they think that they tripped.

No matter how ambitious your callers may be, very few of them have that "get up and go" spirit.

Most of them think they're as welcome as the flowers in May even though they're calling on you in August.

A guy brings you a bunch of roses and then sticks around all night smelling them.

You can hand him his hat, but that doesn't do any good, he'll tell you he never wears it in the house.

One woman had a caller who was a great out of doors man, but she had a hard time getting him out of here.

He was the world's champion walker, but he happened to be calling on her on his day off.

One guy kept calling on a dame so often and staying so late that the only way she could keep him away from the house was to marry him. Now he's calling on the dame next door and she wants his wife to give him a divorce so she can marry him herself and get rid of him. It's a bad policy to ask your fellow employes to call on you. They usually come for dinner and then stick around all night so they can walk to work with you the next morning.

There's one advantage in entertaining company who stay late you don't have to give them anything to eat before they leave. They just stay an hour longer and have breakfast with you.

When you have company there are lots of things you can do to make the time fly, but there are very few things you can do to make the company fly.

One couple had a caller who boasted that he feared nothing so the husband said, That's fine, then you won't be afraid to go home while it's still dark.

The couple finally fell asleep and this bird was still there in the morning waiting for them to wake up so that he could say "goodbye."

We've got self starters for typewriters and automobiles, but where we need them most is on callers.

JOHN P. MEDBURY.

(Copyright, 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)